INTRODUCTION.

THE following History can possess but little interest beyond the neighborhood, whose memorials it is designed to preserve. Some may even be disposed to question the propriety of dignifying with so ambitious an epithet, the simple annals of an agricultural town, or of seeking for them the distinction of a publication from the press. The public taste has, however, created a demand for such publications; and the inquisitive interest it betokens, in respect to the characters, the deeds, the personal fortunes, of the Planters of New England, is worthy of the past, and creditable to the present. Humble and unostentatious as are the annals of our New England villages, they are such only relatively, or as judged by false standards of glory and merit. The examples they display of heroic faith, of invincible courage, of generous self-sacrifice, of bold and untiring enterprise, the illustration they afford to the genius of the age, and the race that transformed the stern cliffs and gloomy forests of these Western wilds, into a cultivated and flourishing Commonwealth, the extraordinary spectacle every where presented of rising schools, amidst popular ignorance, of a stern morality amidst general degeneracy, of a devout and inflexible faith amidst widespread unbelief, of a jealous and enlightened love of liberty, amidst universal despotism, all reflect honor upon the past, — are required to give completeness to New England history, and will be recalled with an ever-increasing interest, as time shall cover with the deepening mist of antiquity, the “beginnings of the Commonwealth.” Well shall it be, if the record shall not gratify a vain curiosity, nor nourish a yet vainer boasting; but the rather feed a nobler emulation, a purer patriotism, a more exalted virtue, a more generous philanthropy.

The following sketch of the settlement and the settlers of Framingham, was commenced many years since, and prosecuted during the intervals of professional labor.* The author, starting with no definite plan, found the field of research widening, and the sources of information copious and inviting, beyond his expectation. It became soon apparent that his labor would be imperfect, unless embracing much personal history, and a knowledge of the emigration of families — an investigation of almost infinite extent, and demanding much laborious and critical inquiry. Unwilling to pause in his pursuit, he proceeded to a careful examination of the records of the town and church, comparing them with such authentic papers and traditions as were preserved. His enquiries were extended to facts is counter-balanced by its satire, personality, and irrelevant matter. It is a curious specimen of eccentricity.

the records of the neighboring towns, and to those of nearly all the towns first planted in the vicinity of Boston, to the archives of the counties and of the Commonwealth, and to the valuable historical collections in our public libraries. The result of his labors is presented in the following volume. It is unnecessary to detain the reader, by explaining or vindicating the method he has pursued, which it is hoped will sufficiently explain itself to the intelligent reader. Suffice it to say, that the author has endeavored to be accurate and perspicuous.

The materials relating to the town, derived from its records, have been digested and revised with particular care, and their deficiencies have been supplied from other sources. While it would be presumptuous to claim for this work any degree of completeness, the author hopes, that whatever gratification it may impart may incite others to a continuation of the same labor, or at least, awaken a more general concern in the community, for the preservation of ancient writings and memorials, of historical interest.

It is not to be denied, that the prevailing indifference in this particular, has been of a serious nature, causing the unseasonable loss or destruction of much valuable information.*

It is highly important to enforce upon the consideration of the intelligent and public-spirited, the duty of exploring and guarding the materials both of general and of local history. Valuable books and papers should be recovered, and deposited in places of safety. Opportunities may be sought to elucidate obscurities, by consulting the recollections of the aged. Much might be done by an association of minds in our towns, whose labors could be profitably united in this department of the public good. Nor should the future, more than the past, be forgotten in a wise foresight, to provide that the public records should be in the keeping of intelligent, enlightened, and responsible hands, where their importance is understood, and their safe custody will be secured. It is a remarkable fact and deserves serious consideration, that the records of nearly all our towns for the last fifty years, are far less complete, valuable, and reliable, as sources of historical information, than for the same space at any former period. It surely ought not to be thus.

The author, in conclusion, would commend his work to the candid judgment of the reader. It was originally prepared, and has been prosecuted as a "labor of love," and under a sense of gratitude for personal favors and an ever kind and friendly regard, which has found but an inadequate expression in this work, laborious as it may have been. To the inhabitants of Framingham the work is most respectfully inscribed, with the hope and prayer, that their intelligence, liberality, and public spirit may provide the materials of a future history, of which it may not be said, that the "former days were better than these."

* The author can speak with the more feeling on this point, from the fact, that nearly all the papers required to illustrate the early history of the First Church, were probably in existence not many years since.

HISTORY OF FRAMINGHAM.

FRAMINGHAM is situated in the S.W. part of the County of Middlesex, in the State of Massachusetts. It is bounded on the N. by Sudbury, N.E. by Wayland, S.E. by Natick and Sherburne, S. W. by Ashland, W. by Southborough and Marlborough. It lies on the late Worcester Turnpike, about midway between that town and Boston; being 21 miles distant W. from Boston, and 14 miles nearly S. from Concord. It contained in 1832 an area of 18,976 acres, of which 537 were covered with water and 324 were appropriated for roads. By the incorporation of Ashland, in 1846, a tract of about 3,000 acres was set off from Framingham to that town. The Sudbury or Concord river passes diagonally through the town, in a course from S.W. to N.E., affording good water privileges for mills and factories. With a soil of very general fertility, and occupied by a population always characterized by habits of industry, moderation and enterprise, this town has steadily advanced in general prosperity. It is now, in population, the fifth town in the County of Middlesex.

The history of the planting and settlement of Framingham goes back to an early period. Though incorporated as late as 1700, the territory had for many years previous been known as Mr. Danforth's Farms, and as early as 1670 it is found to have borne upon the County Records the name of the Framlingham Plantation. The first grant within its territory was made as early as 1640. The materials of its history, during the time referred to, are obscure and scanty. Without proprietary records, holding their estates, in many cases, by unregistered leases, living with no civil organization among themselves, scattered over an extensive tract, and obliged to seek such privileges, civil and religious, as were to be had in the nearest incorporated towns, the early settlers of the Plantation have left no record of their labors, hardships and sufferings. The most we can do, therefore, is to gather up the fragments of historical incident preserved to us, and, by the help of such imperfect lights as remain, to trace out the doings and progress of the early founders of the town.

FRAMLINGHAM PLANTATION.

For some time after the settlement of Sudbury,* there lay, to the S. of that township, a large tract of country, known only, in ancient records, as "Wilderness land." The southern boundary of that town was undoubtedly the same as now.† No settlement existed to the S. nearer than Medfield. On the W. was the newly-formed township of Marlborough, whose bounds extended S. to Sudbury river, including the present town of Southborough. The nearest settlements to the E. were in Watertown, and in the present town of Newton, then a part of Cambridge. The settlement of the Praying or Christian Indians at Natick, in 1650, led to the establishment, by the General Court, of a territorial plantation, called the Natick Plantation, which was reserved for their particular use and disposal. From the recorded survey of it, made July 29th, 1659, it appears that its westerly bounds were to "extend as far as Cochituate brook, at * Sudbury was first settled in that part now called Wayland, in 1638, and received its first grant of five miles from the General Court, Sept. 4, 1639. In 1640, an additional grant was made of "a mile in length, upon the S.E. and S.W. sides" of the plantation; and subsequently, in 1649, a further grant of two miles upon its W. boundary. (Col. Rec.) Johnson describes it (Description of N. England, p. 36) as "furnisht with great store of fresh marsh; but lying very low, it is much endamaged with land floods." The first minister — Rev. Edmund Brown — was ordained in Aug. 1640, and d. Jan. 22, 1677.

For further particulars respecting the first settlement of Sudbury, see the appendix.

† That this is true of that part of the boundary which now divides Framlingham from Sudbury proper, appears evident from the existence there of very aged trees once marked with the initials of the name of Thomas Danforth, and long known as the T. D. trees. They were undoubtedly the original bounds of Danforth's Grants. One of these trees, a white oak of gigantic size, may be seen upon the farm of the late Mr. John Eaton.

the common passing-place or highway, that leadeth from Sudbury to John Stone's house, and from thence the bounds to be John Stone's land and Sudbury river — extending up Sudbury river four miles, to be measured by a strait line from the aforesaid common wading-place on Cochituate brook." * Within this tract, however, was land already in the occupation of English settlers, under grants from the General Court, which was excepted in the reservation to the Indians.

EARLY GRANTS.

Although the greater part of the territory of Framingham was granted to Governor Danforth, there were, in the order of time, still earlier grants.

GLOVER'S FARM. — Mrs. Elizabeth Glover, relict of the Rev. Jesse Glover, † received a grant from the General Court, of six hundred acres of land, which they ordered, October 7, 1640, to be laid out "on the E. side of Sudberry river, without the limits of the last addition, to the bounds of Sudberry, and between the said bound and the Great Pond at Cochituate br," (brook.) ‡ The particular bounds of this tract, variously called the Glover, Dunster or Pond Farm, it is difficult now to trace. That a considerable part of the grant lay within the bounds of the present territory of Framingham, is rendered probable by the following transaction. § . Sept. 29, 1647, John Glover, then of Harvard College, and President Dunster, his guardian, leased for * This brook is the same which runs from Cochituate or Long Pond, into Sudbury river.

† The Rev. Jesse Glover, formerly Rector of Sutton, in Surry, embarked for N. E. 1639, in the John, of London, and d. on the passage, leaving two sons — Capt. Roger, (in 1652, "lately slain at Edenborough,") and John : and three daughters — Elizabeth, who m. Adam Winthrop, son of the Governor ; Suara, who m. Dean Winthrop ; and Priscilla, who m. John Appleton, of Ipswich. Elizabeth, widow of the Rev. Jesse Glover, m. Henry Dunster, President of Harvard College.

‡ Col. Rec. 1. 289.

§ The Dunster Farm was leased for six years, to Edmund Rice, Sept. 13, 1642, for 30 bushels of corn per year the first two years ; 50 bushels per year the next two years ; and 100 bushels the last two years, in equal proportions of wheat, indian and rye ; and, as the "Pond Farm," was conveyed, June 24, 1659, to Edmund Rice and his son Benjamin, by Joseph Hills, Edward Collins and Edmund Frost, executors of President Dunster's will. Middlesex Deeds.

ten years, to Edmund Rice, the whole farm of said J. Glover. "lying W. on said H. Dunster's land, severed by Sudbury line. and so on to Cochittuate Brooke, wherewith it is bounded southerly, as with the two Ponds." By the terms of the lease, Edmund Rice contracted to make a fence between the two farms of J. Glover and H. Dunster, easterly, "and so all the lands encompassed eyther by the foresaid brook or the Great River, westerly;" and also to keep in good repair "the fences already on the farme between the Great Pond and the River." It was further required of him to build on the premises, "during the first five or six years," a dwelling-house, "thirty foote long, ten foote high stud, one foot sill from the ground, sixteen foote wide;" with two rooms, both below or the one above the other: "All the doores well hanged, and staires, with convenient fastnings of locks or bolts, windows, glases, and well planked under foote, and boarded sufficiently to lay come in, in the story above head." He was also to build a barn "fifty foote long, eleven feet high in the stud, one foote above ground, the sell twenty foote, if no leantes, or eighteen foote wide with leantees on the one side, and a convenient threshing-floare between the doares." The particulars of this transaction are the more worthy of notice, as connected with the first known occupation of the town by English settlers, dating, as will be seen, at a very early period. The tract above described was situated in the region, in ancient papers called COCHITUATE—the name being applied both to the great pond and to its neighboring territory.

RICE'S GRANTS. — In 1652, Edmund Rice had from the General Court a grant of 50 acres, lying a mile southerly from Cochittuate Brook, or thereabouts, deeds of which tract are in the possession of his descendants in this town. In 1659, he obtained from the same source a grant of 80 acres on the "S. side of the path leading from Sudbury to Connecticut, about six miles from Sudbury." These tracts, to which large additions were afterwards made, were in that part of the town to the N.E., where the descendants of the family have continued to reside unto the present day.*

* Several of the sons of Edmund appear to have been proprietors, and more than one, perhaps, residents within the limits of Framingham.

STONE'S GRANTS. — May 15, 1656, "William Boman, Capt. Josiah, Roger, and James, and Keaquisan, Indians, living at Naticke," * in consideration of a valuable sum of Peage and other goods, conveyed to John Stone of Sudbury, "a parcell of broaken-up and fenced-in land, lying on the S. side of Sudbury line, upon the falls of Sudbury river, and bounded with ye comon land surrounding; the said land conteyning, by estimation, about 10 acres, more or less." In 1656, in answer to the petition of John Stone of Sudbury, for confirmation of the purchase of 11 acres of land bought of the Indians, the General Court "ordered that his petition be granted, as also the grant of 50 acres of land more to be added thereunto, according to his desire," &c.† In conformity to the above, Edmund Rice and Thomas Noyes laid out the above lands, May 19, 1658, "at the falls of Sudbury river." To this tract extensive additions were from time to time made by purchase, until a large part of the present territory of Saxonville and considerable tracts elsewhere, came into the possession of this family.

WAYTE'S GRANT. — In 1658, Richard Wayte of Boston, Marshal, obtained from the General Court a grant of "300 acres of land, in the wilderness, between Chochituate and Nipnox," ‡ which was laid out as follows, viz. :

"There being a neck of land about 220 acres, more or less, and is surrounded by Sudbury river, a great pond and a small brook that runneth from said pond into the river, and from the southerly end of the said pond running to the river again, by a westerly line, according to marked trees; and, on the westerly side of Sudbury river, to extend his bounds from the said river 20 pole in breadth, so far in length as his land lyeth against the said river. Also on the N. and N.E. of said brook and pond, he hath five patches of meadow, containing about

Henry, the oldest son, was the ancestor of most of the name now living here. The precise time at which he settled here it is not easy to determine. See Genealogical Register.

* Bowman's Brook, and Rogers' Field, both near Saxonville village, will be recognized as having derived their names from the above Indian proprietors and grantors. The original deed referred to, is in the possession of Mr. Abner Stone, of Framingham.

† Col. Rec. iii. 172.

‡ Nipnox is the name given to the undefined territory belonging to the Nipmuck Indians, who inhabited the interior of Mass. and lived about the ponds and streams. Their principal seats were at Oxford and on the Blackstone River. They were partly subject to the Narraganset, and partly to the Massachusetts Indians.

20 acres, more or less, being all surrounded with wilderness land; also on the N.E. side of Washakum Pond, he hath 60 acres, being bounded with said pond on the S.W. and an Indian bridge on the E., and elsewhere by marked trees — the wilderness surrounding.”

The above tract, on which no settlement appears immediately to have been made, was conveyed to Thos. Danforth. The Indians quit-claimed to the latter, Oct. 1, 1684.*

RUSSELL'S GRANT. — May 6, 1659, by order of the General Court, Richard Russell,† treasurer, had laid out to him “500 acres of land lying in the wilderness upon both sides of the path that leadeth from Sudbury towards Nipnox; and is bounded on the N.E. with Washakum pond and a swamp adjoining thereto, and on the W. by a marked tree, and the W. side of an ashen swamp, and on the S. with the upland adjoining to the southerly or S.W. point of that meadow which lieth on the westerly side of the aforesaid meadow, and on the N. extending on the N. side of the aforesaid path, and is surrounded with the wilderness.”‡ This grant also came into the possession of Gov. Danforth, to whom the Indians released all claim, Oct. 1, 1684.

CORLETT'S FARM. — The tract known by this name as late as 1750, when it was delineated on Hazzell's survey of the N. part of Framingham, was originally granted by the Court, Oct. 18, 1659, to Elijah Corlett, a schoolmaster of much celebrity at Cambridge, whose services to the infant colony are noticed in strong eulogy by the writers of his day.§

* From their situation, it appears probable that the elevation known as “Mount Wait,” and the meadow called “Wait's meadow,” may have derived their names from the first grantee of the soil.

† RICHARD RUSSELL, with his wife Maud, came from Herefordshire, England, in 1640. He resided in Charlestown, and was a Representative in 1642, and for many years after. He was chosen Speaker of the House in 1654, and in 1659 was made Assistant, which office he retained until 1669. He was also for many years Treasurer of the Colony. Hutchinson states that his son, grandson, and two of his great-grandsons were of the Council. He died May 14, 1676, aged 65. Farmer's Register. Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. Bay, I. 189.

‡ Col. Rec.

§ ELIJAH CORLETT was educated at Lincoln College, in Oxford, where he was admitted in 1626. He came to New England and settled as early as 1643, in Cambridge, where he was for more than forty years instructor of a grammar school. All accounts concur in representing him as a man of learning, piety and respectability. In N. England's first fruits he is said to have “very well approved himself

18 Oct. 1659. "In answer to the petitions of Daniel Weld and Elijah Corlett, schoolmasters, the Court, considering the usefulness of the petitioners in an employment of so common concernment for the good of the whole country, and the little encouragement that they have had from their respective towns for their service and unwearied pains in that employment, do judge meet to grant to each of them 200 acres of land, to be taken up adjoining to such lands as have been already granted and laid out by order of this Court." This farm was laid out May 22, 1661, by Mr. Thomas Noyes of Sudbury,

"A mile distant from the S.W. angle of the land formerly granted to Sudbury, also having a parcel of meadow granted to Mr. Edmund Brown, teacher to the church of Sudbury, on the S.; also being about half a mile distant northerly from the river which runneth to Sudbury, also being a mile and a quarter distant W.N. westerly, from the now dwelling house of John Stone. The said farm, for the most part bordering upon the wilderness and laying in a long square, the longest lines running W. by S. five degrees southerly," &c.*

for his abilities, dexterity and painfulness." Cotton Mather describes him as the "memorable old schoolmaster in Cambridge, from whose education our college and country has received so many of its worthy men, that he is himself worthy to have his name celebrated in our church history." He elsewhere commemorates him in connection with Cheever, in a familiar couplet:

"T'is CORLETT'S pains and CHEEVER'S, we must own,
That thou, New England, art not Scythia grown."

Dr. Holmes states that great effort was made for Mr Corlett's maintenance in the early settlement of Cambridge, that he was charged with the tuition of the Indian scholars intended for the college, for which service he received compensation from the Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians. It would seem, however, from the order of the General Court above noticed, that his labors met with a scanty reward. Poverty was the destiny of his profession in that day of small things. May we not presume that he was included among those referred to by Hutchinson, who said of Cheever, "he is not the only master who kept his lamp longer lighted than otherwise it would have been, by a supply of oil from his scholars." Corlett died, Feb. 25, 1686-7, aged 78 years, and an elegy on his death in blank verse, by N. Walter, was published. His wife's name was Barbara, and he had, besides two daughters, an only son, Ammi Ruhamah, who graduated at Harvard College in 1670, and deceased Feb. 1, 1679. This son may have been the individual referred to in the Mass. Hist. Coll. as instructor in Plymouth in 1672. Corlett was the author of a biographical notice of the Rev. Mr. Hooker, preserved in the Magnalia. Mass. Hist. Coll. 1 Ser. I. 243, vii. 22. 2 Ser. III. 173, iv. 91. Magnalia. Allen's Biog. Dict. Farmer's Register.

* Corlett, by permission of the Court, May 22, 1661, had set off to him a farm of 320 acres of land, belonging to Netus, Indian, at Nip Nap, which was described in the survey made by Edmund Rice and Thomas Noyes, as at the N. end of Nip Nap hill, being about three miles distant northerly from the Indian plantation. This farm was conveyed by him in 1685 to Ales Thomas, of Boston, widow, and Benjamin Thomson, her son. Mid. Deeds, book IX.

The above-described farm, which lay to the S. and S.W. of the present school house No. 8, was conveyed Dec. 13, 1661, by Corlett to Thomas Danforth, and by the latter reconveyed the same day to John Stone.

DANFORTH'S FARMS. — The first grants to Gov. Danforth consisted of two tracts, one Oct. 16, 1660, of 200, the other May 7, 1662, of 250 acres, "adjoining" the former, both which were included in the general survey following, which is copied from the Records of the General Court.*

"MR. DANFORTH'S FARMES LAYD OUT.

"Layd out unto Thomas Danforth, Esq., a parcel of land lying between Marlbury and Kenecticut path, and is bounded easterly by Sudbury lands, adjoining to that part of their bounds near Lannum, the land of John Stone, and a part of Natick plantation; southerly, the lands of the said Thomas Danforth and Natick lands; northerly, with the other part of Sudbury bounds towards Marlbury; and westerly, with the country lands; the said westerly line being limited by a pine tree marked with D, and standing on the N. side of that branch of Sudbury river that cometh from Marlbury,† and on the westerly side of Angellico brook; and from the said pine tree continuing a S. westerly line unto the other branch of Sudbury river that is the bounds of Natick plantation; from the said pine tree northerly, continuing unto Sudbury bounds, coming by a tree marked, in the highway that leadeth from John Stone's house to Marlbury — in which tract of land, bounded as above said, is contained 200 acres of land belonging unto John Stone,‡ and is excepted out of that layd out unto the said Thomas Danforth; also four hundred and fifty acres of land granted by the General Court in two several grants to the said Thomas Danforth, and the remainder thereof is for the satisfaction of money disbursed by the said Thomas Danforth, for the use of the country, by the appointment of the General Court. Given under our hands the 27th of May, 1662.

"At a County Court, held at Cambridge, Oct. 7, 1662, Edmund Rice and John How, appearing in Court, acknowledged the above written to be their act according to the appointment of the General Court."

By adding to the above the Wayte Grant of 300 acres, and the Russell Grant of 500 acres, some idea can be formed of the extent of Mr. Danforth's possessions. It will be seen that they embraced a very large part of the present territory of Framingham, between its extreme Northerly and Southerly bounds, excepting the Glover Farm and that considerable tract to the S.E. of Sudbury river, limited by Cochetuate brook and Mr. Danforth's southerly bounds, which was within the bounds of the Indian plantation of Natick.*

COL. CROWNE'S GRANT.—Oct. 8, 1662. "As an acknowledgement of the great pains of Col. William Crowne in behalf of this country, when he was in England," the General Court grant-

* As the reader will be interested in the life and character of the individual who bore so prominent a part in the early settlement of this town, we here condense such information as we have been able to collect from various sources. Thomas Danforth was the oldest son of Nicholas Danforth of Framlingham, a town near the S.E. part of the County of Suffolk, in England. The father possessed there, according to Mather, a fine manor, and was "a gentleman of such estate and repute in the world, that it cost him a considerable sum to escape the knighthood which K. Charles I. imposed on all of so much per annum." In 1634, Thomas came to New England with his father, who settled in Cambridge, was a Representative in 1636, and died in 1638. Thomas resided in Cambridge, and in 1657 was chosen Representative to the General Court, and in 1659 became an Assistant, in which office he continued until 1679. Upon the election of Mr. Bradstreet as Governor that year, he came into the place of Deputy Governor, and held it until 1686, and three years after the revolution in 1689. In 1684 he failed of his election as Governor by 61 votes. He was Chief Justice of the Court of Oyer and Terminer held at Charlestown, and "had a chief hand under God in putting an end to the troubles under which the country groaned in 1692." In 1681 he was appointed President of the Province of Maine, where he resided for a short time. Hutchinson refers to him as having had "a great share in managing the public affairs in the most difficult times." Judge Sewall describes him as "a very good husbandman and a very good Christian and a good counsellor." An original letter from him, dated 1695, in the possession of Mr. Abner Stone of Framingham, gives a favorable impression of his wisdom, forbearance and conciliatory spirit, in the management of his private affairs. Gov. Danforth married his first wife, Mary Withington, Feb. 23, 1643-4, by whom he had 11 children, five of whom were sons; and by his second wife, Elizabeth, he had one daughter. Samnel, his eldest son, born Oct. 5, 1652, was graduated at H. C. 1671, gave early promise of distinction as a scholar, but died in London, of the small pox, Dec. 22, 1676. Gov. Danforth deceased at Cambridge, Nov. 5, 1699, aged 77, leaving several daughters. He survived all his sons. His brother, the Rev. Samuel Danforth, (H. C. 1643) was tutor at the College, and was ordained as colleague with the Rev. John Eliot, in 1650. He d. in 1674, aged 48. His brother Jonathan settled in Billerica, where he died in 1712, aged 84. He had two sisters; Anna, who m. Matthew Bridge, and was great-grandmother of the Rev. Matthew Bridge, minister of the 1st church in Framingham; and Elizabeth, who m. Andrew Belcher, and was grandmother of Gov. Belcher. (Holmes's Annals, 1699. Hutchinson's Hist. Mass. Bay, I. 189, 223. Farmer's Register. Magnalia, b. iv. p. 154.

ed him 500 acres of land, which was laid out to him, in 1663, as follows, viz.

"Laid out, &c., the 500 acres granted unto the Hon. Col. Wm. Crowne, in the year 1662, at a place near the Cold Spring, near unto the road which leadeth from Sudbury unto Connecticut, on the S. side of a branch of Sudbury river, being about nine miles from the town of Sudbury, at a place called by the Indians, Maynaguncok hill; beginning at the S. side of the said hill, and from thence a line upon a N.N.W. point 300 rods, butting on a branch of Sudbury river, and from thence a line upon a S.E. (S.S.E.) point by the river-side 360 rods, and from thence a [circular] line by the said river and by a brook 160 rods, a line from the said brook upon a W.N.W. point 240 rods, and from thence a line upon a [S.S.W. point 150 rods, and from thence a line upon a W.N.W. point 154 rods, ending where we began,]* adding four acres of meadow upon the said brook and three acres of meadow joyning to the S. line of the said farm — all which said land and meadow and butting and bounding is described by a plat under — make up the full complement of the aforesaid 500 acres. Signed by

"THOMAS NOYES, Surveyor.

"App'd by Court, 25, 3, 1665."

The farm thus described, which embraced the territory of the present village of Ashland, is included in Gore's survey of Framlingham, made in 1699, and referred to in the grant of this town, as defining its bounds. It was conveyed, with some improvements, July 4, 1687, to Savill Simpson of Boston, cordwainer, for £30, by Henry Crowne, Executor of Col. Crowne's Will, and the Indian title was relinquished June 20, 1693.† It was set off to Hopkinton at the incorporation of that town, Dec. 13, 1717.‡

Instead of that part of the description enclosed in brackets, the conveyance to Savill Simpson reads thus: "N.N.W. point 134 rods where the first began."

‡ Of the life and character of Col. Crowne our knowledge is imperfect. Hutchinson (Hist. I. 214) speaks of him as a "noted royalist," and as one of the "principal persons of the town," who called upon Whaley and Goffe when they visited Boston in 1660. From a letter of Charles II. to the Governor and Council of R. I. (M. H. Coll. 1 Ser. v. 224,) it appears that Col. Crowne had represented himself as having sustained severe losses by the surrender of Nova Scotia to the French, for which, through his son John, he petitioned the king to indemnify him by the grant of Mt. Hope. In the reply of the Governor and Magistrates, (p. 228,) they maintain that his losses were more imaginary than real, and that his "present demeanance was not such as should highly deserve of his majesty, being rather a burthen where he hath been than otherwise; that he hath good accommodations freely granted unto him, but very unhappy disquiets attended that Plantation during his residence there." In the same Colls. (VI. 92) may be found a letter from Edward Randolph to Gov. Winslow, relative to his proceedings at Piscataqua. Col. Crown died at Piscataqua about the year 1657.

EAMES' GRANTS. — Thomas Eames obtained considerable grants in the S. part of the present territory of this town. At a Court held at Nonantum, Jan. 24, 1676, the Natick Indians granted him "a parcel of land now belonging to Natick, that is encompassed by the lands of Mr. Thomas Danforth, Goodman Death and John Stone." This grant, consisting of 200 acres, was confirmed to him by the General Court in 1679, and an Indian Deed of the same executed in 1695. In 1679 the inhabitants of Sherborn voted to Thomas Eames, "for building the Meeting House, to have the corner of the town where he lives." In 1677, upon his application to the General Court for relief, on the occasion of the destruction of his property by the Indians, he obtained a grant of 200 acres of land, "to be laid out in any free place not prejudicing the laying out of a plantation."

GOOKIN AND HOW'S PURCHASE. — May 19, 1682, Samuel Gookin* of Cambridge, and Samuel Howe of Sudbury, purchased of the Natick Indians 1700 acres of land, which, from subsequent conveyances appears to have extended along the road from Sudbury to Sherburne, south of Cochituate brook, including land about Indian Head and Succo pond. Confirmation of this purchase was made by the General Court Nov. 20, 1696, to the grantees and "the tertenants holding under them." †

LYNDE'S FARM. — The date and circumstances of the origin of this tract do not appear. Mention is made of it in 1689, as Lyneses' Farm. On Hazzell's survey, in 1750, it is represented in the form of an irregular triangle, the base of which extends along the S. side of the N. road to Marlborough, beginning near the present School-House No. 8, and proceeding W. as far as the old Frost place. Its S.E. line was a bound of the Corlett Farm.

* Samuel Gookin was a son of Daniel Gookin of Cambridge, who d. March 19, 1686-7, "a very zealous but an upright man," who was an Assistant and Major General of the Colony, but most distinguished as the associate of Eliot and the steadfast friend of the Indians. Samuel was Sheriff of the County of Middlesex. Of his brother Daniel, the first minister of Sherburne, Judge Sewall in his Diary writes, "he was a good scholar and solid divine. We were fellows together at College, and have sung many a tune in consort; hope shall sing Hallelujahs together in Heaven."

† Of this tract, in 1683, John Bent purchased 60 acres W. of Cochituate brook, and bounded on his own land; and David Stone, 200 acres; and Matthew Rice, in 1694, 300 acres, "W. side of the way from Stone's mills to John Pratt senior's land," at Indian Head. Thomas Walker, jr. and John Pratt were also early purchasers.

It contained about 200 acres, including the meadow from which the S. branch of Hop brook originates, and a ledge known at the present day as Lynde's Rocks. This tract was in Col. Buckminster's possession in 1705.

The above comprise the chief of the early grants within the territory of Frammingham, occupying, as will be seen, nearly the entire domain of the town. Besides these were smaller tracts, held in general by non-residents, and in some instances grants chiefly within the limits of neighboring towns may have extended within the bounds of the plantation of Frammingham.* Of these grants a considerable number were confirmed by deeds of quitclaim from the Indian proprietors of the soil, some of which are on record, and others it is presumed may yet be discovered. Nothing is more clear to an inquirer into the early history of our towns, than the manifest care of the first settlers of Massachusetts, to obtain a legal title to their lands from the native proprietors. We have somewhere met with a remark, attributed to the elder President Adams, that in all his practice at the bar, he never knew a contested title to land which was not traced back to the Indian grantors.

EARLY SETTLEMENT OF THE PLANTATION.

The precise date of the first settlement of Frammingham is unknown. The first house was probably erected by Edmund Rice, soon after the year 1647, upon the farm before noticed as leased by him of John Glover, that year. An early inhabitant of the town was Elder John Stone, the oldest son of Deacon Gregory Stone of Cambridge, with whom he emigrated to this country in 1635, at the age of 16 years. While yet under age, he came to Sudbury in 1638, probably among its first settlers, where his

* Before 1661, Edmund Brown, minister of Sudbury, had a grant of meadow S. of the Corlett farm, and in 1678 was proprietor here of land near Doeskin or Nobscut hill. "Sherman's land" was of some extent, and lay between the house of the late Col. Trowbridge and Nobscut hill. "APPLETON'S FARM" was within the plantation of Natick, but bounded in part on Charchitawick (Cochituate) brook and pond. It was conveyed

June 17, 1697, to Thomas Browne, Thomas Drury and Caleb Johnson, as joint proprietors, by John Appleton, jr. of Ipswich, whose father, John, of Ipswich, married Priscilla, daughter of the Rev. Jesse Glover. The land may therefore have been a part of the original Glover or Dunster farm. The territory of the Indian plantation of Magunkook also extended within the modern bounds of this town.

name is found in the record of the inhabitants, with the lands divided to them respectively. In what part of Sudbury he first settled is uncertain. The following extract from the Town Records may indicate the time when he left the bounds of that town, and settled within the limits of Framingham :

1645. " John Moore bought of John Stone, his dwelling house and houselot, with all other lands and meadows belonging to the said John Stone, or that shall hereafter be due unto the said John Stone by virtue of his right in the beginning of the plantation of Sudbury, also the fencings, boards, &c. about the house."

Whether he then or at a later day removed without the bounds of Sudbury, he continued to enjoy his civil rights as an inhabitant of that town, having been appointed, in 1654, to see to the fences on his side of the river, and in 1655, to the office of Town Clerk. He was also an officer of the church in that place. Deacon or (as he was often called) Elder John Stone first built at Otter Neck, near the curve of Sudbury river. His residence there is referred to in the description of the bounds of the Natick Plantation in 1659, and in Corlett's Grant, 1661. In 1665, he was freeman at Cambridge, which town he represented in the General Court, 1682 and 3. He returned thither to reside upon the paternal estate, leaving his children to cultivate the large farms he had acquired in this town. He died in Cambridge, May 5, 1683. aged 64 years.*

Henry Rice, oldest son of Deacon Edmund of Sudbury, who in 1660 was one of the first proprietors of Marlborough, before 1659 owned land in the East part of the town, and had probably settled there at that time. In 1662, John Bent was proprietor of lands now composing in part the ancient Bent farm, occupied by Mr. Gibbs. Samuel Winch was of Sudbury in 1671, and then, or soon after, was in the occupation of lands out of the South bounds of Sudbury, where he probably lived. "Winch's old house" is referred to as on the Danforth farm, in 1689. Thomas Drury, John How and others, were early settlers in that part of the town. The nearness to Sudbury doubtless led to the early settlements in that neighborhood. The inhabitants were thus enabled to obtain protection from danger, and to have easy access to the civil and religious privileges of an incorporated town. The individuals referred to are generally described in deeds as of Sudbury, sometimes as "out-dwellers," sometimes as "living in or near unto Sudbury."

NAME OF THE PLANTATION.

An. 1670, we find the first recorded notice upon the County Registry of Births &c., of the name of Framlingham; previously to which, and often after, this territory was described as Mr. Danforth's farm. Its name of Framlingham was derived from the birth-place of Mr. Danforth in England. The bounds of the Plantation were not distinctly defined, neither did it possess any legal organization. That the name was not restricted to the lands of Mr. Danforth, is made probable by the fact, that Thomas Eames is described as of that Plantation in 1676. Framlingham was taxed in 1674 and after. The interest which naturally attaches to the ancient name of this town, may justify a brief account of the original Framlingham in Great Britain.

Framlingham is in the hundred of Loes, County of Suffolk, in England, and lies 18 miles N.E. by N. from Ipswich, and 88 miles N.E. from London. The river Ore runs by it, and upon the W. side of the town spreads into a sort of lake. By the bounty of King Henry I., here was formerly a castle of the Bigods. It is described by Camden (1695) as "a very beautiful castle, fortified with a rampire, a ditch, and a wall of great thickness, with thirteen towers; within it has very convenient lodgings. From this place it was that, A.D. 1173, when the rebellious son of King Henry II. took up arms against his father, Robert, Earl of Leicester, with his stipendiaries from Flanders, harassed the country all around; and here also it was that, An. 1553, Queen Mary entered upon the government, notwithstanding the violent opposition of Dudley, Earl of Northumberland, against King Henry VIII.'s daughters." This town contains a free school, and also the chapel of Saxtead, valued in the King's books at £43 6 8, the patronage of which is in Pembroke Hall, Cambridge. The church is dedicated to St. Michael. The resident population of this parish, in 1801, was 1,854, and the amount raised by the parish rates, in 1803, was £1,129 12 0, at 5s. 4 1-2d. in the pound. Cotton Mather relates of Nicholas Danforth, (father of Thomas), that he was "of such figure and esteem in the church, that he procured that famous lecture at Framlingham, in Suffolk, where he had a fine manor, which lecture was kept by Mr. Burroughs and many other noted ministers in their turn; to whom, and especially to Mr. Shepard, he proved a Gaius, and then especially, when the Laudian fury scorched them." Framlingham is a market town, its market being held on Saturday. The Fairs are on Whit-Monday and the 10th of October. There are two other places of the same name in England, viz. Framlingham Earl's, and Framlingham Pigot, both in the hundred of Henstead, and County of Norfolk.*

HIGHWAYS.

Of the only roads of which we first have record, one is described as the path to Quintecote, or Conecticot, which extended from Sudbury, (now Wayland), following, as nearly as we can judge, the most ancient line of travel, crossing the "fording place of Cochituate brook," passing near the house now of Mr. Uriah Rice, from thence by the route towards the railroad and Sherburne. On this line settlers gradually extended towards the S.E. and S. parts of the town, where, before 1680, we find traces of the Eameses, the Pratts, Thomas Gleason, Isaac Learned, John Death, &c.† Most of these occupied lands within the limits of the Indian plantation of Natick. Some of the number became townsmen of Sherburne, after its incorporation in 1679.

Another road, probably intersecting the former, is referred to as the "path to Nipnox," which was perhaps the line of communication between Natick and Magunkook, at the South part of the town. In 1659, is noticed the "path from Natick to John Stone's house;" and in 1662, the "highway leading from John Stone's house to Marlbury." These probably comprise all the roads, (if such they may be termed), traversing the early Plantation.

† For particulars respecting these and other early settlers, the reader is referred to the Genealogical Register.

"At a County Court holden in Charlestown, Dec. 23, 1673, John Stone sen'r of Sudbury, Serg't (John) Woods of Marlborough, and Thomas Eames of Framingham, together with John Livermore of Wattertown, (or any two of them,) were appointed and impowered to lay out an highway for the use of the country, leading from the house of the said John Livermore to a horse-bridge (then being) near the house of Daniel Stone, jun., and thence the nearest and best way to Marlborough, and thence to Quabuog," (now Brookfield.)*

The above highway was laid out, and the return made Oct. 6, 1674. It is the highway at the North part of Framingham, extending from the "New Bridge," (so called in 1750), W. towards Marlborough.† The "horse bridge" referred to, is probably explained by the following, extracted from the County Records, iii. 87:

"April 7, 1674. In answer to the petition of Samuel How, referring to some allowance to be made him, for his expenses about the bridge he had lately erected upon Sudbury river, above the town, he is allowed to take toll of all travellers, for a horse and man 3d, and for a cart 6d, until there be an orderly settling of the Country highway, and some provision made for repayment to him of his disbursements."

INDIAN HISTORY OF THE PLANTATION.

As our narrative of events approaches the period of King Philip's war, it may be proper here to condense such information as we have obtained relative to the early Indian history, as connected with this township.

History and tradition alike fail of throwing much light upon the Indian tribes, who must once have inhabited this town. The spacious ponds and the river, particularly at the falls, abundantly stored with fish, undoubtedly attracted them within these borders.

* Co. Records.

† The identity of this road is proved by a petition, (an attested copy of which is in the author's possession), signed by fourteen persons, nearly all of Framingham, and bearing date 1722. The petition, addressed to the Court of Quarter Sessions at Cambridge, refers to the origin of the road, and represents it as "nearer and more commodious for travellers from Boston to Marlborough and the towns lying above and westward thereof, than any other road now in use, yet through neglect and disuse, unpassable." A committee was prayed for "to view the said highway and order the building of a bridge over the river there," or elsewhere, "and order the said way to be laid open and made passable for travellers." In the action of the Court upon this petition may have originated the name of the "New Bridge."

Ancient records refer to the "Indian graves" in the neighborhood of Saxonville, as well known, but the precise locality (probably upon the plain E. of school house No. 9) is now lost. The remembrance of it has passed away with the interesting and unfortunate people it commemorated.

The only information we possess, which seems to indicate their actual occupation of the territory in this neighborhood, after the settlement of the colony, is contained in a letter of John Eliot,* who, writing in 1649, says: "Some SUDBURY Indians, some of Concord Indians, some of Maestick Indians, and some of Dedham Indians, are ingenious and pray unto God, and sometimes come to the place where I teach, to hear the word." We have preserved also the religious confession of an Indian named William, of Sudbury, alias Nataous, who is probably the Netus, referred to in the note to the Corlett Grant. He is described, 1662, as living at Nipmap Hill,† three miles N. of the Indian Plantation (Natick?). Hubbard speaks of him as "very familiar with the whites." Gookin, in 1674, refers to Nattous as among "the good men and prudent" who were rulers at Natick. He is also described as a Nipmuck Captain. The Co. Records, as early as 1659,‡ notice him, by the name of Netus, as having been sued by Serg. John Parmenter, of Sudbury, for a debt. This same Netus was the leader of the Indians at the assault upon Mr. Eames' house, soon to be related.

The name of Jacob's Meadow, (E. of Indian Head), and Jacob's Further Meadow, both in this town, indicate the probable residence here of "Old Jacob," as he is named in the accounts of the praying Indians. Old Jacob (his Indian name being Aponapawquin), "was among the first that prayed to God. He had so good a memory that he could rehearse the whole catechism, both questions and answers. When he gave thanks at meat, he would sometimes only say the Lord's Prayer." Dr. Homer of Newton states that he died at the age of 90 years, recommending union to his brethren at large, and an inviolable regard to the laws of equity and to the civil authorities.§ Old Jacob will soon appear also as a participator in the "Eames' burning."

§ 1 M. H. Coll., ix. 198 ; v. 264.

BOMAN and ROGER have already been noticed as grantors of land near the Falls, and as commemorated in the names of Bowman's Brook and Roger's Field. Other Indian names of hills, ponds and streams, (and those in some instances corrupted), are meagre, yet pleasant memorials transmitted to us, of the aboriginal race.*

Ancient records moreover inform us, that John Awansamug, Sen., was a "chief proprietor" and "sachem" of a tract of land, extending from the S. part of Framingham into Sherburne, and beyond that town to the S. W.; and the name of "Peter Jethro's field," on an old survey, points out the local habitation, near Nobscut Hill, of an individual, whose name is somewhat notorious in the annals of King Philip's war. Capt. Tom's Hill, which lies at the E. part of the town, S. of the turnpike, upon the bounds of Natick and Framingham, probably received its name from the celebrated Wuttusacomponom, or Capt. Tom, the chief sachem of the Nipmuck Indians. Of the three last named, the following sketches may deserve a place in this History.

AWANSAMUG.—This name very often occurs in ancient deeds, and is variously written Awussomoag, Oonsumog, Wessomog, Ossamog, &c. The earliest mention made of him is in the History of Lynn,† which refers to him (if the same), as having lived at Rumney Marsh (now Chelsea), and the father of Muminquash, (James Rumney Marsh), born in 1636. He is generally known, however, as one of the "Natick Indians," in their conveyances of lands. In an account of the Praying or Christian Indians, 1659,‡ he is described as "a young man when they (the Indians) began to pray to God. He did not at the present join with them. He would say to me, I will first see to it, and when I understand it, I will answer you. He did after a while enter into the civil covenant; but was not entered into church covenant before he died. He was propounded to join the church, but was delayed, he being of a quick, passionate temper." It is added, that the church would have been satisfied to receive him, had he recovered from the long sickness which caused his death. Eliot elsewhere gives this Indian's confession among others.* The extent of his possessions in this region must have been considerable. Besides land in the S. part of this town, he conveyed to William Sheffield 500 acres at Chaboquassit, in Sherburne, and obtained leave of the General Court, just before his death, to sell a large tract not far from Sherburne line on the S.W., to — Rawson. He appears to have received much kindness from Thomas Eames, of Framingham, "for sundry years until his death," of which a suitable notice is taken in an Indian conveyance to his sons. Awansamug left at his death a widow Yawataw, who signed the deed of the township of Salem in 1686, and at least two sons, Thomas and Amos; the former of whom owned a "houseclot" upon the land of Thomas Eames, and was living (or a son) in Natick, June 4, 1742. Samuel Assamug, of Natick, 1682, was probably another son.†

JETHRO AND PETER JETHRO.—The early historical accounts contain notices of Old Jethro, called Tantamous, and of his son Peter Jethro, in which there is some confusion. Whether the field above named refers to one only, or both, is uncertain. Old Jethro, says Drake, lived on Nobscut Hill at the breaking out of King Philip's war in 1675. The place called "Peter Jethro's field," which was upon the present farm of Mr. Ezekiel How, is referred to in a deed dated 1693. Shattuck's History of Concord states, that Jethro was present as a witness at the purchase of Musquitaquid, or Concord, in 1635, which took place under an old tree, standing some years since near the Hotel, called Jethro's tree, and used in early times as a belfry on which the town bell was hung. This must have been the younger Jethro, as the deposition printed by Mr. Shattuck, relating to the purchase, was given in 1684, when the deponent was about 70 years old, which was eight years after the death of the older Jethro. The deposition notices that Jethro lived at Nashobah fifty years before. Gookin, writing in 1674,‡ speaks of Jethro as "a grave and pious Indian" belonging to Natick, who was sent to be a teacher at Weshakim, near Lancaster. In 1675, the older Jethro, (according to Drake), with his family of about twelve persons, then living at Nobscut Hill, were among the Indians ordered for security to Deer Island, at the breaking out of King Philip's war. Resenting the ill usage the Indians received from their conductors, he escaped in the night with his family, but was afterwards betrayed with others, by his son Peter Jethro, to the English, by whom, according to Hubbard, he was executed Sept. 26, 1676.

In 1665, "Animatohu, alias Jethro," was among the Indians who conveyed to John Haynes and others, 3200 acres of land E. of Quinsigamoge Pond. The Indian name probably belongs to the younger Jethro.

Peter Jethro, in 1683, was living with Jonathan Ting, of Dunstable; in consideration of whose kindness to him and his uncle Jeffry (called Quaquoeco Noucanomon of Waymessitt), he conveyed to him a tract of land six miles square, at Machapaog, N. of Watchusett's Hill and W. of Groton, which he had previously obtained from his uncle Jeffry. In the deed Peter represents himself as without children and not likely to have any. In 1684, he was among the Indian grantors of the two-mile tract, added upon the W. line of Sudbury. Peter Jethro had derived much benefit from his intercourse with the English, and at times acted as scribe for the Indians. His treachery to his father led to the remark of Increase Mather, "that abominable Indian, Peter Jethro, betrayed his own father and other Indians of his special acquaintance unto death." A tradition exists, that since the incorporation of the town, Peter's house has been occupied by Indians, who are reputed to have been mischievous, and troublesome to their neighbors.

CAPT. TOM,—called also Old Tom, alias Wuttusacomponum, appears to have been one of the praying Indians. Among the State Files* are papers describing the character of "Tom," (perhaps the same Indian), which accuse him of lying, excessive drinking &c., and as, "in brief, a fellow very profane and of noc conscience;" and adds, that going on one occasion "to charge his gun, and wanting paper to ram in, he did teare a piece of the Bible," and said "he would make the word of God to lie." It is certain, however, that he was held in esteem by Gookin, who speaks of him as "the chief among these praying Indians, who also was their ruler, named Capt. Tom, &c.—a prudent, and I believe a pious man, and had given good demonstration of it many years." He again refers to him as his chief assistant at Pakachog, being of the chief sachem's blood of the Nipmuck country, and then (1674) residing at Hassanamesit (Grafton). During Philip's war, he was pressed to join his countrymen against the English; and depositions exist among the State papers, of persons who swore to have recognized him at the attack upon Sudbury, at the Causey, "by a grumbling sign or noise" peculiar to him. On the 9th or 10th June, 1676, he was taken, with his daughter and two children, by a scout sent by Capt. Henchman, about 10 miles S.E. of Marlborough. While on trial in Boston, an urgent petition* was sent in to the Governor and Council by James Rumney Marsh and others, in behalf of 80 Indian soldiers then in the service of the English, praying for the lives of "Capt. Tom, his son Nehemiah, his wife and two children; John Uktuck, his wife and children; Maanum and her children." The lives of the women and children were spared; Capt. Tom and another were hanged the 26th (some say 22d) June; "both," says a writer, "died (as it is to be hoped) penitent, praying to God, not like the manner of the heathen." Gookin, who befriended the unhappy Christian Indians at that time of trial, after his favorable mention of Capt. Tom's prudence and piety above quoted, adds, "I had particular acquaintance with him, and cannot think otherwise concerning him in his life or at his death; though possibly in this action he was tempted beyond his strength." From the distance and position of the hill referred to as the place of Capt. Tom's capture, it is probable that "Capt. Tom's Hill" in Framingham derived from him its name.†

The success of the Apostle Eliot's labors among the natives, led to the establishment of several towns of praying Indians, of which

† There are traces of other Indians, bearing the name of Capt. Tom. "Thomas Ukqueakussennum, alias Captain Tom, of Waymessick," (Chelmsford), was among the grantors of the Salem township, 1686. (Hist. Salem.) In 1703, the town of Hampton was surprised by a noted warrior called Capt. Tom, a Tarratine. Drake's Book of the Indians.

the seven oldest were settled at Natick, Punkapaog (Stoughton), Hassanamesitt (Grafton), Okommakamesit (Marlborough), Wamesitt (Lowell), Nashobah (Littleton), and Magunkaquog or Magunkook, now Hopkinton.

Framingham lay midway between three of these towns, viz: Natick, Okommakamesit, and Magunkaquog. Natick—the name signifying a place of hills—was the earliest settled, and in that part now called South Natick. Gookin, in 1674, described it as containing 29 families and about 145 souls; the chief man being Waban,* about 70 years of age, and a man of great prudence and piety.†

The town of Okommakamesit, which embraced a tract of 6000 acres in Marlborough, was occupied at the same period, by about 10 families and about 50 souls. Their ruler, who deceased in 1674, was Onomog, a sachem who had been “the very soul of that place.” Hutchinson gives their teacher’s name as Solomon.

The town of Magunkaquog, or Magunkook, i. e. the plain of great trees, is described by Gookin‡ as “partly in Natick, partly on land granted by the country. It lies W. southerly from Boston about 24 miles, near the midway between Natick and Hassanamesitt. The number of its inhabitants are about 11 families and about 55 souls. There are, men and women, eight members of the church at Natick and about 15 baptized persons. The quantity of land belonging to it is about 3000 acres. The Indians plant upon a great hill which is very fertile, and these people worship God and keep the Sabbath and observe civil order, as do the other towns. They have a constable and other officers. Their ruler’s name is Pomhaman,§ a sober and active man and pious.

* Waban held a commission as justice of the peace, and is represented to have acted with great energy in the government of his people. Among other anecdotes related of him, it is said that being once inquired of, what he would do, when Indians got drunk and quarrelled, he answered: “Tie um all up, and whip um plaintiff, whip um fendant, and whip um witness.” Drake.

† In 1764, only thirty-seven Indians remained in Natick; and in 1792, they were reduced to one family of five persons and two single-women.

The Natick Indian town was settled in 1651; the first church was embodied, 1660. Natick was incorporated as an English district, in 1761, and as a town, 1781. 1 M. H. Coll. I. 184 note.

‡ 1 M. H. Coll. I. 188.

§ Of Pomhaman we have obtained no satisfactory information. The religious confession of Ponampain (possibly the same), is preserved to us. (3 M. H. Coll. iv. 240.) Pomham was Sachem of Showamit (where Gorton settled), and came under the government of the Mass. Colony.

Their teacher is named Job,* a person well accepted for piety and ability among them." He adds, that this town was the last setting of the old towns, and that the Indians had plenty of corn and kept some cattle, horses and swine, for which the place was well accommodated. The "great hill" referred to, which is now called Maguneco Hill, and on which ancient apple trees were standing a few years since, lies to the S.W. of the village of Ashland, at a short distance from the Railroad. The precise bounds of the Indian territory are not known; but from the extent of the grant, they undoubtedly continued within the ancient territory of Framingham, as the farm of Savil Simpson began at the foot of the hill. It is probable that a part, at least, of the Magunkook tract was granted by the General Court to Sherburne, and was included in the "4000 acres adjoining unto Magunkoog Indian Hill," which they gave to the Natick Indians in exchange for land to the E. of Sherburne which they received from the latter, in 1679.† The burial place of the Magunkook Indians is still identified, as the spot on which stands the brick school-house, near the house of Mr. Samuel Valentine. Skeletons have been disinterred, within a few years, near the highway.

Some interest attaches to this Indian community, not only from their proximity to this town, but from the part they took in the destruction of Thomas Eames' house in Framingham, the only event of Philip's war particularly connected with the town, which will soon be related. The Indians of Magunkook, with those of the other praying towns, were brought under serious suspicion at the opening of the war. The greater part of the Christian Indians were disarmed, and sent to Deer Island, where, according to Gookin, they suffered extreme hardships. The inhabitants of Magunkook were among those who most readily yielded to the enticements of Philip, so that after the war their plantation was broken up.‡

The formidable combination under King Philip, spread consternation through the colonies of Plymouth and Massachusetts, and threatened a general ruin of the whites. The designs of that crafty chieftain had been suspected as early as 1671, which led to the dangerous expedient of a general disarming of the Indians. The first act in the tragic war which followed, was the attack upon the people of Swanzey, June 24, 1675. Others succeeded in various places, until the memorable Narraganset fight, on the 19th Dec. 1675, upon the issue of which, Philip retired into the western parts of Massachusetts.

A few weeks after that event, occurred the incident we are now to relate.* Thomas Eames, who a few years before had leased the "Pelham Farm," at Sudbury, settled, near 1670, within the bounds of the Plantation of Framingham. He built his house on the southern slope of Mount Wayte, between the Sudbury river and Farm pond, at a distance of about seven miles S.W. from the ancient town of Sudbury, and about three miles E. from the Indian town of Magunkook. A partial depression of the surface, with the surrounding apple trees, still indicate the spot, which is upon the farm of Mr. Harrison Eames. His family consisted, at the time now referred to, of a wife and nine children.† On the 1st of February, (some accounts say the 2d,) 1675-6, during the absence of the father, who had gone to Boston to obtain a supply of ammunition, a party of about 12 Indians, headed by Netus, approached the house, one of them remaining in the corn-fields at a distance, probably as a watch. Tradition states that two of the children were surprised at the well, and seized; and that the mother, who had resolved never to be taken alive, made a brave resistance, and being employed at towns was estimated to be between eleven and twelve hundred. After its close, scarce half that number could be found. Gookin says, that "through God's favor, some of them were preserved alive, and are reconciled again to the English, and now live among the rest of the Christian Indians."

* Besides the well-known authorities for the particulars of this event, the author has discovered the original minutes of the magistrate, (Thomas Danforth), who examined the actors in the affair; and also a petition and deed, to which the sons of Mr. Eames were parties, detailing some of the circumstances.

† Six of the children were by his second wife, then living. Their names were Thomas, Samuel, Margaret, Nathaniel, Sarah, and Lydia; the oldest about twelve, the youngest about three years of age. One only of his sons is known to have been married at this time, who probably lived at Watertown. See Watertown Records.

the time in making soap, poured upon the assailants the boiling fluid. The Indians soon succeeded in firing the house, and either killed or took captive the entire family; at the same time destroying the barn, with the cattle and stores.

Of the exact numbers killed and taken captive, the accounts are contradictory and irreconcilable.* The nearest estimate we can form is, that of the ten members of the family, the wife and three or four of the children were killed, and the rest carried into captivity. Hubbard notices, that the wife of Eames' son died the following day, having, as another account says, been previously tomahawked and scalped. Of this statement we have found no confirmation. Tradition informs us that the captives were first taken in the direction of Lancaster, and that one of the sons was present at the attack upon the garrison of Sudbury, the following April.† It was probably the same son, who, in the spring following his capture, succeeded in making his escape. Having been early instructed, in such an event, to go in the di-

* Drake quotes two authorities, one of which gives seven as killed, and two children taken; the other, "they killed seven people in a barbarous manner, and carried some away captive." Drake himself says, without giving his authority, "in all, seven persons were killed or fell into the hands" of the Indians. According to Hubbard, (p. 84) Mr. Eames' "wife was killed and his children carried captive," and he adds, that "the next day his son's wife died." The Indian deed to the sons of Eames says, they "killed his wife and three children, and captivated five more, whereof only three returned, who are now dwelling on the said (Eames') lands." The sons in their own petition to the Gen. Court, represent, that "they slew his wife and five children, and four only of those whom they took into captivity returned." The facts known are as follows: Eames, in his inventory detailing his losses, states his family to have consisted of "a wife and nine children." As his oldest son, John, was probably living at Watertown, it is to be presumed that he was not included in the family. His wife having had children by her first husband, it is probable that some of them lived with her. There is no reason for supposing, that any of the family escaped death or captivity. The whole number, then, killed and taken captive, was probably ten. Of this number three only of the children can be accounted for, viz. Samuel, Margaret and Nathaniel, all of whom returned, and were subsequently married. According to the confession of the Indians, there were two daughters among the captives. It is certain therefore that as many as four captives were carried away. As it is probable, moreover, that not all the captives ultimately returned, the best conjecture we can form is, that four or five, including the wife, were killed, and the rest taken captive, of whom three returned. As the sons of Eames who returned were quite young at the time of their captivity, and as there is reason to believe, that the captives were separated soon after the catastrophe occurred, the discrepancy in the different statements in which they were parties, is less surprising.

† He is said to have reported, that the Indians suffered severely by the fire from the garrison, and that an aged squaw lost six sons, all of whom were brave and distinguished warriors.

rection of the rising sun, after a bold and perilous journey of some 30 miles in the wilderness, he reached in safety an English settlement; an act of singular courage in a boy of eleven or twelve years.*

We learn from the confession of the Indian actors in this domestic tragedy, that near the month of June following the event, the two daughters of Mr. Eames were "at a great hill about midway between Watchusett and Penecooke, in good health, and not in a starving plight;" that Mattahump† had one of the daughters, and Pumapen the other. They were supposed, in August, to be in the neighborhood of Fort Aurania, (Albany). Respecting the subsequent fate of the captives, we know little more than that two sons and one daughter were happily restored to their desolated home and friends. Tradition throws an air of romance upon the fortunes of Margaret, the daughter. The colonial government having despatched some agents to obtain the release of captives detained in Canada, one of their company was in his own turn captivated by the attractions of the daughter of Mr. Eames, whose release he had obtained, and whom he soon after made his wife. The Cambridge Records are authority for the fact, that Joseph Adams married Margaret Eames, in 1688.‡

* "The next day, (i. e. March 12, another account says May), a youth of about eleven years of age made his escape from the Indians, who was taken prisoner when his father's house was burnt and his mother murdered, on the first of February last; and though the boy knew not a step of the way to any English town, and was in continual danger of the skulking Indians in the woods, and far from the English, yet God directed him aright and brought him to the sight of plantane, (the herb which the Indians call English-foot, because it grows only amongst us and is not found in the Indian plantations), whereupon he concluded he was not far from some English town, and accordingly following of the plantane, he arrived safely among us." (Drake's old Indian Chronicle, p. 122). From the age above given, it is probable that the name of the boy was Samuel Eames.

† Mattahump was probably the Mautamp, Sachem of Quabaog, who, in 1665, witnessed the sale of Brookfield, and was hanged with others, Sept. 26, 1676. Hubbard, pp. 35, 75.

‡ It is quite probable that one or more of the children remained in Canada; a not uncommon event, and in some cases the result of preference on the part of the captives, who became so accustomed to their change of life, as to lose all attachment to their English society and friends. Hutchinson states in his history (ii. 140), that the captives who have been carried to Canada, have often received very kind usage from the French inhabitants. A tradition exists, that a sister of Capt. Isaac Clark of Framingham, who with her mother (then of Maine), had been taken by the Indians to Canada, was there sold to the French; among whom she lived so contented and happy, that when money was sent for her redemption, she refused to leave; sending word that the money was not sufficient to supply her table.

The actors in the affair we have related, did not long escape the hands of justice. Netus, the leader of the party, was killed March 27th, at Marlborough, by a party of English under the command of Lt. Jacobs, and his wife was sold. Annecoeken, another, was dead before the close of summer. Aug. 11th, a warrant was issued by Thomas Danforth, Magistrate, for the arrest of "Joshua Assatt, John Dublet, son-in-law to Jacob, William Jackstraw and two of his sons, the name of the one Joseph, also Jackstraw's wife, all of them late of Moguncog Indians."* Three of them, viz. William Wanuckhow, alias Jackstraw, and his two sons, Joseph and John, were taken and examined by Mr. Danforth the 14th of the same month, before whom they made confession of the act, assigning as its cause, "their missing of corn, which they expected to have found at Mogoncocke." They also accused two others, Joshua Assatt, then absent in the English service at Marlborough, under Capt. Hunting, and Awassaquah, who was sick "at the Ponds."† The three were committed to prison, and Joseph was indicted, with probably the others, who

* The constable was also ordered to warn Peter Ephraim's wife to appear before the magistrate. Peter lived at Brush hill, on Natick lands exchanged with Sherburne in 1679, not far distant from Framingham, where he had broken up land. He was a Nipmuck Indian, whose religious confession is given by Eliot. He rendered valuable services to the English in Philip's war, and as commander of a company of friendly Indians, accompanied the English to Rehoboth. Ancient accounts state that while the English became discouraged, "Ephraim continued and captured forty-two, besides killing eight." He was of Natick, in 1695. His wife's name was Wuttawtinusk. Peter's hill, a part of Natick, probably derived its name from him.

"Joseph Indian, son of William of Mogoncocke, being examined, do say and confess, that himself with those others named by the Marshal, were the persons that destroyed Thomas Eames' family, in the beginning of February last; that the same was occasioned by their missing of corn which they expected to have found at Mogoncocke, and by that means were provoked to come and do the spoil, killing of some and carrying captive the rest, and burning house, barn and cattle; and do confess that he himself carried away on his back one of Eames' sons. Also he saith that about 2 mo. since, he enquired concerning Goodman Eames' two daughters, and understood they were at a great hill about midway between Watchuset and Penecooke, and were in good health and not in a starving plight.

"Apumatquin, alias John, being examined, do confess the same thing as above to be the truth; only he saith he knows nothing how it is with Goodman Eames' daughters at present, not having heard lately any thing concerning them.

"Wm. Jackstraw being examined, do confess the same thing as above; owns that his sons Joseph and John above examined, were present at the desolation of Gn. Eames' family, and were tried September 18th. How many of their accomplices, if any, were afterwards brought to justice, does not appear. Gookin states that "three were executed about Thos. Eames his burning." The execution took place the 21st of September. "Two of the murderers," according to the petition of the Eames' sons, "Old Jacob, a chief man sometime at Natick, and Joshua Assunt, returned and were pardoned, and lived at Natick many years after." The close of this war of so disastrous issues to the Indians, undoubtedly dictated a course of forbearance and clemency to the accused; since justice had already been satisfied by the blood of three of their accomplices.

For the severe loss sustained in this affair, computed, as we have seen, at £330, (a large sum for those days), Thomas Eames received a small indemnity. The General Court granted him, "various considerations thereunto moving," 200 acres of land. He also sued the Indians at law, and obtained from them a tract of 300 acres. But no recompense in land or treasure could restore to him his desolated home. He survived the calamity a few years, and died about a week before the 4th anniversary of the event, Jan. 25, 1680, aged about 62.*

The return of peace, after the destructive hostilities of this Indian war, was soon followed by the arrival of new settlers in this territory, particularly towards the S. part. In 1674 the inhabitants of Bogestow, now Sherburne, receiving from the Court a grant of six miles square, and becoming soon organized as a civil community, several of the inhabitants of this Plantation were admitted there as townsmen.* Most of these were received conformably to an act of the General Court in 1679, requiring that "all other farmes that are nighest Sherborn meeting house, shall likewise be in the bounds of Sherborn, and do duty and receive priviledge therein;" to which the following proviso was annexed: "Provided always, that the tract of waste lands scituate and lying indifferently accomodable for Sudbury and Marlborough as well as Sherborn, and are now belonging to Thomas Danforth, Esq. Deputy Governor, be excepted." † This action by the Court possesses some interest, as the origin of the "difficulties with Sherburne," which caused no small contention, after the incorporation of Framingham as a township. The arrangement was doubtless made in aid of that young township, which, according to an early Rate, contained only 16 taxable polls.‡

* On the State Files (xxx. p. 122) is a paper (without date, probably about 1680), recounting the abusive treatment received by Mary Parkes of Sherburne (æ. 39), from an Indian who encountered her returning from a visit to "Corporal Rice's." The particulars are not worthy of notice. She reached her home in safety, after a severe fright.

1680. The largest body of the settlers of this territory being at this period in the neighborhood of Sudbury bounds, some interest is connected with the following extract from the Records of that town, illustrating the care of the early planters in the instruction and moral training of the rising commonwealth. The statement was prepared in conformity to an act of the General Court, requiring returns to be made relative to the support of the ministry, the maintenance of schools, and the general order of families, in respect to habits of regular industry and good morals. Early in the year, the selectmen had reported their "having gone over the houses throughout the town, from house to house, and inspected and made enquiry;" and "do find that all children and young persons are in a forward and growing way as to reading

Thomas Eames was early one of the Selectmen, and was on the committee for building the meeting house, and received a grant "for building" the same. John Eames was Selectman in 1682. The Rev. The account after some details, adds, “that though there be no stated school, the inhabitants being scattered, they have two school dames each side of the river that teacheth small children to spell and read, which is so managed by their parents and goodmen at home, — after such sort, as that the Selectmen returned from all parts a comfortable and good account of all these matters, and render them growing in several families beyond expectation, hardly reprobable anywhere, encouraging in most places and in others very commendable, so as that the end is accomplit hitherto; and for teaching to write and cypher, there is Mr. Tho. Who can estimate, how far we are indebted to the noble spirit speaking in these tones of homeliness and simplicity, for the intelligence, the enterprise, the moral and religious spirit which have since characterized this Commonwealth!

New roads, soon after this period, were probably opened in the Plantation, as appears from the following extract from the County Records.†

“Oct. 7, 1684, Lt. Edward West, Obadiah Morse, Thomas Read, Jonathan Whitney, Jon. Fay, and John Collar, are appointed a committee to lay out highways leading from Sudbury, Sherborn, Marlborough and Framingham, and the Falls upon Charles River, so as may be most convenient for the accommodation of travellers from Town to Town, both for man and beast.”

As no return is found upon the Record, what particular action was had by the commission does not appear. The same Records inform us, that Dec. 16 of the same year, John Eames recovered of the town of Sherborn £5 in country pay, for killing 10 wolves.

by several feet perpendicular, that ever was remembered by English or Indians then surviving." *

1692. This year is memorable, as the date of the outbreak of the celebrated Witchcraft delusion; in the course of which, the lives of many innocent persons were sacrificed to a "blind zeal and superstitious credulity." It is so far connected with our present history, as having caused the emigration, soon after, to this Plantation, from Salem village, now Danvers, of the families of Clayes and Nurse, who, with their descendants, still remaining in the town, have been useful and respected members of the community. They settled about a mile W. from the centre of the Plantation, and the neighborhood has since been known by the name of SALEM END.

The melancholy delusion referred to, commenced in Essex County—the chief seat of its violence—Feb. 1691–2, in the family of Mr. Parris, a minister of Salem Village, and soon spread into other parts of the Colony. It was communicated to this country from England, where several years before had been published Glanvil's Witch Stories, and the trials of the Suffolk Witches, books which circulated in New England, and with the added authority of so great a man as Sir Matthew Hale, who countenanced the superstition, made a deep impression upon the minds of the grave people who dwelt amidst the gloom of the wilderness, and were harassed by continual privation and danger. Among the numerous families who suffered from this infatuation, were the two above named. March 1, 1692, Rebecca, wife of Francis Nurse, and Sarah, wife of Peter Clayes, of Salem Village, were committed with others to the prison in Boston, on the charge of witchcraft. The fate of the former was singularly unhappy. At her trial the jury could not agree in a verdict, and on the second return to the Court had not found her guilty. Persisting, however, in her refusal to answer certain questions, about an expression she had used, her silence was made constructive proof of guilt, and she was accordingly condemned to death. She was excommunicated July 3, from the old church of Salem, and on the 19th of the same month was hung. Many testimonials were given of her good character and domestic worth, without effect. The 31st of the following month, the wife of Mr. Clayes was removed to the Ipswich prison; but the fury of the delusion abating, she escaped with her life, having, as tradition says, been conveyed by night to Framingham. Mary Easty, a sister of Rebecca Nurse, (as was Sarah Clayes), also Abigail Williams, probably the sister or niece of Mr. Clayes, appear to have been implicated, in the course of events. It is painful to reflect, that this delusion was encouraged by men of high distinction in the Colony, both in the church and state. One of them (Judge Sewall) afterwards bewailed his participation in it, and asked "pardon of God and man."

The gradual increase of settlers at Lanham and the E. part of Framingham, on the borders of Sudbury, some of whom probably attended public worship in that town, without bearing their due portion of town charges, led the selectmen of that place, in 1691, to apply to the General Court for relief. The following order was accordingly passed.

"At an adjournment of the Gen. Court of their Maj. Colony of the Mass. Bay, in Boston, March 8, 1691-2:

"In answer to the petition of the selectmen of Sudbury, ordered: that the outdwellers adjoining unto the said Town, comprehended within the line beginning at Matth. Rice's, from thence to Cornet Wm. Brown's, Corporal Henry Rice's, Thomas Drury's, Tho. Walker, Jun., John How, and Samuel Winch's (not belonging to any other towne), be annexed unto the Town of Sudbury, and continue to bear their part of all duties, and partake of all priviledges there, as formerly, until further order."

In pursuance of this order, which applied (except perhaps in the case of the first two), to inhabitants of the present town of Framingham, we soon find traces of town action within the borders of this town.

"In 1693, Daniel Stone and John Adams, were chosen fence viewers from Lanham, Daniel Stone's Mill to Sherborn bounds.

"Jan. 10, 1693-4. Voted and agreed &c., that Daniel Stone, Jr., Nath. Stone, Samuel Winch, John Adams, Corporal Bent, David Stone, Mr. Henry Rice, David Rice, Thomas Drury, Thom. Walker, John How, shall be rated to the highway according to former custom and usage; and shall work out their rates about the making and maintaining of the bridge and Casway, at Dan. Stone's river, and at Cochecheuat brook the bridge and casway there, in good repair, &c.

"Also voted and agreed, &c., That Corporal Samuel How, Mr. Thomas Read, (John) How, John Gibbs, Math. Gibbs, Edmond Bowker, Tho. Read, Jun., Tho. Frost, Benj. Wight, John Sheers, shall be rated to the highway rate as formerly, and shall work out their rates at Lanham bridge and Casway, &c."

In Feb. 1693-4, among the schoolmistresses appointed by the selectmen "for the younger sort of children," (Samuel Wright having been appointed to teach and instruct children and youth to read and write and cast accompts), we find "at the S. end of the town, the wife of our brother Daniel Stone, and at Lanham, the wife of brother Reade, Sen." and the selectmen "entreat the persons above named to accept thereof."

The neighborhood above referred to, contiguous to the present bounds of Wayland, was known soon after this period as the "Sudbury Farms." The success of Sudbury in sharing the dispersed inhabitants of this unappropriated region, inspired hopes in another quarter.

Feb. 3, 1695. At a town meeting in Sherburne, relative to an enlargement of their town bounds, by the addition of "land joining to the farm of Henry Rice, to make one township," embracing such "farmers as are willing to join our township," it was proposed "to run a straight line from the S. corner of Henry Rice's to the cartway, crossing Cochituate brook, near where Course brook meets with Cochituate brook." The projected union, however, met with no successful issue.

The time had arrived when the Incorporation of the Plantation began to be seriously meditated. Its territory was becoming settled in all directions. It contained a population estimated at near 200 souls. Great inconvenience was experienced from the want of schools, and the remoteness of public worship. The community possessed among their number men of enterprise and energy. An individual had become a proprietor of lands in the Plantation, who was destined to act an important part in the future establishment and administration of the town. As early as 1693, Joseph Buckminster, of Muddy River, now Brookline, then about 27 years of age, a man who to a considerable estate, united great resolution and ardor of character, was in possession, jointly with Joseph White, of a tract of land, the commencement of the large interest he afterwards acquired. Accordingly, in 1696, a petition was formally preferred to the General Court, praying that the inhabitants might be incorporated as a township. This first movement was for the time lost; the petition having been laid over to the session of the following year.

The winter of 1696-7 was remarkable for an extreme severity, extending from the middle of November to the middle of March. The Records of Sudbury notice it as "the terriblest winter for continuance of frost and snow, and extremity of cold, that ever was remembered." Much sickness and mortality arose from the prevalence of coughs and colds. Other contemporaneous accounts state, that at Boston, sleighs and loaded sleds passed on the ice from Boston as far as Nantasket. What added to the sufferings of the colonists, was the great scarcity of food, grain never having been higher.

Before proceeding to give, in orderly detail, the proceedings which issued in the establishment here of a township, it may be proper to notice a transaction of some importance, viz. the transfer of Mr. Danforth's control of the chief of his large estate in the Plantation to Joseph Buckminster, which involves various particulars of interest, as connected with subsequent events. Mr. Danforth had disposed of his lands to the tenants who had settled upon them, by lease, for a long term of years.* He now conveys almost the entire estate, in like manner, to Mr. Buckminster. The original instrument bears date March 25, 1699, and is on record among the Middlesex Deeds. After the usual introduction, we extract the following:—

"That whereas the said Thomas Danforth hath a tract or parcell of land, and a part of those lands commonly called Framingham, lying &c., in the wilderness, and is bounded by Sudbury on the northerly side thereof, by Marlborough on the westerly side, and the easterly side is bounded partly by land now occupied by Simon Mellins, John Collar Sen. and the Whitneys', and southerly, by Sherborn line: also, within said tract or parcell of land, is contained sundry parcells of land and meadows, that are appropriated to sundry other persons and not to the said T. D.: also within said tract of land is comprehended one neck of land, bounded by Sudbury river, southerly, S. westerly, and S. easterly, and a small branch of said river northerly, running towards Marlborough line, and said line is the westerly bounds thereof, which said neck of land, (excepting only 600 part thereof to be laid out in — distinct places and no more), the said T. D. reserveth to lye in common, for the accommodation of those that do or shall occupy other, the said lands of the said T. D., as for the tennants and farmers of him, the said Joseph Buckminster, in manner as he, the said T. D., shall hereafter appoint and order, reserving also to Simon Mellins and John Col- lar, and the farms by them occupied, all the meadows lying upon Sudbury river, as far downward as the aforesaid branch of the said river, and so much of the upland as shall be set out to them for the accommodating the fencing of said meadows, and to the other farmers of the said lands of the said T. D. conveniency for passage of their cattle to the said neck of land, and an highway of 20 pole wide or more, in manner and place as shall be requisite and meet, as said T. D. shall appoint — also 600 acres of land to be laid out in one entire place, and to bound southerly upon the path leading from Dea. Stone's to Marlborough; also for the accommodation of the meeting house and settlement of the minister, said T. D. reserveth 140 acres, and is laid out in two or more places, as they, the above named T. D. and J. B., have ordered and appointed — all the remainder of the said tract of land to him the said T. D. appertaining," &c.

* The rents were paid for many years; until, by some means unexplained, the tenants were able to resist the demand. Tradition states that the legal evidences had been

Without specifying the bounds, he proceeds to lease the same to the said Joseph Buckminster, for the term of 999 years, at a rent of £22 per annum, current money; and in default of money, in good merchantable corn, (not exceeding one-sixth part Indian corn or oats), butter, and well fatted beef or pork, (boars and bulls excepted), at the current money price.

The reader will recognize in the reservations above noticed, the origin of the Common lands, and of the grant for the support of public worship; which last we shall have occasion to refer to, in connection with the building of the second meeting house.

On the 5th of November succeeding the above act, Gov. Danforth departed this life, aged 77, after a long course of active service to the colony, leaving honorable proof of his liberality to the Plantation, whose establishment he had so long superintended.*

The proceedings which ultimately resulted in the incorporation

* In his will, bearing date Sept. 1, 1699, he gave to the College "three tenements on lease to Benj. Whitney, John Whitney and Isaac Bowen, situated at Framingham." He left also to his executors 600 acres at Framingham, on Doeskin hill, and 160 acres at the same place, "that John Green should have had." To Thos. Foxcroft, he gave one quarter of "Buckminster's lease," half of the same having been previously conveyed to his dr., Wid. Mary Phipps. The tract of 160 acres referred to, was the so called "HALF MILE SQUARE," which soon came into the possession of George Walkup, by whom one half was conveyed to Jonas Eaton, in 1708. A part of the tract is now owned by Deacon Jona. Greenwood, and a large part by the heirs of the late Mr. John Eaton.

of this town, appear to have been protracted, and attended with inconvenient embarrassment and delays. The petition which was referred to the session of 1697, met with no success that year. On a renewal of the petition the following year, the Court appointed a committee to meet in the Plantation and give hearing to all persons concerned; upon whose return, a resolve, after due deliberation, was passed by the House in favor of the incorporation of the place, but was non-concurred in by the Council. At the summer session petitions were renewed, praying the concurrence of the Council. But the relations of many of the inhabitants to Sudbury and Sherborn, threw embarrassment upon the action of the Court, and caused further postponement. A remonstrance (without date) was sent in by the Rev. Daniel Gookin of Sherborn, setting forth the grounds of opposition to the measure, and an additional remonstrance from inhabitants of that town.* The occupants of the so called "Sudbury Farms,"† also threw in a petition adverse to their separation from Sudbury, on the ground of their peaceable connection with that town, where they had been at much charge for the building of a meeting house, and the maintenance of the ministry; though their opposition was subsequently withdrawn, and they were probably included among those who prayed to be annexed to the town, after its incorporation had been effected.

* The following is an abstract of Mr. Gookin's remonstrance:

I. The small number of families in Sherborn, not exceeding "3 score and four."

II. That the proposed seceders "have had the privilege of taking up lands in such parts of the town which they themselves have acknowledged to belong to Sherborn."

III. That to accommodate them "the meeting house was, to the great disadvantage and dissatisfaction of the first planters, placed at least a mile and an half nearer to those inhabitants that are now laboring to get away from us."

IV. That should these be suffered to go, "there will forthwith be some other families of this town will attempt the same thing, and so in a short time Sherborn will be reduced (as it were) to a mere nullity."

The petition of the inhabitants of Sherborn adds, that the land to be taken from that town, had been received in exchange for lands on the S.W. part of their town, now belonging to the Indians, and that so serious a loss would "disenable" them for the settling of new inhabitants. They urge moreover, that these inhabitants (proposing to be annexed to Framingham), have already taken up in Sherborn "in way of dividend near 500 acres of land;" and that if they be taken, it will disenable them to make good their engagement, for the maintenance of their reverend minister.

† The following farmers united in this petition, viz: John Bent, Daniel Stone, Matthew Rice, John Loker, Nathaniel Stone, John Adams, Elnathan Alling (Allen), Caleb Johnson, Samuel Allen, Isaac Rice, Matthew Stone.

In prosecution of their design, the inhabitants of the Plantation, in 1698 or 9, had built a meeting house for the accommodation of the town. The particulars of this event are not given, and are probably lost to us irrecoverably. All that is known is, that it was erected within what is now the old burying ground, its first minister, at his decease, having been buried (according to an undoubted tradition) beneath where the pulpit stood. The building was not immediately finished. In conformity too to an order of the General Court, in Oct. 1699, a survey of the proposed township was completed by Jno. Gore, surveyor, which has fortunately been preserved.

This survey, (the oldest we possess of the Plantation), bearing the date above named, is on a scale of 200 rods to the inch. It generally presents nearly the modern bounds of the town; excepting that it includes the farm of Mr. Savil Simpson, (now in Ashland), and contemplated the annexation of a tract of Natick land, west of Cochituate Pond, which would have made the west margin of the pond, in its whole extent, the E. bound of the town. This tract, however, (consisting of over 1200 acres), was included in dotted lines, and was not granted by the Court. The survey also embraced, as did afterwards the township, two irregular pieces of land, since known as FIDDLE NECK and THE LEG. The former, which derived its name from its figure, was a neck or goar of land, beginning near Bigelow's paper mill, where it was about 200 rods wide, and extending west a distance of near two and a half miles, the lines terminating at the westerly extremity in a point. It bordered during its whole extent upon the river, which formed its south bound, and the Boston and Worcester rail road track runs through it longitudinally. This tract was subsequently set off to Southborough. The LEG was a tract about 280 rods long and 150 rods wide, in the form of an oblong square, extending from the N. bound of Framingham at the extreme west, north into Marlborough, and was set off to the last named town in 1789.

The above named survey possesses some interest, in indicating the then settled parts of the Plantation, which included 33 houses N.W. of the river, and 31 S.E., making an aggregate of 64 houses. It also designates the location of the meeting house then built. On the S. bounds, as represented, considerable changes were subsequently made at the incorporation of Hopkinton and Holliston. The original survey is to be found among the State files, and appears to have been referred to in the orders of the General Court establishing the township.*

As an off-set to the objections raised by Sherborn, to the incorporation of Framingham, the following paper was presented to the General Court; which, as it contains details of interest, and illustrates the character and motives of the actors at that period, we give in extenso.

“To his Excellency, Richard, Earl of Bellemont, Capt. General and Governor in Chief of his Maj. Province of the Mass. Bay in N. England, &c., and the Honored Court now assembled in Boston.

“We underwritten, do humbly petition, that agreeable to our former petition to the Honored Court, (relating to a township), we may now be heard in a few things.

“1. Inasmuch as our former petition hath been so far considered by the Honored Court, as that the lower house have seen good to grant it, and your Honours have seen good to order us to procure a draft of the place we petition for, drawn by a sworn Surveyor, we have faithfully obeyed your orders herein.

“2. In which Plot we have not knowingly taken in the lines or bounds of any town, only according to our petition that if the Indians were permitted to make sale of any of their lands, that then we might have the refusal of those scrips of land that interfere upon us; agreeable hereunto, we have run the line across some small bits of Indian land, which otherwise would have made the line very crooked, which is now strait, which thing is plainly specified in the Plot, and the surveyor can inform your Honours therein; and if so be that any town shall charge us with running in upon their lines or bounds, we humbly desire that your Honours would cause them to produce the plot of their township, which will plainly evidence the contrary.

“3. Inasmuch as that for a long time we have lain under a heavy burden, as to our attendance on the Publick Worship of God, so that for the most part our going to meeting to other places on the Sabbath, is our hardest day's work in the week; and by reason of these difficulties that attend us therein, we are forced to leave many at home, especially our children, where to our grief, the Sabbath is too much profaned; and being desirous to sanctify the Sabbath as to the duty of rest required, as far as we can with conveniency; these motives moving us, we have unanimously built a Meeting House, and have a minister

* In addition to the above, we possess a careful survey of the N. part of the town, taken in 1750 by R. Hazzell, Esq., extending W. from the “New Bridge” on Sudbury river to the house of the late Col. Trowbridge, and from the Sudbury line S. nearly two miles at its largest width. In 1832, an excellent plan of the town was prepared on surveys by Col. Jonas Clayes and Warren Nixon, Esq., which was printed, and is now in general use.

among us, and we now humbly petition to your Honours, to countenance our present proceedings.

“We contain in the plot we have taken above 350 souls, whereof not above a quarter part, can constantly attend the worship of God in other places, by reason of the length and badness of the ways; and we could have taken others in our plot that are out of the bounds of any town, but we would not deprive others of that privilege we petition for. Those families specified in the plot, are not in the bounds of any town; and are, some four, some five, some six, some seven miles from any other meeting; and very few of them above two miles distant from the meeting house, which we have built among ourselves.

“4. And whereas some do say, Sherborn town cannot raise their minister’s salary without some of these families, which lie next to Sherborne town; we desire to inform your Honours that they never raised their minister’s salary by reason of us, and none of them can say but that they are abundantly more able now without us, than they were at first with us; and now their meeting house is built, and their minister settled among them, and they contain more than three score families.

“5. And whereas some of Sherborne do say, that their meeting house was placed to accommodate some of these families, we desire to inform the Honored Court, that Sherborne meeting house is placed considerably higher to the other side of their town bounds opposite from us, than to that side next to us: and it stands as high as can be thought in the center of those families which are in Sherborne town, without respecting us who are out of their town. We had no hand in settling of their town, and do humbly petition that we may not be so burthened to gratify their wills, when we are able to subsist by ourselves. We desire to inform the Honored Court, that we never had any voice in petitioning for Sherborne township; and to demonstrate further that Sherborne meeting house was not moved a mile and a half to accommodate any of us, as they say, their Pastor’s house was erected and his lot laid out, before their meeting house was erected, and their Pastor goes now half a mile to meeting towards the other side of the town, opposite from us; and if their meeting house had been a mile and a half further, he must have gone two miles, which is irrational to conclude, that he should go so far to meeting.

“6. When Sherborne was granted to be a township, the Honored Court obliged them to settle 20 new families among them; and we fear that the Honored Court takes us for some of those families. It was for their sakes, if any, that their minister is settled as he is, and their meeting house placed as it is.

“7. And as for what privilege we have received from Sherborne, we have paid at an excessive rate for it: seven years after the settlement of the town, we could have bought as much of the same land for half the money that we gave for the settlement of their town and their meeting house, and Pastor’s house: and as for what lands we have in Sherborne, we are contented that they should do duties in Sherborne.

“8. We petition neither for silver nor gold, nor any such worldly interest; but that we may have the worship of God upheld among us and our children; for this, we humbly repair to his Right Hon. Lordship and most Excellent Governor, under the shadow of whose wings we rejoice that we may rest for patronage and protection, and all of the Honored Court, now sitting, the Fathers of our Land; to whom we humbly petition to consider and do, for the enlargement of the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, for the good of our souls, and the souls of our children, that they may not be like the heathen; and be pleased to grant us to be either a town or Congregation.

"Finally, if any of Sherborne or any other town, shall pretend any thing to the Honored Court, which may lead to the hindrance of a grant of our petition, (by reason of those many false informations that have been carried into your Honored Court to deceive), we humbly petition that we may have admittance to speak for ourselves.

"JOSEPH BUCKMASTER,

"PETER CLOICE,

"JOHN EAMS,

"JOHN HOW,

"ISAAC LEARNED,

"THOMAS DRURY,

"In behalf, and by the consent of the rest."

The above petition was probably presented the following year, and on the 5th of June, 1700, a hearing was granted to the inhabitants of Framingham, notice having been served upon Sherborne. The following act of the Court soon followed:

"At a Great and General Court or Assembly, for his Majesty's Prov. of the Mass. Bay in N. England, begun and held at Boston, upon Wednesday, the 29th of May, 1700,* in the 12th year of his Majesty's Reign, being convened by his Majesty's writts:

"Upon a full hearing of the matters in difference between the town of Sherborne and the inhabitants of the Plantation of Framingham, containing all that tract of land formerly granted to Tho. Danforth, Esq., next adjoining to Sherborne upon the north and northerly:

"Ordered, That the said plantation called Framingham be from henceforth a township, retaining the name of Framingham, and have and enjoy all privileges of a town according to law, saving unto Sherborne all their rights of land granted by the General Court to the first inhabitants, and those since purchased by exchange with the Indians of Natick, or otherwise, and all the farms lying within the said township, according to former grants of the General Court.

"ISAAC ADDINGTON, Secretary."

July 4, 1700. A petition was sent to the General Court, signed by Thomas Drury, David Rice, Thomas Walker, John Prat and John How, in behalf of the rest (several others of Farmes adjacent to Sudbury), praying to be annexed to Framingham, as signing that "the said town of Sudbury have for above a year denied your Petitioners the liberty of voting and other town privileges, utterly disclaiming them as not belonging to the said town, though your Petitioners have contributed to the building the Meeting-house and maintenance of the minister, and have paid several town rates and done many town duties." Whereupon, on the following day (July 5) it was "ordered, that the Petitioners and other the farmes lying betwixt the Northerly end of Cochitawick Pond and the line of Framingham, be laid and annexed to the town of Framingham; and enjoy all immunities and privileges with other the inhabitants in said town, and that they and their estates be liable to bear a proportion of charge in the said town."

July 11, 1700. The "petition of Joseph Buckmaster and John Towne, in behalf of the inhabitants of Framingham," was presented to the Court, asking whether the purchased as well as granted lands of Thomas Danforth, were not meant and comprehended in the order establishing the Township. The General Court accordingly passed the following, viz :

"RESOLVED, That all the lands belonging to Tho. Danforth, Esq., as well by purchase as Court grant, at the time of settling the town of Sherborne, in May, 1679, and excepted in the Court's confirmation of the township of Sherborne, be and belong unto Framingham; and that the inhabitants of the said town do convene and assemble at their meeting house, on the first Tuesday in August next, and then and there make choice of Selectmen and other town officers, to serve until March next, at which time the law appoints the choice of town officers."

It may be proper to add in this place, that the following year, June 5, 1701, the Selectmen of Framingham having asked to have the line run between Sudbury and Framingham, the General Court "ORDERED, That the line between Sudbury and the farmes annexed to Framingham, as set forth in the Platt, exhibited under the hand of John Gore, bearing date, March 8, 1700-1, be and continue the boundary line between the said farmes and Sudbury forever, viz : from the northerly end of Cochittwat pond to the bent of the river by Daniel Stone's, and so as the line goes to Framingham and Sudbury line."

By the above proceedings the long deferred hopes of the Plantation were at length consummated; though questions of boundary were yet to be adjusted—the indefiniteness of the terms of the town grant, leaving unsettled the conflicting claims of the new town and Sherborne.

THE TOWN OF FRAMINGHAM.

FROM ITS INCORPORATION IN 1700.

THE TOWN.

1700, AUGUST 5. The first Town Meeting was held, at which the following officers were chosen: Joseph Buckminster, David Rice, Thomas Drury, Jeremiah Picke, Peter Clayse, Sen., John Towne and Daniel Ston, SELECTMEN; Thomas Drury, TOWN CLERK; Simon Millen and Thomas Frost, CONSTABLES; John How and Benjamin Bridges, ASSESSORS; Thomas Walker, TOWN TREASURER; Abial Lamb, Sen., COMMISSIONER; John Prat, John Haven, Peter Clayse, Jr. and Samuel Winch, SURVEYORS OF HIGHWAYS.*

* The following year were chosen also four Tythingmen, four Fence Viewers, four Swine Drivers and one Grand Juryman. Other officers were subsequently added, as Clerk of the Market, Deer Rieves, (beginning about 1739 and ending about 1795), Sealer of Leather, Surveyor of Hemp and Flax, &c. In 1740 was chosen a weigher of bread, and in 1764 a Surveyor of Wheat and Flour. The Selectmen were chosen "to order the provisionals of the town." Two constables were at first chosen for the E. and W. sides of the river. To this office was committed the collection of rates, which was attended with vexatious delays, sometimes to the serious injury of the incumbent. whose property might be distrained in the event of delinquency in his collections. In 1740, the penalty for refusing the office was £5, and was sometimes paid. In 1703, oaths were administered indiscriminately to all town officers, from the Selectman to the Hog Constable. Town meetings were generally warned by posting notifications; on extraordinary occasions, by notice "from house to house." They were commonly held in the meeting house; on one occasion, July 23, 1729, the inhabitants adjourned to the "house of Mr. Moquet," a noted publican. The town were in early times convened to give

1700, Aug. 21. Voted in Town Meeting, that Mr. Joseph Buckminster, Isaac Larned and John Heaven should be the men to go and discourse with a lawyer about our aggrieved neighbours.*

Sept. 16, 1702. Manual labor was valued (in a rate) at 2s. per day, and oxen work at 18d. per day, and a breaking-up plow at 18d. per day.

Oct. 28, 1703. A rate being made in part payable in "corn at market price," corn was reckoned at 2s. per bushel, and rye at 3s.

April 5, 1704. John Eames, Sen. brought a wolf's head to in their "invoice," and the Selectmen generally acted as Assessors, one of their number performing the service.

It may be worthy of note to add, that on the Sudbury Records, the "Selectmen" were first so called an. 1650; previously to that time, the designation used was, "to dispose of town affairs." They were in some towns called "Overseers" at a later date. On the same Records, the title of "Town Clerk" first appears about 1661; that officer having been before chosen without title, "to attend and write town orders, to make town rates, &c." The deputy to the General Court was first called "Representative," on the Framingham Records, an. 1703.

* This vote had relation to difficulties with Sherborne, originating in the order of the General Court, an. 1679, annexing certain farms contiguous to the bounds of Sherborne, to that town. In conformity with that order, seven families within the present limits of Framingham, became incorporated with that town. Whether this arrangement was intended to be permanent or otherwise, the bounds of Sherborne appear not to have been defined; and as new settlers came upon the lands of the individuals annexed, and formed no connexion with Sherburne, the territorial rights of the latter became involved and uncertain. At the incorporation of Framingham, 17 families living on what was termed "Sherborne Row," some holding leases from Mr. Danforth, were embraced in the "disputed territory." As the rights of Sherborne were reserved in the grant of this township, the question of jurisdiction naturally arose. The nonpayment of rates to Sherborne, led to civil actions, in which this town were disposed to aid their "wronged neighbors." In 1701, Mr. Stephen Francis of Medford, Mr. Josiah Converse of Woburn, and Lt. John Ware of Wrentham, were appointed by the Court to go upon the place and settle the line. Their action was satisfactory to Framingham, but failed of a peaceful adjustment of the matter in dispute. The question remained open from year to year, causing much confusion and uneasiness, until the winter of 1708-9; when the affair was amicably adjusted by the annexation of the 17 families to Framingham, and a grant to Sherborne of 4,000 acres of land W. of Mendon, as an equivalent for their loss.

"June 16, 1709. It appearing by the return of the Representatives of Sherborne and Framingham, and the votes of the said towns, that the late orders of the General Assembly for their settlement are agreeable to them: Ordered, therefore, that the line between the towns be forthwith run; and that the 17 families late in controversy be included within Framingham line, and be accounted part of that town for ever; and that Sherborne have the 4,000 acres confirmed to them, upon their offering the platt, as is directed by the former order of this Court." Col. Rec.

Thomas Drury, a Selectman, and John Prat, Constable, to be dealt with as the law directs.

May 14, 1716. Voted that Caleb Bridges should have 1s. for mending the stocks, and Lt. Drury 1s. for a plank to do the same.

Dec. 2, 1717. Voted that Ensign Benjamin Bridges be joined with the Selectmen or some one of them to undertake in the matter of defence of our town respecting Margarite Sergeant, alias Margarite Allin, whom the town of Weston are endeavoring to impose upon our town of Framingham.*

Oct. 3, 1721. At a meeting of the inhabitants "to choose suitable persons to receive out of the Province Treasury the town's quota of bills" of credit, voted that the town will take the sum of money allotted to them by the General Court for the use of the town.

Voted that Col. Buckminster, Lieut. Isaac Clark and Lieut. Drury be the men to receive this money for the town out of the Treasury.

Oct. 10th. Ens. John Death, Nath'l Eamms, Thomas Pratt, Thomas Gleason and Isaac Gleason, entered their dissent against the town's receiving the said bills.†

Feb. 9, 1730-1. A formulary of a petition relating to Cam-

* This case involved the two towns in a long and expensive litigation. The result appears to have been favorable to Framingham. "Feb. 16, 1718-9; The Selectmen do agree, that John Gleason or Thomas Drury shall go to the clerk of the Superior Court for an execution, whereby Margratt Allen, commonly called Pegge, may be removed from the town of Framingham to the town of Weston, where she properly belongs." The laws regulating habitaney at this period caused much inconvenience in towns, to the poor and the stranger within their gates. Instances often occur on the Records of this town, as of others, wherein individuals and families were in due form "warned out of town," and some of forcible removal, lest they should become a public charge.

† The following Nov., the town voted to let out the bills upon good personal security, not under six per cent., and in sums not exceeding £10, nor less than £5. July 16, 1728. Edward Goddard, Thos. Stone and Peter Clayes were chosen Trustees, to receive and let out the town's share of a further emission by the General Court of £60,000. The amount of the first mentioned emission was £50,000. By reason of the war expenses of the colony, and the depreciation of former bills of credit, money had become scarce. A controversy arose between the friends of a public and private bank, which resulted in favor of the former. The bills were to be loaned at 5 per cent. to the towns, and 1-5 part of the principal was to be paid annually. The evils of an irredeemable paper currency followed to such a degree, that an act of Parliament was passed for restraining the colonies in this particular. Hutch. II. 208; Holmes' Annals, sub an. 1748.

bridge great bridge over Charles river, was read to the town in the meeting, and voted in the affirmative, as being the town's mind that it would be of public benefit that the said bridge be cashiered.

Aug. 9, 1733. At a town meeting in part "to consider the petition for a new county now lodged in the General Court, the town of Framingham being one of the towns named therein, to join with several other towns of Suffolk and Middlesex in said new county," the town "voted not to join with the petitioners, but four persons appearing in the affirmative."

Nov. 26, 1739. Voted that Mr. Henry Emmes and Capt. Thomas Buckminster be a committee to take care for the preservation of the deer.

1740. About this time the Selectmen sent in a remonstrance against a petition before the General Court, from certain inhabitants of Framingham, "together with divers others belonging to Marlborough, Sudbury and Stow," praying to be made a township, with a tract four miles square.*

Jan. 8, 1741-2. The inhabitants of Framingham obtained a grant of a tract of land "of the contents of six miles square, lying N. of the Indian Town, so called, on Housatonic river, or as near there as the land will allow."† * State Files.

† Various ineffectual attempts had been previously made by the inhabitants in their corporate capacity, to obtain grants of land from the General Court. They were probably induced to take this step, by the fact, that their township had been granted to an individual, and not, as in other towns, to the company of settlers. The earliest movement was made Feb. 26, 1701-2, soon after the town's incorporation, to obtain permission for the purchase of about 1000 acres W. of Cochituate pond, from the Natick Indians; some of the meadows therein having been "let out to sundry of our inhabitants (by the Indians of Natick), about 25 years." (State Files.) The House granted the prayer, but it was negatived by the Council. A similar petition was presented June, 1713. The Court ordered that Capt. Daniel Fisher, Capt. Joseph

Morse and Mr. Thomas Sawin, be a committee to go upon the place &c. and report. The petitioners failed in their prayer. June 24, 1714, Framingham "petitioned for a tract bounded by Marlborough, Sutton, Mendon and Framingham;" and a com. was ordered upon the same, but without success. (Col. Rec. ix. 405.) At the same time Col. Joseph Buckminster obtained from the Court confirmation of "300 acres of land," "lying between the towns of Framingham and Mendon, upon a grant made to Mr. Thomas Mayhew, an. 1643, and purchased by the petitioner" from his heirs. Nov. 21, 1715, Maj. J. Buckminster secured a grant of 2,000 acres, which he offered to the town, in case the grant could be obtained for them; in which event he would "move his grant to another place." The land probably lay "adjoining to Meganka." It does not

"Jan. 8, 1741. On the petition of the inhabitants of the town of Framingham, read and ordered, that the petition be received, and the prayer thereof granted; and that the petitioners be allowed and empowered, by a Surveyor and Chainmen on oath, to survey and lay out a township of the contents of six miles square, adjoining on the N., on the Indian town, so called, lying on Housatonnock river, or as near that place as the land will allow, not interfering on any former grants; and that they return a plat thereof to this Court within 12 months for confirmation; and for the more effectual bringing forward the settlement of the said new town, ORDERED, that there be 79 equal shares, the home lots to be laid out in a suitable and defensible manner, one of said shares to be for the first settled minister, and one for the school; that there be 60 families settled on 60 of the other shares or house lots, in three years from the confirmation of the plan; who shall each have an house built thereon of 18 feet square, at the least, and seven feet stud, and six acres of land, part thereof ploughed or brought to English grass, and fenced, and build and finish a convenient meeting house for the publick worship of God, and settle a learned orthodox minister; that said 60 settlers give bond to the Treasurer of this Province, in the sum of £25, for complying with the terms of the grant. And if any of said settlers fail of performing the conditions of settlement aforesaid, then his or their right, share or interest in said town to revert to and be at the disposition of the Province; and the Province Treasurer shall immediately sue out their bonds.

"Nov. 19, 1742, a plan was reported and accepted, and the lands were confirmed to Caleb Bridges and others."† appear that their petition prevailed. Aug. 15, 1721, the town's Representative was instructed to present a petition, "when he sees fit," for a grant of country land for the town. The town desired a grant within the limits of Hopkinton. The trustees of the Hopkins fund having secured that tract, a committee was appointed to solicit the influence of the trustees in favor of a grant for the town elsewhere. Nov. 18, 1729, the town renewed their petition, and a tract was surveyed the following year, the location not indicated. These successive applications resulted in no advantage to the inhabitants at large.

* See Col. Rec. sub an.

† The names of all the grantees of this tract do not appear. Hezekiah Rice owned lots Nos. 11 and 12. Matthias Bent sold his share to John Nurse, in 1743. Peter Gallop was a proprietor, as were also James Boutwell, Samuel Jackson, and Caleb Bridges. John Butler was "one of the ten, who, by vote of the Society, were admitted with them, a proprietor or grantee &c." At a meeting of the proprietors, Oct. 19, 1742, it was voted to call the town Richfield, until the legislature should give it a name. It was afterwards called New Framingham; and later, by its present name of Lanesborough. The settlement was commenced about 1754 or 1755 by Capt. Sam'l Martin, a Mr. Brewer, and Mr. Steales, who were driven away by a party of Indians, in the second French war. Capt. Martin was the only one who returned. Among the earliest settlers after those above named, were Nathl. Williams, Samuel Tyrrell; John, Ephraim, Elijah and Miles Powell, 1743. A bounty was and had been previously paid for taking birds and squirrels.*

April 18, 1749. A notification, signed by Joseph Richardson, appeared in the Boston Gazette, addressed to all who "usually met at the house of Mr. Francis Moquet, in Framingham, on the affair of a petition on the Canada Expedition in the year 1690," warning them of a further meeting, at Sudbury, in June.†

Sept. 23, 1754. After a large debate by the town on that part of an Excise Bill which relates to the private consumption of wines and spirits distilled, a full vote passed that they apprehend it to be reasonable and for the interest of the Province, that the charges of the government should be defrayed in part by an excise on wine and spirits distilled; and that this excise ought to be so extended as that all persons (save those who are exempted in said bill), should be obliged to pay excise for the wine and distilled spirits which they consume.

May 23, 1757. Voted that a number of the inhabitants be (brothers); Lt. Andrew Squier, Jas. Loomis and Ambrose Hall; these settled as early as 1759. William Bradley, James Goodrich, Thaddeus Curtis, Ebenezer Squier, Benjamin and Joseph Farnum, came in soon after. The only name indicating a possible origin from Framingham, is Brewer. Some of the names suggest a conjectural origin from Marlborough or Sudbury. The greater part of the settlers were from Connecticut. The town was incorporated June 20, 1765, and then included a large part of the present town of Cheshire. In March 1764, a church consisting of eight members was organized, over which was ordained, Ap. 17, 1764, the Rev. Daniel Collins, Yale Coll. 1760, who continued his ministry until his death. He d. Aug. 26, 1822, in the 84th year of his age. Besides the Congregational church, there is now a Baptist, and an Episcopal church. The last is at present the largest. It is well endowed with a fund of about $6000, a Glebe and a Parsonage house. The Rev. Samuel B. Shaw, B. Un. 1819, has been Rector of this church near 16 years. To his friendly attentions the author is indebted for much of the information here given. The town of Lanesborough possesses valuable resources in its beds of iron ore and extensive quarries of excellent marble. Its population in 1840, was 1,090.

* The policy of sanctioning by public rewards, the destruction of these animals, was very early introduced into our towns, and has been continued until quite recently. In March 1798, the bounty for killing crows in April, May, or June, was 25 cts. for old and 12 1-2 cts. for young crows. In April it was reduced to three cents on crows, and a half cent on redwing black birds. The year following, the town voted "that each man kill his own black birds, and pay himself." In 1804, one cent each was paid for chirping squirrels, and the bounty on crows was continued for several years subsequent.

† The meeting above referred to, was probably held for the recovery of an indemnity for services rendered in that expedition. It may be worthy of notice, to add, that about the year 1752, several of the inhabitants of Framingham were among the proprietors of land in Kennebec No. 4. Whether the land was acquired by grant or by purchase, does not appear.

taken from the N. Constable's ward and added to the S.W. Constable's ward, viz: Timothy Stearns, Thomas Temple's old place, Widow Willson, Upham's place, Mr. Brown, John Permenter, Amos Permenter and his sons, John Darling, Amos Darling, Barret and Robinson.

May 23, 1757. Voted that the Widow Gleason's effects that she left when she died, be divided among those neighbours that have been kind to her, in contributing for her support.

1760. Voted that Capt. Isaac Clark shall not be rated this year.

Dec. 29, 1760. Capt. Josiah Stone gave Maj. John Farrar, Town Treasurer, a note of hand of £6.4s., on demand, for the town's use; and also Mr. Benoni Pratt a note for £1.18.7, for said town's use.

March 6, 1769. Voted that the Town Clerk, for the future, shall enter in the town book all the persons that shall come to dwell in this town; viz., their names, last place of settlement, or, if not known, the last place of abode, and the time when they came into town.

1771. The vote was tried whether the town did approve of the practice of shooting fowls, and it passed in the negative.

1772. Voted that Jesse Eames, Collector, be hereby directed not to distrain those persons that occupy College land, for their Province tax raised on those lands, till further orders from the town.

June 22, 1778. Committees of the towns of Framingham and Westborough met, "to complete an amicable settlement of the lines" between said towns.

1794. The price of wood for the minister was estimated at 9s. per cord.

1796. A town law was passed, "forbidding cattle to go at large from April 1 to Nov. 15; the owner to forfeit for each day's offence, 25 cents per head."

1799. A dog tax was imposed, but was afterwards refunded.

Nov. 7, 1814. Voted that the laws made for the due observation of the Lord's day, be carried into effect.

1825. The Selectmen were authorized, at discretion, to place durable bounds on the lines between Framingham and the adjoining towns.

1830. The town granted $75 "to pay for a survey of the town, and procuring a map of the same."

The town chose a committee "to secure a location of the Insane Hospital here," and authorized them to offer $500 for a site.

1831. The town granted $25 for ringing one of the church bells at 12 M. and 9 P.M.

The town voted upon a proposed amendment of the constitution relating to the commencement of the political year—yeas 10, nays 33.

1833. Voted to build a town hall. The committee appointed to report upon the subject, proposed the erection of a house 40 feet by 68, with a colonnade at the E. and W. ends, at an estimated cost of $4,200.

1834. Voted, that in the opinion of the inhabitants of the town, the public convenience does not require that any license be given for the sale of ardent spirits.

BRIDGES.

May 22, 1701. Voted, that the inhabitants will make a foot bridge upon the E. side of the river, from the great bridge that leads out to the meeting house, as far as is convenient and needful to be made.

May 12, 1712. Voted, that there be a cart bridge over Sudbury river, where the way is laid out from Simon Mellen's unto our public meeting house, near the now dwelling house of Ebenezer Singletary.

May 18, 1713. Voted, that there be a foot bridge built from the cart bridge already built over Sudbury river, by our public meeting house, over the intervale or lowland unto the upland.

March 17, 1718. Voted a grant to John How, for answering the town's presentment for our great bridge, by the meeting house.

1723. Voted, that the old bridge by Mr. Simpson's be repaired.

1729. A bridge was built between Hopkinton and Framingham.

Dec. 24, 1735. The small bridges and causeways on the W. side of the land of John Drury, were laid out as a part of the public highway; the sluice next to said Drury's dwelling house to be kept open and in good repair by him.

May 21, 1739. Ezekiel Rice received a grant of £3.2.6, for timber for the great bridge.

March 1, 1741-2. Granted £40 old tenor, to build a bridge where the old bridge is, near where the old meeting house stood.

March 7, 1742-3. Put to vote, whether the town will grant money to build the bridge called Collier's Bridge, and the bridge called Singletary's Bridge, both anew; and it passed in the negative.

Oct. 12, 1747. Voted to repair the causeway belonging to the bridge by Dea. Daniel Stone's, and that said causeway be 15 feet wide; also voted. that the causeway on the N. side of said bridge be raised level with the top of said bridge, as it now stands.

March, 1794. Voted to have a row of posts erected from the bridge the upper side of the causeway, to Mr. Eli Bullard's bark house; and a foot bridge made convenient to pass with a hand pole.

POUNDS.

March 2, 1702. Voted, that there shall be a pound set up upon the W. side of the river, by the bridge.

Oct. 28, 1703. Voted, that there shall be a pound set up upon the land of John Town, joining to Mr. Swift's land, by the road.

April 10, 1719. Voted, that the town's pound be removed and set up upon Col. Buckminster's land, adjoining or near to Benj. Tredway's land, by a certain pond hole.

June 15, 1719. The above location having been found inconvenient, ordered that the pound be set between the two highways, one leading from the plain, the other from Singleterry's bridge to the meeting house, so as to join Mr. Swift's land; and to be set up near the top of the hill.

May 8, 1733. Mr. Maynard made offer of land for a town pound, by the oak tree upon the hill near his dwelling; which was accepted by the town.

1741. Granted £ 7.11 to Henry Eames for building the pound in said town.

1755. A grant was voted to Lt. Hezekiah Rice for building a pound.

1781. Voted to build a new pound and set it where the old one stood.

* The annual appropriations since 1798, have been generally $800, to the present time. The only years before 1835, when they exceeded that sum, were in 1818 and 1819—having been, the former year $1200, and the latter $1000. The roads in this town are kept in good repair at so moderate a charge. The allowance to such as worked out their highway tax, was in 1737, 5s. per diem for a man, and the same for a cart and four oxen, or two oxen and a horse. In 1754, the allowance was 4d. per hour.

FISHERIES.

The river and ponds in Framingham have, from the earliest times, afforded an abundant supply of fish, until the obstructions of the former, by dams, impeded the communication with the sea.

In 1743, Josiah Drury and David Gregory were appointed by the town to take care of the fish.

March 1, 1762. "Voted, that Messrs. James Claves, Isaac Fisk and Joshua Harrington be a committee to view the Stones' mill dams in said town, and consider of the necessity and convenience of opening a passage way through said dams, to let the fish called alewives pass up into the pond called Farm pond, to cast their spawn." The subject was dismissed the May following.

March 7, 1763. Pursuant to an act, &c. to prevent the destruction of the fish called alewives, and other fish, "Mr. Wm. Brown and Mr. Bezaleel Rice were chosen to see that the passage ways mentioned in said act (within our bounds) are open, &c.; and also to appoint the proper place or places for the taking such fish with scoop nets or otherwise, and to limit the particular times and days for the taking the same." Committees were in like manner chosen in succeeding years.

March 8, 1792. An act was passed by the General Court, "to enable the town of Framingham to regulate and order the taking of shad and alewives within the limits of said town;" and a farther act was passed June 15, 1821, regulating the pond fishery.

April 2, 1792. The town voted that the fish called alewives and shad, be taken only one day in the week, that to be on Tuesday; and to be taken only at one place, and that to be within 15 rods of Dea. Wm. Brown's fulling-mill dam.

Voted, to choose a committee to let out the catching the alewives to the highest bidder; whoever purchases the privilege is to sell them for no more than 4d per score.*

* The proceeds of the fisheries were given for some years to the singers, and hence were called the "singers' fish privilege." The only fish now taken in the town are pond fish, which are found in considerable abundance, though the regulations established by law are but little regarded. The fine fishing afforded by the ponds, formerly attracted numerous visitors from Boston. Trout, which were once abundant in the small streams, have nearly disappeared.

COLORED INHABITANTS.

We possess a few data relating to this class of the inhabitants of the town, who, during the first century succeeding its incorporation, until the adoption of the Constitution, were generally held as slaves. Slavery, however, in New England, existed in its most mitigated form, and to a very limited extent. In 1708, the number of slaves was computed at 400 in Boston, and 150 in the rest of the State. In 1754 and 5, a census of negro slaves gave the entire number in the State at 2,717; none, however, were reported from Framingham. Yet before 1743, five slaves, (three males and two females), were owned by the Rev. Mr. Swift; and there is reason to believe that there were then others in various families of the town. In the valuation of 1760, (several of Mr. Swift's slaves having left the town), the number of "servants for life" reported, was seven. In 1764-5, the number of "negroes" in Framingham is given at 25, the entire colored population of the State being 5,312. The number of persons of color in this town has gradually diminished. The census of 1840, returns but seven.*

---

* The names of Mr. Swift's slaves, disposed of in his will dated Sep. 1743, were a negro man Francis, a legacy to his son, the Rev. John Swift of Acton; Guy, a negro man, to his son-in-law, the Rev. Philips Payson of Walpole; Nero, to his son-in-law Eben'r Robie. He also left two women, Dido and Esther, for the service of his wife until her decease; after which, they were to be the property of his daughter Martha, the wife of Maj. John Farrar.

NERO, (his entire name being Nero Benson), had married Dido (Dingo) in 1721, and served as trumpeter in Capt. Isaac Clark's troop in 1725. His religious scruples appear to have been respected by his master, the Hopkinton church record informing us, that Sep. 20, 1737, "Nero, servant to Rev. Mr. Swift, applied for admission to the church." This occurred at a period of much contention in the church of Framingham, which will be explained in that branch of our history. Tradition preserves a favorable account of Nero's character. He had several children. A son William was owned at one time by Joseph Collens, of Southborough. Esther, above named, was probably daughter of Nero and afterwards lived in a Haven family. His descendants are yet living in this town. Of other individuals of this class, we are induced to give the following memoranda.

Jane, colored servant to Col Buckminster, was bap. in 1722. Primus, servant to Aaron Pike, was bap. in 1744. Mereah, servant to the widow Frost, in 1746; Jenny, servant to Lt. Winch, and Vilet, servant to Jonathan Rugg, in 1746; Flora, servant to Dea. Balch, in 1747, and named in his will 1755; Flora, Brill and Titus, servants to Mrs. Winchester, in 1748; Hannover, servant to Nat. Belknap, in 1755; Phebe, servant to Simon Edgel, in 1767. In 1716, John Stone held as a slave, Jone, wife of John Jackson, of N. London, Conn., who commenced a process to recover her freedom. Oct 9, 1733, Thomas Frost

CASUALTIES AND REMARKABLE EVENTS.

1717. About this time, a Gleason house was destroyed by fire, near the site of Mr. Charles Clark's present house.

1717. The great snow of this season is referred to in a Journal kept by the Rev. Mr. Swift, as follows, viz.: "Feb. 24. We had no meeting by reason of a very deep snow, that fell on the bought of Jona. Smith of Sud., for £60 current money, a negro man named Gloster, æ. about 30 years. Dill, a negro woman in the service of Dea. Daniel Stone, died Dec. 13, 1767. Plato Lambert, probably a negro, born in 1737, was taken when an infant, by Mrs. Martha Nichols of Framingham.

KATA HUNKER, as he is commonly called, was probably the same person rated as Cato Hart in 1786. He was slave to Joseph Haven, Esq., and was born in his house (now occupied by Mr. Francis Cooledge). A grandson by the name of Primus, was lately an inmate of the Poor House.

BRIN, (otherwise called Blaney Grushy), is said to have been a slave of Col. Micah Stone. He was at the battle of Bunker Hill, and served on other occasions during the war. He died Feb. 1820.

PETER SALEM — alias Salem Middlesex — was originally the slave of Capt. Jeremiah Belknap, and was sold by him to Maj. Lawson Buckminster. He married in 1783, Katy Benson, a grand daughter of Nero, and lived for a time, where is now a cellar hole on the farm of the late Mr. Richard Fiske, near the pond. He served in the war of the Revolution as waiter to Col. Thomas Nixon, of Framingham; and at the opening of the war was present at the battle of Bunker Hill. Emory Washburn Esq., in his interesting Hist. of Leicester (Worc. Magazine II, 113), says of him — "There was residing here, till within a few years, a black man, who, we have good reason to believe, was the one who shot Maj. Pitcairn, whose death forms so affecting an incident in that bloody affray. History relates that he was shot by a negro; and from the story of the one we allude to and many corroborating circumstances, we are led to conclude that he was the person who did the deed. The person to whom we refer was named Peter Salem. * * *

* * * * * Maj. Pitcairn was shot as he was mounting the redoubt, and fell into the arms of his son. His loss was a severe one to the British, and added not a little to their regret at the events of that day." Peter died in Fram., Aug. 16, 1816.

But the most noted individual of the class under consideration, was PRINCE, sometimes called Prince Young, but whose name is recorded as Prince Yongey, and Prince Jonar, by which last name he is noticed in the Town Rec. in 1767. He was brought from Africa when a young man of about 25 years, having been a person of consideration in his native land, from whence, probably, he derived his name. He was first owned by Col. Joseph Buckminster, and afterwards by his son, the late Dea. Thomas. He married, (by name Prince Yongey) in 1737, Nanny Peterattucks, of Framingham, (the name indicating Indian extraction) by whom he had several children, among them a son, who died young, and a daughter Phebe, who never married. Prince was a faithful servant, and by his general honesty, temperance and prudence, so gained the confidence of his first master, Col. Buckminster, that for about a quarter of a century, he was left with the management of a large farm, during his master's absence at the General Court. He occupied a cabin near the Turnpike, and cultivated, for his own use, a piece of meadow, which has since been known as Prince's meadow.

Thursday before, and a great storm on that Sabbath." Contemporary accounts represent the depth of the snow, as about six feet. "March 10. The Lord's supper adjourned till the next Sabbath, by reason of the restraint of the season by deep snow."* The annual Town meeting, which was to have been held March 4. "provided the town can come roundly together, and are not hindered by reason of the extremity of the season," was not held until the 18th of the same month.

1719, April 12. "A contribution recommended for Mr. John Dunton, who had been burnt out a little before."†

1720, Feb. 21. Under this date, Mr. Swift notices a great deluge, (Diluvium magnum), but with no particulars.

1724, Oct. 18th. "Contribution for David Prat, my neighbour, who was burnt out, £24.14.6."‡

1727, Oct. 29. Mr. Swift enters the following notice of the great earthquake. "Nocte subsequente fuit terræ motus valde terribilis, circiter horas 10m. and 11m."

1736. "Voted that 30s. be paid or abated to Moses Haven. late constable, in consideration that the like sum is said to have been burnt of the town's money, when his house was burnt."§

1736, Aug. A very fatal disease prevailed in this and neighbouring towns, of which many died.

1747, April 29th. "The wife of Mr. David Harrington of Framingham, returning from market at Boston, while crossing a river in that town, fell from her horse and was drowned."

1749, Oct. The house of Robert Sever was destroyed by fire.||

He chose the spot as resembling the soil of his native country. During the latter part of his life he was offered his freedom, which he had the sagacity to decline; pithily saying, "massa eat the meat; he now pick the bone." Prince shunned the society of persons of his own color, and though accustomed to appear in public armed with a tomahawk, was a great favorite with the young, whom, under all provocations, he was never known but in one instance to strike. He had been sufficiently instructed to read, and possessed the religious turn characteristic of the African race. In his last sickness, he remarked with much simplicity, that he was "not afraid to be dead, but to die." He passed an extreme old age in the family of Dea. Thos. Buckminster, and died Dec. 21, 1797, at the age of 99 years and some months. Numerous anecdotes are yet related, illustrating the simplicity, intelligence, and humor of "Old Prince."

1754. The first four months of this year are made memorable by the occurrence of a fatal distemper, known as the "great sickness."*

1755, Nov. 18. A terrible earthquake took place "a little after four o'clock, in a serene and pleasant night, and continued near four and a half minutes; the shock was the most violent ever known in the country."† Tradition has preserved among us the memory of this event, and the consternation it produced. Its effects were less destructive here than in some other towns.‡

He added that he and two sons were at the taking of Louisburg, "and one of them is there still." The Court ordered him to be paid £3.15. State Files.

* The mortality was greatest in Holliston, where 53 deaths occurred — according to a petition in the State Files, "one eighth part of the entire population, some families having been quite broken up." The number of deaths in Sherburne was between 20 and 30. Of the precise number of deaths in this town, we have no authentic return; not more than seven being recorded on the town books. The Goddard family appear to have been the chief sufferers. The Rev. David Goddard, (minister of Leicester), deceased here Jan. 19th; his mother, Feb. 4; and his father, the Hon. Edward Goddard, Feb. 9th. Others of the family were sick, but recovered. Mr. Joshua Hemenway was also a victim to the malady. The reader will find a particular account of the symptoms, &c. of this distemper, in the Rev. Mr. Fitch's Century Sermon, delivered at Holliston Dec. 4, 1826, and printed.

1777, June 3. Mr. Abraham Rice and Mr. John Clayes, were killed by lightning, during a very short thunder squall.*

1785, April 12. The Hon. Josiah Stone, aged 60 years, was suddenly killed by falling from the carriage of his mill. He had been long held in honorable esteem by his townsmen, and had filled many offices in the civil and military service of the Commonwealth.

1786, Nov. 5. Jesse Eaton died suddenly in the meeting house, while in the act of singing.

1787, Aug. 15. About 3 o'clock, P. M., a hurricane passed through the N. part of the town, doing considerable damage.†

* The following particulars were taken by the author from Mr. Josiah Clayes, now living, who was son of one of the victims, and a spectator of the scene. Mr. Laban Wheaton was at the time preaching in the first Parish, and had employed Mr. John Clayes, (who lived in a house a few rods E. of the one now occupied by his son Josiah), to try a horse he had proposed to buy. On the day above mentioned, a little after noon, the neighbors assembled at Mr. Clayes' house to see the animal, viz. Peter Parker, Abraham Rice, Simon Pratt and his son Ephraim. Old Mr. Parker had rode away upon the horse at some distance, when a cloud began to rise in the N.W. On Mr. Parker's return, the company, who during his absence had retired to the house, went out to see him ride, at which time a few drops of rain were falling. As Mr. Parker rode up, Mr. John Clayes stepped out of the gate, leaving the others leaning against the fence within; and as he took the horse by the reins, the lightning struck every individual of the company to the ground. Mr. Rice and Mr. Clayes, with the horse, were instantly killed. Mr. Parker lay as if dead, but gradually recovered his consciousness, though a long time elapsed before he was fully restored to his usual health. The boy recovered quickly. Mr. Pratt suffered much, and for a long time after the event. Josiah Clayes, then a boy, went for Dr. Stone, who was absent at Natick; but before his return, Mr. Fiske, a neighbor, had procured Dr. Hemenway, who gave what relief he could to the sufferers. The horse was struck in the head, and the lightning descended each side of the neck and both fore legs to the shoes, singeing the hair in its course. Mr. Clayes was struck in the head, and the fluid passed along the neck — leaving a blister in the breast — down both legs, which showed traces of its course, but left his shoes uninjured. Having hold of the horse's bridle, the animal fell upon him. All were singed in body and dress, having on, at the time, woollen clothes. The boy was a little distant from the company. The shower was very brief, and Mr. Clayes thinks there was but a single clap of thunder. This event excited great interest at the time, and a long elegy was written by Miss Lydia Learned, (who to the gift of teaching added a devotion to the poetic Muse), and was afterwards printed. The reader will probably be satisfied with the following stanzas, which were inscribed upon the grave-stone of the victims of the disaster.

" My trembling heart with grief o'erflows, While I record the death of those Who died by Thunder sent from Heaven.
In 17 hundred seventy seven.

Let's all prepare for Judgment Day,
As we may be called out of Time,
And in a sudden, awful way,
Whilst in our youth and in our prime."

family, leaving the lower floor; two children, lying upon a bed asleep, were found uninjured. A Mrs. Saunders, living with the Shattucks, was carried by the violence of the wind to a considerable distance, and was seriously injured. Mrs. Shattuck was blown about ten rods. A feather bed was found three miles distant from the house, and in it were recovered thirty dollars in specie, which had previously been placed there for safe-keeping. The hurricane made an even path, several rods in width, through the woods—passed in the direction of the Nixons and Edmunds to the Frost house, where it seemed to ascend into the atmosphere, and soon afterwards re-appeared at Weston, where further damage was experienced.

* A few years earlier the disease probably existed here; as in February, 1777, a proposition was made to build a small pox hospital, but was negatived by the town; and instances of death from the disease occurred at a period still prior. In September, 1792, according to the Records, "it having been proposed by the physicians of the town, to receive permission to inoculate with the small pox," the town voted "not to have the small pox in town, by inoculation, nor any other way, if it can be prevented." May, 1793: "voted, that the Selectmen be a committee to prosecute any person that shall spread the small pox, by inoculation, or any other way." At the same time, the town granted £30 to assist the sick, and appointed a committee of distribution. A hospital was provided at the house of Mr. George Pratt. The disease was introduced into the town by one David Butler, who came to Framingham from Peterboro', and falling sick with the disease, his nurses, to the number of seventeen, took the infection, and five persons besides Butler, died. Aug. 12, 1793, Peter Clayes was paid by the town for supplies furnished to the hospital. In 1810, the town chose Dr. J. B. Kittredge, Dr. Timo. Merriam, and Maj. Benjamin Wheeler, a committee to devise a system for inoculating with the kine poek.

PROVISION FOR THE POOR.

For many years after the incorporation of the town, no stated provision for the poor was required, individual instances of suffering being met as the exigency arose. The first certain instance of public relief, occurs upon the Record Feb. 1, 1736, when "an order was directed to Mr. Micah Stone by the Selectmen, desiring him to pay into the hands of Mr. Ralph Hemenway, the sum of £5, (out of the money paid by fines of persons chosen to serve as Constables in March last), to be improved and bestowed by said Hemenway, at his best discretion, for the relief of Stephen Streater's family; and one other order to said Mr. Stone, to pay out of the same fines, 18s. to Edward Goddard, for three pair of Indentures, for binding out three poor children."

May 21, 1739. "Granted to John Nurse, the sum of £4, for boarding John Provender."

Nov. 26, 1739. An article was, for the first time, placed in the town warrant, "to see if the town will grant a suitable sum for the support of the poor." The article was debated and not voted upon, when the meeting was dissolved.

1741. The town first chose overseers of the poor. The persons elected were Amos Gates, John Bent and William Ballard.

May 16, 1743. "Voted, that at every Publick Thanksgiving, and also every publick fast, there be a contribution for the support of the poor in said town."

About the year 1747, one or two individuals only received public support, who were boarded in various places.

Aug. 29, 1754. Upon an article in the warrant, "to see what method the town will take relating to Moquet, who is now at the Rev. Mr. Gardner's of Stow, and claims the assistance of the town: Voted, that the overseers be directed for the future to make provision for him in a decent manner."

Feb. 14, 1757. It having been proposed to make provision for a French family, then in town, and also to provide a work house,

In 1816, an unsuccessful movement was made in town meeting to obtain a fire engine. In 1818, individuals having offered to purchase one for the use of the town, seventy dollars were granted by the latter for an engine house. In 1847, the Legislature passed an act establishing a Fire Department in this town. There are now three engines.

the town voted the 7th of March, prox., "that the overseers of the poor, shall (if they can) provide a house and land, by hiring the same for the French family, in said town, for the year ensuing, that they may provide subsistence for themselves. Voted, that Mr. William Brown take care of the poor in said town that shall be put into the work house, that they may be kept at work, and subsisted with such things as are necessary and convenient for their support."*

May 21, 1764. Voted, that Mr. Ralph Hemenway, Capt. Josiah Stone, and Mr. John Haven, be a committee to provide the town with a work house, and take care of the poor, and commit them to said house, &c.

Sept. 1, 1766. Voted to build a work house, 32 feet long and 16 feet wide, and seven and a half feet stud between joints. Voted, that there shall be a cellar under one of the rooms as big as said room, the walls of said house to be enclosed with white pine boards, and sealed with the like boards: also voted that said work house be built on said town's land, called the meeting house land, in the most convenient place, as the committee shall think proper.

Voted, that Lt. Sam. Gleason, Capt. Jona. Brewer and Capt. Josiah Stone, be a committee to build the work house, and that £50 be granted for this object.

1767. The town of Reading recovered £60 of Framingham, for the support of paupers.

1768. Chose nine overseers.†

1771. Joseph Buckminster, Esq., gave a deed of gift of a half acre of land, adjoining to the meeting house lot, to accommodate the work house and school house; for which the town unanimously voted him their thanks.

* Tradition informs us that the house once occupied by Mr. Swift, was obtained in conformity with the above vote. An aged lady, who has lately entered upon her 97th year, remembers distinctly the French family referred to, with their wooden shoes and striped silk cloaks!

† June 4, of this year, the Overseers made a Report, which was accepted by the town, embodying their regulations, specifying the hours of labor, the employment of the paupers, (chiefly the picking of oakum), the misdemeanors which were to be made punishable "by stripes on the naked back not exceeding ten stripes, by setting on the stocks or otherwise," at the discretion of the Overseers. Begging from house to house was forbidden under like penalties; and half of the proceeds of each pauper's labor was to be disposed of, at the discretion of the Overseers, for their greater advantage.

1774. A motion being made "to discontinue the annual contributions for the poor, since they are so very little of late," the same was negatived.

1800, April. The town voted to sell the work house to the highest bidder.

Oct. 13, 1813. Col. Micah Stone, by his will, made the town residuary legatee of his estate, providing that "the annual interest be applied (under the directions of the selectmen for the time being), for the support of his children, grand children, and great grand children, (if any of them should stand in need of support); otherwise, it may be applied to the support of the poor of said town; but no part of the Principal is ever to be expended." The amount accruing from this legacy was about $10,000.

In 1827, the town appointed a committee to purchase a Poor farm. In 1832, a new committee was chosen for the same object, the expense of the farm to be paid out of the Stone fund. The farm of Mrs. Solomon Fay was accordingly purchased, at a cost of $3,500. Additional charges were incurred—for enlarging and repairing the house, &c., $711.51—live stock, $355—farming tools, $206.22—household furniture, $191.44. Total, $4,964.17.*

The number of persons supported by this town, varies with different years, but has rarely exceeded 16, composed chiefly of the aged, infirm, or idiotic. Considering that the population of the town now exceeds 4000, this fact presents in a favorable view the general thrift and prosperity of the community. The appropriations for the support of the poor, at different periods, are, viz:—

1764. - - - - 50	1812. - - - - 800
1789. - - - - 150	1816. - - - - 1000
1797. - - - - $304	1823. - - - - 600
1800. - - - - 500	1827. - - - - 400
1802. - - - - 600	1828. - - - - 300
1805. - - - - 500	1830. - - - - 100
1806. - - - - 700

The average annual appropriation, from 1800 to 1834, was near $633.

* This house was consumed by fire Oct. 1841, and a much larger and more commodious one occupies its place. It is the practice of the town to hire a family to take charge of the farm and poor house, with its inmates.

EMIGRATIONS.

The spirit of change and adventure, so characteristic of New England, has left marked traces in the history of Framingham; which, from an early period, has sent forth numerous colonies, to people the wild lands of this and other States.

The first emigration of note from this town occurred about the year 1713, when a considerable number of families became grantees of the town of Oxford, and were prominent in the establishment of that flourishing town.*

At the incorporation of Hopkinton, (Dec. 13, 1717), and of Holliston, (1724), many families removed into those places. In the former town the Mellens and Havens were conspicuous.

At, or soon after, the incorporation of Rutland, (1722), several of the inhabitants of Framingham are found to have resided there, and the names of some are conspicuous in the early records of the town.† Shrewsbury (incorporated 1727) received from

* The township of Oxford, (whose Indian name was Manchage), with an area of eight miles square, "in the Nipmug country," was originally granted, in 1692, to Joseph Dudley, William Stoughton, and others. They soon after brought over thirty families of French Protestants, and set apart 12,000 acres in that place, for their use. The French settlers built for their protection, on a hill southeast of the present village of Oxford, a fort, whose ruins, with the vines planted by these fugitives from persecution, yet remain, interesting memorials of their short sojourn in the place. The massacre of one of their families by the Indians, and the hardships and perils of that wild region, induced them soon to forsake their lands; and the entire township, (with a single reservation to Gabriel Bernon), was conveyed, in 1713, to thirty-eight individuals, among whom, eleven at least were inhabitants of Framingham, viz: John, Ephraim, and Israel Town; Daniel Elliott, and his sons, Daniel and Ebenezer; Isaac and Ebenezer Larned; Thomas Leason, (Gleason), Benj. Nealand, and Abial Lamb. In addition to these, we find the names of Samuel Barton, Hezekiah Stone, and probably others, who then, or soon after, became inhabitants of the place. At the first meeting for the formation of the church, three of the four persons present, viz: Lt. John Town, Abial Lamb and Saml. Barton, were from Framingham; the first-named was chosen Deacon. The covenant of the church was adopted from that of the first church in this town, and at the ordination of their first minister, Mr. John Campbell, March 1, 1720-1, Dea. Haven and Ens. Benj. Bridges appeared as delegates from Framingham, and Mr. Swift gave the fellowship of the churches. Mr. Swift appears, from his journal, to have preached at Oxford, May 10, 1719; on which occasion he baptized eight persons, viz: Elijah and Francis Town, Abigail Learned, Mercy Gleason, Prudence and Lidia Eliot, Hephzibah Shumway, and Sarah Hunkins.

† Rutland was granted, twelve miles square, and the Indian Deed, chiefly to the heirs of Maj. Simon Willard, is dated 1686. The names of William Brintnal, David Bent and the Goddards, Drurys, and other families, contributions to its settlement. The records of Templeton, in 1735, present among the first proprietors of the township, the names of John and Henry Eames, John Provender and Isaac Learned; and others soon followed from the families of Lamb, Shattuck, &c. Nichewaug, (now Petersham), contained, in 1750, a number of settlers from Framingham, as did, a little later, Poquaig, (Athol), in which last place the Havens, Goddards and Drurys were represented by men of influence and respectability. At a later period, the towns of Westmoreland, Marlborough, and Fitzwilliam, in New Hampshire, received (particularly the last named town) a considerable number of families from this place; and soon after the close of the war of the Revolution, several removed to Whites-town,* in the vicinity of Utica, New York.

We have referred to a few only of the places, more or less distant, in which this town may lay claim to its dispersed sons and daughters. The passion for emigrating to the far West has never prevailed here to any extent. With the towns contiguous to this, there has been a continual interchange of families. The unceasing tide of emigration has borne away, in many cases, entire families, whose names, once numerous and respected, have now become extinct. Of the 59 different family names found here in 1710, but 22 are known to be represented, by lineal descendants of the same name, at this time.†

Joseph Stevens, several of the Stones, and others, were among the early settlers of the place from this town. Wm. Brintnal preached there as a candidate. Joseph Stevens became a deacon of the church, and held many civil offices. His family suffered severely in the Indian wars. John Stone, Esq. died in that place Oct. 11, 1776, æ. 73. The Rev. Jos. Buckminster, a native of Framingham, was settled over the church of that place, Sept. 15, 1742, where he continued "an able, faithful and worthy minister," until Nov. 3, 1792, when he deceased. The Rev. Joseph Willard, (before of Sunderland), the first minister, was killed before his ordination, by the Indians, after a resolute defence, in which, like the Rev. John Whiting, slain at Lancaster in 1697, he bore not the sword in vain, having killed one and wounded another. See an account of the massacre at Rutland, Boston Gazette, Aug. 19, 1723.

* We recall as many as eight individuals, viz: Robert Eames, Nathaniel Hemenway, Joseph and Uriah Jennings, Luther Claves, Richard Sanger, Joseph and Needham Maynard, who emigrated to that place. The Hon. Needham Maynard became distinguished, and held a seat upon the Judicial Bench. He died at the advanced age of eighty-nine, a few years since.

† The reader who may desire additional information respecting the emigrations from this town, may obtain some materials in the Genealogical Register, at the close of the volume.

EDUCATION.

SCHOOLS. — Some delay appears to have been experienced in the establishment of schools after the town's incorporation, (probably arising in part from the scattered state of the inhabitants), which rendered the town liable to the penalty imposed by law for such neglect.*

1704-5, March 5. Voted, that Lt. Jos. Buckminster should have 5s. for going down to answer the town's presentment.

1706, Sept. 3. Voted, that Dea. Josh. Hemenway be our schoolmaster for the year ensuing; and that Benj. Bridges and Peter Cloyse, Jun. should agree with him, what he shall have for his pains.

1708, April 5. Voted, that Jona. Rice shall have 6s. for answering the town's presentment.

1710, April 3. Voted, that Dea. Josh. Hemenway shall be schoolmaster, &c. henceforward; and when he has a mind to lay it down, he will give the town timely notice to provide another.

1712-3, March 2. Lt. Tho. Drury and Ebenezer Harrington were chosen schoolmasters, to instruct the youth of Framingham in writing; and the selectmen are appointed to settle school-dames in each quarter of said town.

1713, Oct. 7. £ 10 were granted to Dea. J. Hemenway as schoolmaster for four months, beginning Nov. 13.

1714, Dec. 8. Voted, that the school be kept the present winter season in five places, viz. one mo. at the house of John Gleason; one mo. at the house of Tho. Pratt; one mo. at the house of Sam. Winch; one mo. at the house of Cornet Sam. How; and one mo. at the house of Benj. Bridges.†

1716, March 5. Voted, to build a school house 20 or 30 poll from the W. end of the meeting house, where the land may be convenient.

* In 1701, the penalty upon towns for neglecting to provide grammar schools, was £20. It was required that the school-master should be approved by the ministers of the town, and the ministers of the two next adjacent towns, or any two of them, by certificates under their hands.

† The following year, the places selected were "Benj. Bridges, Joseph Haven's, Thos. Drury, Saml. Winch, and Isaac Heath's, three weeks at each place; nine weeks south side of the river, and eight weeks on the north side."

1716, Aug. 10. Voted, to build a school house, 22 feet long, 16 broad, and six feet between the joints. Voted, to raise £ 16 for this object. £ 1.10 was afterwards added.

1716, Dec. 17. Voted to have a moving school in the four quarters of the town. Mr. Goddard consented to teach four weeks in each place, for £ 15 ; and all taught at his house to pay 6d. per head, per week.*

1717-8, Feb. 10. A committee having reported their inability, after "the utmost diligence," to obtain a schoolmaster, and the town having been again presented, another committee was appointed, 5 Aug. to obtain one, "and that forthwith ;" also voted, that the gentlemen of the committee first go to Capt. Edward Goddard and see upon what terms he will serve the town ; and if he will serve the town as cheap, or something cheaper, than another, then the committee are to make a full bargain with him for a year.

1724, July 21. Voted, that the committee to engage a teacher first treat with a scholar of the College ; and that they be desired to treat with Sir Stone, and acquaint him that the town is desirous to enjoy him as their schoolmaster. The same year, granted £ 6.2s. for repairing the school house.

1745. The town appointed a committee to consider what might be proper for the town to do relating to building school houses in said town.

1748-9, March 6. Voted, that the town will this year have a grammar school kept, the winter half year, in the centre of the town ; and raise an equal sum, to be laid out for the benefit of schooling in the outskirts of said town.

Aug. 22, 1749. Voted, to accept the following report :

"That the centre of the town be allowed to be at the publick meeting house ; that the bounds of the centre school be as followeth, viz. : from the centre to Messrs. Moses Learned, Joseph Bixby, Nathaniel Pratt, John Drury, John Claves, Ichabod Hemenway, John Bruce, Amos Gates, Josiah Warren, Jona. Clark, Tho. Winch, Jun., the two Boutwells, John Jones, Thomas Collier, Dea. Adams, Lieut. Rice, Francis Moquet, and Joseph Hemenway's ; that the outskirts, not included in the forementioned circumference, be divided into eight schools, as follows, viz. : from David Sanger's to Ebenezer Marshall,

* The places selected were "Edward Goddard's, (formerly Samuel Barton, Senior's), Ebenezer Winchester's, John Eames, Jr's., and John Stone's."

be allowed to be two schools, to be divided between Nathaniel Emmes and Micah Haven's; and Salem side (so called) outskirts be one school; that all the outskirts N. from Stoney Brook, as far as Samuel Fairbank's, be one school; that Col. Brinley's Farm Road, by Joseph Berry's to Sudbury line, be the E. bounds of the next school; and all the outskirts from Jona. Edmunds, to Nathaniel Sever's, and Moses Cutting's, be another school; and all the outskirts from Sam. Stratton's to the bridge over the river by Dan. Stone's, be another school; and from Dan. Gregory's to Sam. Stone's, thence to David Emmes', be the W. bounds of the last school in the outskirts. Furthermore, we report, as our opinion, that there be a convenient school house built at the public meeting house, and also, that the school begin there the first of Oct., and end at the last of March yearly."

Aug. 22, 1749. Voted, that Messrs. Henry Eames, Joseph Stone and John Parker be a committee to build a school house at the meeting house, as soon as may be.

1750, May 14. Upon an article to see if the town will choose a meet person, in each district of the outskirts, to draw their respective parts of money, Tho. Temple, Noah Eaton, Daniel Stone and Bezaleel Rice were chosen for that service.*

1750, Oct. 22. A committee reported in favor of constructing 4 school houses in the outskirts, viz. one at or near Capt. Goddard's N. draw bars, on the path leading to Hemenway's bridge; the 2d W. from the house of Ens. Richard Haven's, (on the road), N. between Benj. Haven's and Eben. Marshall's lands; the 3d on the road between Mr. Tho. Stone's and Mr. Daniel Gregorie's, on the S. side of the little brook crossing said road; the 4th between Capt. Clark's and Mr. Jona. Edmonds, in or near the road between said houses.

Granted £ 80, lawful money, to build four school houses, each 20 by 14 feet.

1750. The town was presented for not having a grammar school.

1755, May 26. Voted, that the women's schools be kept in the summer season, to the amount of half the money granted; the other half to be expended for a moveable grammar school.

1756. Voted, that the schooldames' board be paid in the same manner as the schoolmasters' are paid, viz. that each person that has boarded them bring in their accompt for allowance.*

1761. £ 10 were granted to repair the school houses.

1765, June 3. Voted, that there be two masters employed six mos. in the winter half year.

1768, May 16. The town voted to have one grammar school, the year, at a charge of £ 50 ; and that each squadron keep a woman's school 16 weeks in the year ; having liberty to employ men, instead of women, to keep the schools, as the major part of each squadron can agree. The sum of £ 25 was voted for the support of the women's schools.

1769. A school house having been destroyed by fire, in the N. part of the town, voted to rebuild near Jona. Edmunds' house, 21 by 16 feet ; also voted to rebuild at Salem End, 16 feet square.

1774, March 31. The following report upon the school divisions, was accepted :

" 1. That it is necessary to the convenience of the N. part of the town, that there be a school house near Mr. Silas Winch's, and to move the house by Capt. Gibbs here. 2d. A house built between Mr. Childs' and the crotch of the road, near Mr. Trowbridge's. 3d. To accommodate the W. part of the town, to erect a house between Dr. Hemenway's and Mr. Charles Dehouties' (Dougherty's). 4th. To convene Salem end with the common, to move the house by Mr. Benj. Mixer's, and set it between Mr. John Parker's and Mr. John Claves'. 5th. To accommodate the S. part of the town, to move the house near Mr. Jesse Haven's, up to the road near Mr. Adams'. 6th. To erect an house on the N. side of the way leading from Mr. Sam. How's to the widow Larnard's, near the corner."

1774. Voted, that there be two women's schools kept in each ward, in the summer season.

1774. Voted, that there be four mos. grammar school, and six mos. with two writing schoolmasters, kept in the winter or dead season of the year.†

* Two shillings per week was allowed for the board of women, and four shillings per week for men. In 1763, the board of the female teachers was increased to two shillings eight pence. At this time, the women's schools, in some districts, had been divided. In 1794, Lt. John Jones taught the Centre school eight weeks, at 60s. per month, and boarded himself at 6s. per week.

† In 1792, the town voted to build a school-house in the east part of the town, and to place the south school-house at the west corner of Capt. Ezra Haven's land. The year following, it was voted, to build that year a brick house in the centre, and one

In 1795, the No. of School wards in the town was nine, containing the aggregate No. of 618 scholars.* In 1798, the whole No. of scholars was 659, (probably including, in both cases, all between 4 and 18 years of age).

1798. The town first chose a committee to inspect the public schools. The following year, the school money was divided among the several districts, according to their number of polls respectively. In 1808, was adopted the rule of division, which, with occasional modifications, has been continued to the present time. Of the $ 700 dollars appropriated for schools, $ 175 were divided equally among the nine districts, and the residue, according to the polls from 4 to 18 years of age. A few years previously, (May 5, 1800), a committee of nine persons was appointed to prepare articles for the government of the schools; and several useful regulations were reported the following month, and adopted. In 1833, by a vote of the town, it was ordered, that the superintending committee should receive pay for their services.

The public schools of Framingham have, for many years, received the benefit of a judicious and watchful oversight; and the general intelligence and enterprise which have long marked the community, bear witness to their healthful and vigorous condition. A wise and liberal spirit, it is hoped, will never be wanting to perceive and to appropriate such improvements as the experience and investigations of wise and good men are yet destined to bring to light.

at Salem end. In 1798, $120 were granted to the north district, provided the district will build a good brick school-house, and supply what it may cost more. In 1804, $150 were granted to build a school-house in the north-west ward. In 1811, $600 for a house in the E. district. In 1812, $400 for a house in the south-east district. The year following, $500 for a house in the W. district, twenty-six by twenty-eight feet. In 1814, $550 for a house in the S. district. In 1816, $600 for a house in the centre; and the E. district, was divided. In 1817, $525 for a house at Salem end. In 1818, $470 for a house in the south-west district. In 1822, district No. 10 was formed, and $525 granted for a house. Since that period, three new districts have been established, and a large proportion of the houses have been rebuilt, in a greatly improved style, both as regards convenience and health; wood being preferred to brick, after a due trial of both materials.

* The S. ward contained eighty-two scholars; the south-west, sixty-one; west, fifty-one; south-east, fifty-two; new ward, forty-five; north-west, eighty-four; centre, ninety-seven; north, 53; east, ninety-three.

FRAMINGHAM ACADEMY.

This Institution, which, for more than half a century, has maintained a flourishing existence, contributing largely to the intelligence and prosperity of the town, deserves a respectful notice in a History of Framingham.

It had its origin in 1792; early in which year, the “proprie-

* In addition to the above, tradition affords the names of Jonas Clark, David Sanger, George and Ephraim Stimson, and Isaac Clark, the last in 1793, Elisha Frost, 1794.

† In addition to the above, from the year 1798 to 1824, the town annually granted the interest on $1,000 in aid of the Academy, which sum ought properly to be considered a part of its annual grant for schools.

tors of the brick school house " organized a society, whose object was defined, " to disseminate piety, virtue and useful knowledge ; " the number of its members was limited to 25.* The character of the enterprise is indicated by the following regulations in their first by-laws, providing that " no person shall be admitted as preceptor in the school, unless he has received a collegiate education, and been endowed with a degree of Bachelor of Arts in some University ; " and that every branch of useful science may be taught, " a primary regard being had to the initiation of youth into the principles of piety and virtue."

The proprietors proceeded, at once, to the construction of a brick school house, with two stories, which was completed at a charge of £176.9.6. ; and the school was opened Nov. 27, 1792, under the instruction of Mr. James Hawley, afterwards Tutor at Harvard College. The school continued in a prosperous state ; and received in 1798, a grant of the interest on $1000 from the town, which was annually granted until 1824.† March 1, 1799, the General Court granted the petitioners therefor, an act of Incorporation, as the Framingham Academy, providing for a body of Trustees, in number, not to exceed nine, nor to be less than seven. The liberality of the legislature provided, in addition, " a grant of a tract equal to the half of a township, six miles square, of any of the unappropriated lands within either of the Counties of Lincoln, Hancock, or Washington, excepting the lands on the Penobscot river." This tract was sold in 1803, to Messrs. Jonathan Maynard and Samuel Weed, and the proceeds constituted a fund, the interest of which was applied in aid of the Institution.

The Academy, for a long series of years, has been conducted by a succession of educated teachers, with variable but general success, attracting many pupils from distant places, and maintaining a respectable rank among the kindred seminaries, which have since been so largely multiplied in the Commonwealth. With competent instructors, it has prepared many young men for our Colleges. In 1826, John Trowbridge, Esq. devised, by will, a legacy of $500 to the Trustees, the interest of which has been since applied, agreeably to the provisions of the donor, in aid of young men of this town preparing for College. In 1838, at the decease of Mr. Micah Stone, a gentleman whose high character for probity and enterprise, won the confidence and esteem, as his various acts of liberality, entitle his name to the enduring gratitude of this community, a legacy of $3,000 was received by the Trustees. The interest of this sum was to be applied to the reduction of the charge of tuition, to pupils belonging to the town, with the proviso, that it should not be reduced to a less charge than three dollars per quarter. The year preceding, (1837), the Trustees, at a cost of about $3,000, replaced the old school house by a new and more commodious structure of stone. The various benefits derived to the inhabitants of the town, from a seminary so early founded, and by its liberal provisions rendered accessible to all who have desired its privileges, are beyond computation. Without courting an ephemeral popularity, it has pursued its steady course of beneficence for more than half a century, numbering among its alumni, names which have repaid its cherishing care by lives of honorable distinction, and adding largely to the general intelligence and cultivation of this community.

† The terms of the grant were :— " Granted $1,000 to support the Academy school, or the interest of the same to be paid annually, provided it will exempt them from keeping a grammar school, and the Legislature will make a grant of half a township at the eastward." In 1824, the illegality of the grant caused it to be withdrawn, but " no censure was cast on the trustees or preceptor."

The names of the Trustees, from the incorporation of the Academy to the present time, we present below: the first column of years indicating the date of their accession, and the second (as far as known) of their retirement or decease, respectively.

We subjoin, in a note, some memoranda extracted from the Records of the Trustees, which may be worthy of preservation.*

* The assessments upon the original proprietors, (at three several times), amounted to over $20 for each proprietor. July, 1794, £3.7.11, were received from the sale of tickets for the exhibition.

Dec. 29, 1794, voted that balls shall not be held in the school-house, during the existence of the constitution this day adopted.

May 23, 1795. Chose a committee to let the Hall to the Free-masons for one year.

Oct. 5, 1795. The thanks of the trustees were voted to Joseph Park, for the donation of a pair of globes.

1796. The charge of tuition was 1s. per week.

Jan. 1798. A committee was chosen to petition for an act of incorporation.

Dec. 3, 1798. Voted, that the singers have the use of the hall, gratis, for six weeks.

1804. Voted to employ a Preceptress, to teach immediately after the Summer vacation, with a grant not exceeding $100; the tuition to be twelve and a half cents per week.

1808. A vote of thanks to Jona. Maynard for twenty ornamental trees.

1810. An amount subscribed for a bell was put at interest, until able to purchase.

1811, May 8. Notice was given that the Rev. Saml. Kendall, D.D. would deliver an address to the students, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

1822. Voted to build a house for the Preceptor. [This refers to the so-called boarding-house adjoining the Academy, which was built at a charge of about $3,500.]

1824. A committee was appointed to purchase a bell; authority was also given to build a cupola for the same.

1837. Abner Wheeler, Josiah Adams, and Moses Edgell, Esqs., were appointed the Building Committee, to superintend the construction of the new school-house.

In 1794, the amount accruing from the charges of tuition, probably for the year, was £100.18.6. In 1810, the emoluments of the Instructor were about $500 per annum. Of late years, with variations, they have averaged near $700 annually. No means exist of determining the aggregate number of pupils who have enjoyed the benefits of this seminary. For many years past, the average number of scholars has been about fifty; some terms exceeding eighty, and others falling as low as forty. Several hundred dollars have been expended, within a few years, for the purchase of apparatus.

PROFESSIONAL MEN.

PHYSICIANS. — The earliest regular Physician known in this town, was Dr. Bezaleel Rice, who probably practiced from about 1720, and remained in practice here until 1740, if not later.*

A Dr. Nichols is noticed upon the Records, about 1740.

Dr. John Mellen was in practice here, and employed by the town, in 1748 ; but nothing more is known of him.

Dr. Ebenezer Hemenway, who lived on the Southborough road, was for many years in practice, commencing in 1750, and continuing as late as 1777.

Jeremiah Pike, noted as a bone-setter, was here in 1750 ; he removed (probably to Rutland) about 1780.

Dr. Richard Perkins, H. C., 1748, a native of Bridgewater, and brother to the wife of the Rev. Mr. Bridge, was in town in 1758 ; he remained but a short time.

Dr. Elijah Stone, who possessed a large share of the practice of the town, began probably about 1766, and deceased in 1804, aged 68.

Dr. John B. Kittredge came to Framingham about 1791, and has remained since in the practice of his profession, in this and * John Page was in this town an. 1712, and soon after removed to Sutton, where he deceased about 1731, and was entitled "Physician." A Dr. Wilson practiced here about 80 years since, and was probably Dr.

John Wilson, of Hopkinton, or Sherburne. Dr. Robie, of Sudbury, and Dr. Sparhawk, of Natick, also extended their practice within the limits of Framingham.

the neighboring towns, possessing an estimation and confidence, strengthened by a successful professional career of more than half a century.

Dr. Timothy Merriam, a native of Concord, Mass., began practice here, near the same time as the preceding, and deceased Sept. 17, 1835, aged 76.

Dr. Simon Whitney, H. C., 1818, established himself in the town about 1822, and has remained to this day, in extensive and successful practice.

LAWYERS.

For many years after the settlement of the town, no regular representative of the legal profession existed within its borders. The common exigencies of the community, in the preparation of wills, conveyances, &c., were sufficiently provided for by the clergymen and justices of the town.*

The first professional lawyer established here was Eli Bullard, Esq., a graduate at Yale College, who became an inhabitant of Framingham about the year 1791, and deceased in 1824. Josiah Adams, Esq., who studied law with Tho. Heald, Esq. of Concord, was admitted to the bar in June, 1807, and continues to this day in professional practice. William Buckminster, Lawson Kingsbury, Omen S. Keith,† and Charles R. Train, Esquires, have respectively occupied offices in this town; the last named gentleman only, remaining in regular practice.

INDIAN, FRENCH, AND REVOLUTIONARY WARS.

But little information is preserved to us, illustrating the dangers, the defences, and the military movements of this town, dur-

* Mr. Swift's handwriting is generally found in ancient wills. Edward Goddard, Joshua Hemenway, Tho. Drury, and the two Col. Buckminsters, were all serviceable to the town as conveyancers. Mr. Bridge also contributed his aid, as similar occasions arose.

† Mr. Keith read law with the Hon. R. Hosmer, of Stow, and J. Adams, Esq., of Framingham; became, in 1833, an associate in practice of the latter, and remained in town but a few years, when he transferred his office to Boston. He died at Brooklyn, N. Y., March, 1847; and his remains were interred at Cambridge. He was greatly esteemed for his liberality of mind, his warm affections, and unbending integrity.

ing the troubles with the Indians, which at various times occurred after its incorporation. A tradition exists, that a fort was constructed by the first Col. Buckminster. If this account is to be relied upon, it was erected probably in the neighborhood of his own farm, which was subsequently the Brinley farm. Of its locality and history, nothing is known. From the same source we derive the information, that there were garrisoned houses in various parts of the town.* These are probably referred to in the following vote of the town.

April 3, 1710. "Voted £ 10 to raise a stock of ammunition, to be kept in the four several places in the town."

March 24, 1711-2. Voted to procure an addition to our stock of ammunition:—to John Town, £ 1; to Jonathan Rice, £ 7.10sh.; and for the town stock, £ 4.†

A company of troopers, commanded by Capt. Isaac Clark, was early established in Framingham; about 30 of whom were inhabitants of the town. This company was in service about three weeks in the year 1725. A few years earlier, in 1722, we find the muster-roll of a company under the command of Col. Buckminster, who served from August to November of that year, and also the roll of the so called "Rutland Scout," commanded by Serg. Thomas Buckminster, who served from July 25 to August 26th.‡

This period must have been one of general alarm in all our towns. Tradition faintly shadows the scene, in its relations of * Aged persons state that there was a garrison at Mr. Charles Clark's, near the school house No. 2; one also at Salem end. There were probably still others.

† March 8, 1715-6. The powder and shot of the town stock were weighed by the selectmen. The weight of the barrel, bag and powder was 120 lbs. The weight of the bullets, flints, and bags to put them in, 150 lbs. June 15, 1719, Capt. Drury and Ens. Bridges were appointed to take charge of the town's ammunition, and have it brought and secured in the vault, over the body of seats, in the meeting house; and Edward Goddard to procure a lock for the vault. May 28, 1733, voted that Messrs. Tho. Stone and Tho. Winch be desired to view the town stock of powder and ammunition, to see whether the same be duly preserved, and whether it needs to be changed. Feb. 28, 1788, the town stock consisted of nine fire-arms, 150 wt. powder, 381 wt. balls, 275 flints.

In 1800, the town accepted the report of a committee, recommending that the ammunition be kept in the meeting house. In 1805, a committee was chosen to build a Magazine. As the practice of warming churches is of recent date, their security in former times, as places of deposit, will be understood.

‡ The names of the men who served in these companies, as also of others who served during the French and Revolutionary wars, will be found in the Appendix.

individual exposure in the field, and of midnight assaults upon the ill-protected garrisons, where affrighted neighborhoods sought a precarious shelter. Our town records fail of handing down any distinct memorials of the sufferings and perils of the early settlers in this township. The relations of the aged, though involved sometimes in uncertainty, must therefore possess a high degree of interest, in the absence of documentary information.*

* Of the general insecurity of the period to which we refer above, the accounts handed down by the aged, leave no doubt. Men were obliged to take with them their arms into the field, and neighbors united in labor, for greater security. Women could safely go into the barn-yards at milking, only with the presence of their husbands. An aged woman of this town heard, from her grandmother, an account of this practice; the latter adding, that her husband's presence was, after all, of no great service; for instead of watching for Indians, he would throw himself upon his back, and sing loud enough to be heard through the neighborhood.

An aged inhabitant of this town relates an instance of narrow escape from death, on a like occasion, which occurred to his grandmother. Having gone alone to the yard to milk, about two hours before sunset, she carefully looked around to see if there were Indians in the neighborhood. Supposing herself secure, she proceeded to her work, and while in the act of milking, an Indian, (who, as was their custom, had disguised himself with brakes, and crawled along upon his belly), suddenly struck her in the back with a knife. She instantly sprung, and by the effort twitched the knife from the Indian's grasp; and before he could rise, had advanced so far, that she succeeded in reaching the house, with the knife in her back. An alarm was immediately given, by three successive discharges of a musket, which soon brought a reinforcement from the neighborhood of what is now called the Silk Farm, where was a garrison well provided with powerful dogs and arms. On pursuing, however, they found no traces of the Indian. The woman survived her injury.

From the same source, we learn that there was a garrison-house about midway between the houses of the late Col. Brewer and the late Mr. Peter Parker, on the N. side of the road; the cellar hole having been filled by Mr. John Parker, now living. The garrison house was enclosed by long close-set pickets, with a gate on wooden hinges. On a dark night, when the families were all within the garrison, two men having been stationed in the watch-box at the gable end, the dogs, (of which the largest, most savage, and quick-scented, were selected), began to show signs of uneasiness. The garrison was aroused, and guns were fired in the direction of the gate. The alarm soon ceased; and the following morning, blood was discovered near the gate, and tracked across the swale of land in the direction of the Badger house, where it disappeared.

As an illustration of the stealthiness with which an Indian could approach his victim, we have heard related the following. An Indian, in time of peace, was boasting to one of our settlers, that he could touch him while at work in the field, without his knowledge. The latter promised him a sum of money upon his doing it. A few days only elapsed, and the man was startled at his work by finding himself suddenly seized by the heel; and, on turning, he met the face of the Indian, demanding his reward.

Mr. Uriah Rice, now in his 90th year, distinctly remembers to have seen Indians, rapidly crossing a meadow, where he had wandered while a boy. He also relates, that Capt. John Butler, of this town, had, during the French war, made himself obnoxious to the Indians, three of

FRENCH WAR.

Of the extent to which this town participated in the French war, we are able to afford but little information beyond the muster-rolls to be found in the Appendix to this history. John Nixon, who afterwards distinguished himself in the service of the Revolution, his brother Thomas, and Josiah Stone, held the post of Captain in the expedition to Crown Point, in 1755. Several subordinate officers and privates, from Framingham, were also engaged on the same occasion. Colonel Buckminster was at this period in commission, and his name appears in the supply of reinforcements for the army. Several individuals lost their lives in the service of their country, during this war, whose names, as far as known, will afterwards appear.

WAR OF THE REVOLUTION.

The inhabitants of this town early espoused and vigorously maintained, the common cause of the country, in the trying events which preceded and accompanied the war of the Revolution.

The passage of the stamp act led to the following instructions to Joseph Buckminster, Esq., representative for the town in the General Court.

Oct. 21, 1765. We instruct you to promote and readily join in, such dutiful remonstrances and humble petitions to the King and Parliament, as have a direct tendency to obtain a repeal of the Stamp Act.

We further instruct you, that you do not give your assent to any Act of Assembly, that shall imply the willingness of your constituents, to submit to any taxes that are imposed, in any other way, than by the Great and General Court of this Province, according to the institution of this Government.

We further add, that you take care that money raised in this Time of Distress and Trouble, may not be used to any other purpose, than whom came into the town, inquiring for him, with the purpose of revenging some former injury. Information was given to Capt. Butler, which enabled him to secure his safety.

But few Indians have been known residents within the town, since its incorporation. For some years, during the last century, a family are said to have lived at the ledge of rocks, lately quarried by Col. Jonas Claves. A natural recess, formed by overhanging rocks, was their dwelling place. Individuals have been sometimes employed in the service of families.

what is intended by the Act for supplying the Treasury ; and as to other Affairs that shall come under consideration, we submit to your wisdom and prudence.

Sept. 26, 1768. Mr. Thomas Temple was chosen to join the committee, in convention with others, at Faneuil Hall, in Boston, to consult upon such measures as may be for the safety of the Province.

March 1, 1773. A committee, consisting of Dea. Wm. Brown, Maj. John Farrar, Jos. Buckminster, Esq., Dr. Eben. Hemenway, Joseph Nichols, Josiah Stone, and Mr. Eben. Marshall, was appointed, to take into consideration a letter from the Boston committee ; who, on the 15th of the same month, presented their report, (which was unanimously accepted), asserting the privileges of the Colonies, and concluding in the following language :

“ From all which it appears our absolute duty to defend by every constitutional measure, our dear privileges purchased with so much blood and treasure. Let us prudently endeavour to preserve our character as freemen and not lose that of good and loyal subjects. Let us jointly labour after (and Heaven grant we may obtain) that magnanimity of soul, by which we may be enabled to resist injuries, and let the world know, that we are not governed by feud and faction.”

Jan. 25, 1774. The town resolved, “ That we ourselves, or any for or under us, will not buy any teas subject to a duty, nor knowingly trade with any merchant or country trader, that deals in that detestable commodity. And since such means and methods are used to destroy our privileges, which were purchased by the dearest blood of our ancestors, those that stand foremost in a proper defence of our privileges, shall have our greatest regard ; and if any shall be so regardless of our political preservation, and that of posterity, as to endeavor to counteract our determination, we will treat them in the manner their conduct deserves.”

May 18, 1774. The town chose a committee of correspondence ; viz. Joseph Haven, Esq., Josiah Stone, Dea. Wm. Brown, Mr. Eben. Marshall, Lt. David Haven, Jos. Buckminster, Esq., and Maj. John Farrar.

June 27. The town met on notice, “ the fullest and most general ever known in this town on any civil occasion ; when the meeting was opened by solemn prayer for divine direction, and after reading some letters and other papers, the committee of correspondence presented the following covenant, and the same was read distinctly several times, and considered, and very largely debated several hours; after which the question was put, whether the town do accept the said covenant as it now stands; and it passed in the affirmative, almost unanimously." *

Sept. 9. Capt. Josiah Stone, Joseph Haven, Esq., and Dea. Wm. Brown, were chosen delegates to the Provincial Congress, to assemble at Concord in October. Voted, that the selectmen be directed to procure and purchase, at the town's expense, five barrels of powder, and 4 or 5 cwt. of bullets or lead.

Sept. 30. The town voted to instruct their representative, Capt. Josiah Stone, "to adhere firmly to the charter of the Province, and not consent to any act that can possibly be construed into an acknowledgement of the validity of the act of the British Parliament, for altering the government of the Massachusetts Bay; more especially to acknowledge the Hon. Board of Counsellors, elected last May, by the General Court, as the only rightful and constitutional Council of the Province."

The town at the same time ordered the purchase of 20 fire arms and field pieces; on the 3d Oct. the organization of two militia companies, besides the troop; and a resolve was passed the 8th Nov., "that all public monies, belonging to the Province, shall be paid to the Receiver General appointed by the Congress."

Jan. 2, 1775. Voted that a contribution be made to the town of Boston under their present distress. Capt. Josiah Stone, and Dea. Wm. Brown were chosen delegates to the Congress, and a company of minute men was ordered to be formed, according to the advice of the Provincial Congress.

1775. Raised a Province tax of £ 100.

May 6, 1776. The first call of a town meeting "in the name of the Government and People of the Massachusetts Bay." †

July 1, 1776. Granted £ 7 per man, for all that will voluntarily enlist themselves into the continental service.

* It is to be regretted that this paper was not placed upon record.

† It is worthy of remark, that this was the sole change caused by the revolution, in the municipal organization and management of our towns, the meetings having been summoned as above, instead of "in his Majesty's name," as was before the practice.

Similar revolutions in other countries, have introduced radical alterations in the civil and social institutions of the community. The American revolution introduced no extensive organic change; the elements of the newly constituted government having existed previously.

July 8, 1776. Voted, that Lt. Wm. Maynard be employed to purchase 10 good fire arms, and Mr. John Pratt to purchase 20 blankets.

A company marched with Capt. Edgell to Ticonderoga.

March, 1777. Chose a committee to engage men for the service, on any terms. A bounty was granted of £ 30 to every soldier who enlisted for 3 years, (and in Sept. £ 40 for the same service).

The treasurer was authorized to hire the sum of £ 1000.

June 23, 1777. Voted, that Maj. John Trowbridge inspect any that shall be thought inimical to the U. S. of America.

March, 1778. A committee was appointed to provide clothing for the soldiers in the Continental Army from this town.

May, 1778. A requisition was made upon the town for 10 men, — 8 to fortify North River.

June 5, 1778. The town voted upon the proposed Constitution or form of government. Yeas 5. Nays 77.

June 18, 1779. A requisition was received for 9 men to complete the town's quota. (The families of those in service were at this period supplied by a committee of the town).

June 18, 1779. The town secured the services of 6 Frenchmen as substitutes.

Aug. 9, 1779. Capt. Benj. Edwards and Josiah Stone, Esq., were chosen delegates to the convention at Cambridge.

Aug. 9, 1779. Voted, to approve the resolve of the convention at Concord, to regulate prices, &c., and that a committee of 10 men be chosen to state the prices of labour, country produce, manufactures, inn holders, &c.

Mr. Dan. Sanger and Capt. Simon Edgel were chosen delegates to the convention at Concord, in Oct.

June 5, 1780. The town acted on the Bill of Rights. Accepted the 1st and 2d Articles by a vote of 107 to 8; the 3d Article by 113 to 18. The others were also accepted, till the Article on Representation, which was thought unequal, and as to qualifications for voters, exceptionable. Voted, to choose a committee to prepare an amendment.

Dec. 27, 1780. Granted £ 35.000 to purchase the beef now called for.

The town being called upon to raise 20 men, for 3 years or during the war, granted £ 50.000 to hire them.

Nov. 12, 1781. The town agreed with Capt. Jona. Maynard, to supply him with $150 for each man, and $100 in one year and $50 to be paid in two years; and he engages to procure the men for that money. (The town had been fined for not furnishing its quota.)

We have preferred not to interrupt the order of the preceding extracts from the Town Records, to notice the particular events of the war in which the citizens of this town participated. In reference to these, it may be remarked, that when the tidings of the advance of the British on Concord, reached this town, the inhabitants hastened at once to the scene of action.* On this occasion, Cols. John and Thomas Nixon had the command of the First Regiment of Massachusetts Militia, and acquitted themselves with much honor.

The part taken by the citizens of Framingham in the battle of Bunker Hill, was highly creditable to their bravery and patriotism. Among the officers present, or in command, were the two Col. Nixons, Col. William Buckminster, and Col. Jona. Brewer; and the late Hon. Needham Maynard acted as aid to General Warren; all of whom were natives of this town, and nearly all received wounds in the bloody contest.† Col. Nixon was stationed

* Mr. Ezekiel How informed the author that he and his neighbor Benj. Berry, ran on foot the entire distance to Concord, (near 12 miles), in two hours. The first object that struck him, on his arrival, was a British regular weltering in blood. It being his first experience of the horrors of war, he was so shocked that he almost fainted. "But," he added, "they pushed me along, and a few hours afterward, I could see men dying around me with as much indifference as if they were sheep." Noah Eaton, 2d, and his brother Jonas, were at Lexington. The former, having discharged his piece, retired behind a knoll to reload, where he suddenly encountered a British regular, with a loaded gun. Noah presented his empty musket, threatening to kill the soldier; when the latter surrendered, returned with his captor to Framingham, and lived in his service. Daniel Hemenway, it is said, was the only man wounded from this town on that occasion.

† Col. Buckminster received a ball through his shoulder, and Colonel Brewer was wounded through the lower part of his arm. Col. John Nixon was severely wounded, and was afterwards commissioned, on account of his bravery and experience in the French war, as a Brigadier General. Lt. Jona. Maynard was in the engagement; and his brother William, an officer, received a bullet in his hip, which he bore with him to his grave. John Maynard, acting ensign, brother of Needham, was discovered by the latter, wounded and unable to walk, who happily succeeded in carrying him safely to Cambridge. The Hon. Needham Maynard, to whom we are indebted for many particulars of this battle, was present at the last celebration of that event in 1843; about which time, he gave a minute account of the incidents of the battle, in the presence of several intelligent persons. His narrative may be found printed in the Boston Semi-Weekly Advertiser, Juon the Mystic side. Col. Brewer's regiment, numbering about 150 men, was in the open field during the greater part of the engagement.

In the subsequent engagements of the war, this town was duly represented; and not a few of its citizens lost their lives in their country's service. The Records of the town enumerate various instances in which the militia were called out, and in which their services were generously remunerated.* The extent of the charges and sacrifices, at this eventful period, borne by this town, in common with others in the Commonwealth, must be left to conjecture. The distress which pervaded the country, impoverished by harassing and expensive campaigns, and the interruption of regular industry, burthened with debts, and oppressed by a depreciated and almost worthless currency, was a severer trial of the patriotism and virtue of the people, than the threats of despotic power, or the dangers of the battle field.†

SHAY'S REBELLION.

Upon the occurrence of this outbreak against the civil authority, the three companies of the town met, Jan. 15, 1787, to enlist

2. The men who went with Capts. Broad and Trowbridge, 3 mos. to the Jerseys, Nov. 30, 1776.

3. The men who went with Col. Stone and Capt. Gleason to Providence, from May to July, 1777.

4. The men who went to guard the stores at Sherburne, 1777.

5. The men who went with Capt. Winch, to Ticonderoga, and the taking of Burgoyne, Aug., 1777, 4 mos.

6. The men who went with Lt. Drury, on the secret expedition to R. I., Oct., 1777.

7. The men who went with Lt. Claffin, to Cambridge and elsewhere, to guard the public stores.

8. Those who went with Lt. John Eames, 2d, 3 mos., from 1 Jan. 1778, to R. I.

9. Those who went to Cambridge, with Capt. Holmes, to guard the Convention prisoners, Apr., 1778.

13. Those that went with Sargt. Abel Stone, to Providence, Oct., 1778, 3 mos. in service.

To all the above, the town voted bounties, "double 9 times their nominal sum."

† The extent of the depreciation of the currency, in 1790, is indicated in the following extract from the Journal of Dea. Tho. Buckminster: "Dec. 3. Sold 2710 old continental dollars, to Mr. Jonathan Wheeler, Jr., of Grafton, for 2s. 9d. per hundred. Total, £3.14.4."

men for 30 days. Volunteers in sufficient force tendered their services, who rendezvoused at Weston on the 20th, and after more than a month's service, reached home, on their return, the 27th of the following month. This force was composed chiefly of young men, the older remaining behind, ready for service if called for. A body of the latter is said to have proceeded as far as Worcester; but finding that the rebellion had been effectively subdued, soon returned.

ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY OF FRAMINGHAM.

MEETING HOUSES.

THE first meeting house, as we have already noticed, was built before the incorporation of the township, in 1698 or 9; but of its size, construction or cost, no particulars remain to us. It probably was finished but in part, as appears from the following:

March 31, 1700-1. Voted, to gather £10 of money, by way of rate, for the finishing of the meeting house; and that Peter Cloyes, Sen., John Death, Sen., and Jeremiah Pike, Sen., be a committee to employ a carpenter, and lay out this money for the best advantage.*

Sept. 8, 1700-1. Voted, That Mr. Jos. Buckminster should have liberty to set a pew, upon which side of the great doors he pleased, in the meeting house; also voted, that there should be a table made and set in the meeting house, before the Deacon's seats.

Jan. 13, 1701-2. Chose to seat the meeting house, Jeremiah Pike, Sen., John Death, Sen., John Haven, John Town, Sam.

* Oct. 3, 1705, an additional rate of £10 was granted, "for the better finishing of the House; and a still further grant of £15, Apr. 5, 1708,

"towards the finishing of our meeting house, and the payment of sundry debts."

Winch, Peter Cloyes, Sen., Tho. Walker, Josh. Hemenway, and John How.

Voted, to leave to the Committee's discretion, to seat by age or by rate.

Voted, to set up (for) Mr. Swift a pew.

Voted, that there shall be a pew made for those men's wives that sit at the table, at the N. corner of the meeting house.*

March 6, 1709-10. Voted, that there shall be a decent body of seats set upon the meeting house, with a hanging table before the Deacon's seats.

Jan. 8, 1710-11. The Selectmen made arrangements with Tho. Gleason, to repair damage done by the wind to the roof of the meeting house. Expense £2.0.7.

March 24, 1711-2. Voted, that the Selectmen, &c., procure from the Executors of Mr. Danforth's will, a title to the lands on which our publike meeting house standeth, as it is referred (to) in Mr. Buckminster's lease.

March 23, 1714. Voted, that Mr. Edward Goddard, Jona. Rice, and Tho. Drury, be a committee to see if those persons that have pews, will give liberty to have them removed, that so we may have a decent body of seats set up in the body of the meeting house; and to see about the confirmation of the land, given

* The distribution of the members of the congregation, at this period, was a measure demanding great prudence and discretion. The action of the committee was over-ruled in the case of particular individuals, who were allowed, by special favor, to build pews, or hold a particular seat. Jno. Jaquish, 1702, was permitted to build a pew behind the men's seats, on condition of taking care of the meeting house for 7 years. Jeremiah Pike had the same privilege, "provided he cuts a door to come into it, through the end of the meeting house, and takes in two families more with him." In 1705, difficulties arose about the seating new comers. March 24, 1711-2, the town chose Thomas Pratt, Sen., Peter Cloyes, Simon Mellen, John Gleason, Phil. Pratt, Jerem. Pike, and Sam. Stone, "to regulate those disorders, in our publike meeting house, which shall be laid before them." Also "declared by the sign manual of the Inhabitants of Framingham, that the cutting off of seats, or any seat, in the meeting house, and, also, the cutting of Holes through the walls of the aforesaid meeting house, either for doors or windows, or on what pretence soever, without license for the same, obtained of the town; and also the Building or enlarging of Pews in the said meeting house, without the said Town's License, first for the same obtained, are disorders to be regulated by the aforesaid committee." The committee were also empowered, on inspecting the house, "to take away all Pews or enlargements, for which there appears no Grant upon record; and also to repair all breaches on the walls of the meeting house, without the town's license, either cut or broken."

by the Hon. Mr. Danforth, for the use of the town, for setting of a meeting house, and for a burial place, and training place.

April 6, 1715. Voted, that the meeting house be enlarged 10 feet in breadth, on the back side; and that the back part of the house be removed. Granted for the same £70.* Voted, that Tho. Drury, Sen., Jona. Rice, Benj. Bridges, John Whetney, and Edward Goddard, be a committee to agree with Mr. John How for the above repairs, accordingly.†

July 19, 1715. Maj. Jos. Buckminster, John Stone, Jona. Rice, Jos. Pratt, Moses Haven, Jeams Clayce, Dan. Mexer, John Gleason, Jerem. Pike, were chosen the committee to seat the meeting house.

Voted, that their rule for seating be, according to every man's rate or proportion in the £70 granted for the repairing of the meeting house.‡

* Thomas Stone entered his dissent to paying any part of the £70. Mr. How demanded £85 when the work was completed, and in 1720, sued the town for the recovery of his full claim.

† The agreement with Mr. How is recorded as follows: "to remove the back part of the meeting house, with the pulpit and the posts on each side of the pulpit, ten foot backward; thereby making the house square; to place and put on a roof of the same form and workmanship as the Marlboro' meeting house, &c.; to inclose the sides and ends of the ten foot breadth, with good boards and clapboards, the old stuff to be improved as far as it will go; to make and place a good floor, a table and body of seats below, &c. as in Sudbury meeting house; to make galleries and gallery stairs, floors and seats, as the town or their committee shall appoint; to make and place a good floor of joists, for the vault overhead; and to line the same with a good floor of planed boards under the joists; to whitewash the same; to lath, plaster, and whitewash the walls; to provide glass to the value of 40 sh., in addition to what glass there already is, &c; and to make windows, frames and casements for the same; to provide at his own cost all timber, boards, shingles, nails, &c," — the whole to be done "in every respect, strong, substantial, and workmanlike." Aug. 9, 1715, the town "voted to have three doors to the meeting house, one at each end, and the great doors in the foreside, and the rest of the doors to be clapboarded up; that so the house may be kept secure." Pews were allowed to be built by individuals; the required dimensions, in general, being six feet by four and a half or five.

‡ The committee were directed "to have respect but to one single poll in every man's rate, and that rate and age be the two things observed only; and, as for the dignity of the seats, the table and the fore seats are accounted to be the two highest; the front gallery is accounted, in dignity, equal to the second and third seats in the body of the meeting house; and the side gallery is accounted equal to the fourth and fifth seats in the body of the meeting house." Sept. 27th, the town approved "the committee's work" in the seating; and as complaints had been made, voted "that the deacons, viz. Dea. Rice and Dea. Hemmenway, are desired to take special notice of all disorderly persons on the Lord's day, that do not keep to their own seats appointed for them, but keep others out of their seats, whereby the Sabbath is profaned;

SECOND MEETING HOUSE.

Feb. 3, 1724-5. At a meeting called "to determine upon a place where, and the time when, to erect a new meeting house," the meeting was divided upon a motion to remove the place to the centre; "and there appeared a great majority who were for continuing the place." "The question being put whether the town desires to begin to build, the Summer now advancing, and to proceed therein, so as to complete it in about three or four years, or sooner; it passed in the affirmative by a great majority;" twenty-five persons, chiefly from the N. and N.W. parts of the town, entered their dissent against both votes.*

April 19, 1725. "Col. Buckminster and others, proposed to have the exact centre of the town found, and to have the meeting house placed in the nearest convenient place thereto:" on which, the vote being taken, it was declared in the negative. A proposal was then made by Col. Buckminster, "to set the meeting house on the most accommodable place on the E. side of the great hill, which lies W. of the meeting house, &c.; and that himself would procure conveniency of land for a house and ways thereto, on his land lying near the place;" and the vote thereon was in the negative.

Voted, that £100 be granted for and toward the building of a new meeting house. (Nov. 29th, the sum of £100 was added). Chose Caleb Johnson, James Clayes, and John Gleason, to agree with a workman, not being an inhabitant of the town, to build a house, in length 60 feet, and in breadth 50 feet, the height to be suitable to the length and breadth, and for one tier of galleries.†

and that they admonish for their misbehavior in that respect." The house was newly seated in 1722.

It may not be improper to observe here, that during the period of the Indian troubles, (as tradition informs us), it was customary to keep a sentry upon Bear hill, during the hours of public worship, to give alarm upon the approach of Indians.

* Their names were Jos. and Tho. Buckminster, Abr. Belknap, Sen., Eben. Winchester, Ralph Hemenway, Edw. and James Wilson, Sam. Frost, Tompson Woods, Eben. and

Sam. Frissel, Amos and John Parmenter, Jonas Eaton, Uriah and Matthias Clark, Tho. and Daniel Winch, Moses and Jerem. Pike, John Trowbridge, Jona. Jackson, Amos Wait, Timo. Stearns, Isaac How.

† Nov. 29, 1725, the committee, (others having been added), viz: John Whitney, Samuel How, Peter Clayes, John Gleason, James Clayes, Ichabod Hemenway, and Thomas Stone, agreed with Eph. Bigelow, of Holliston, to construct the frame of a house, 60 feet long, 50 feet broad, and 23 feet between the joints, the committee to provide the timber; the contractor to receive £120 bills of credit. (The original is among the papers in the County Clerk's office, Boston).

* May 17, 1725. The town having adjourned to view the place, voted to have the house at the spot indicated by Col. Buckminster, if the N. inhabitants will peaceably fall in; otherwise near the old house. No result following this vote, Col. Buckminster, (probably claiming by his lease, or otherwise, the meeting house land), commenced a cellar, and drew timber upon the same; and the town, Nov. 29, voted to warn him by a committee, to fill the cellar, and remove the timber; and also authorized the use of the pine trees, upon the same land, for the meeting house. Apr. 4, 1726, a vote was passed, to place the house on the S. side of the road from the meeting house to Bear Hill, "near opposite to a place called the square." Col. Buckminster declared "that the land was his, and his resolution to obstruct the setting of a meeting house there." May 16, 1726, the last named place being thought by some "too flat and moist, and also so near the hill, that the shade of the trees would darken it, and another place being proposed and viewed by the town, it was voted that the house be erected there; and that a committee defend the town's title to the land." May 30th, Col. Buckminster proposed to place the house on the E. side of the river, near to Joseph Stone's. The N. inhabitants voted in the affirmative, but the majority in the negative; and the town voted that the house be placed round the present meeting house, and to annul all former votes, and to supply new timber, in the room of that carried away by Col. Buckminster, unless returned at or before the 21st June. July 4th, the town adjourned to view another place; voted to place the house at the W. end, as near the old house as may be.

July 25, Thomas Stone, Joseph Haven, and John Jones, of Hopkinton, were appointed a committee to sue those who had trespassed on the meeting house timber, cutting, carrying it off, and mutilating it. Dec. 12, proposals of agreement were presented to the town, as follows, viz:—"to have the town exactly measured, and the true centre determined, by a skilful surveyor and chainmen, upon oath; and that a line be drawn from said centre to the meeting house, and the new meeting house be set up exactly half way between," as near as the land shall permit, &c. This agreement being satisfactory, Jan. 25, 1726-7, Col. Wm. Dudley was made choice of for surveyor, and Mr. James Brewer and Deacon Fisk, of Sudbury, and Lieut. Samuel Brigham and Ensign Zorobabel Ager, of Marlborough, for chainmen. A proposal, in March, to suspend the survey, was dismissed.—Meanwhile, a petition had been sent from the N. inhabitants, to the General Court, Aug. 26, 1726, praying for a committee to view and report; otherwise, to be set off as a separate precinct; which was answered by a committee of the town: and Dec. 6, 1726, the articles of agreement were confirmed by the Court.

May 26, 1727, the Selectmen publicly notified the town, to give information of any engaged "in putting fire to, and cutting" the meeting house timber. Oct. 13, the Selectmen petitioned the General Court, complaining of "divers unwarrantable actions and proceedings of Jos. Buckminster, Esq., and others, referring to the placing of a meeting house, &c.;" and especially of a warrant given out by Francis Bowman, Esq., for the call of a town meeting clandestinely obtained, which, at their prayer, the Court "superseded." Nov. 17, the town voted to proceed no further, "under their present difficult circumstances;" and granted £4 to repair windows, or set up fallen seats. Eight successive votes were passed by the town, between Sept. 1728 and March 1734, refusing to repair the old house. May 19, 1729, Matth. Gibbs was appointed "to do what is needful to secure the galleries of the meeting house, by raising them, and fastening the pillars." June 18, 1730, Col. Joseph Buckminster was forbidden, by the Selectmen, to dispose of the timber prepared for the new meeting house. June 29th, "Wm. Ballard, Deacon Joshua Hemenway, Peter Clayes, John Whitney, Elkanah Haven, and Thomas Mellen, were chosen to enquire as to the ground of complaint against the town, by Col. Buckminster, for claiming a right to the land, whereon the timber for a meeting house was laid."

March 25, 1734. After debate, the meeting was adjourned for three quarters of an hour, to view several places in nomination to build a new meeting house on. After the people returned, the town voted, "to erect and build a new meeting house at an oak tree, marked, standing on Mr. Wm. Pike's land, at the N. end of Bare Hill. Mr. Pike declared in town meeting, that the town should have two acres of land there for £6 money. The town granted £400 for the object; £200 to be paid in Dec. next, and the other £200 to be paid in April next after.

Dec. 1, 1730, Col. Buckminster made a proposal to the town, to make good all the timber for the meeting house he has made use of, either in his barn frame, or any other way to his private use. The proposal was accepted; after which it was moved to divide the town by the Constable Wards; which was negatived. Jan. 1, 1730-1, a "Petition of Moses Haven, and a great number of the inhabitants of Framingham, living on the E. and S. sides of the river," was presented to the General Court, praying a division of the town. (Court files). Feb. 19, Samuel How and others petitioned the Court to divide the town into two precincts, by a line running S.E. and N.W.; and according to Col. Dudley's platt, to cross the centre of said town. The House passed an order of notice; but the Council non-concurred. (State files). The town refused, Feb. 5, to decide upon a proposal to divide, by an E. and W. centre line. On the 1st of the same month, the town voted not to build at the half-way centre. March 15, the town chose Col. Buckminster, Lt. John Gleason, and Tho. Stone, to prefer a petition to the General Court, to send a committee, to hear all parties, and set out a particular spot for their meeting house. April 19, the town voted, 54 to 15, to build at the place called the square. June 29, voted, 58 to 41, not to build "at Capt. Ward's centre;" also voted, 62 to 45, not to build at the "middle centre." Voted, 55 to 34, not to choose a committee of another town, to stake out a spot. Also voted, 45 to 12, not to ask for a commissioner from the General Court. Dec. 6, the town again voted, 56 to 46, to build on Tredway's land, (near Bear Hill); but refused, Dec. 27, to choose a committee to agree with a workman. After other ineffectual attempts, the question was put, June 27, 1732, whether the town would build on the land of Mr. Wm. Pike, N. side of the road from Bare Hill to his house; and it was negatived. May, 1733, Richard Haven was appointed to secure the galleries from hazard. Jan. 21, 1733-4, Ensign Micah Stone and Edw. Goddard, were chosen to answer the town's presentment respecting the meeting house.

We have now approached the happy end of this prolonged controversy, which appears to have terminated in a disposition to unanimity, as relieving to the reader, as it must have proved to the parties concerned.

May 20. Col. Buckminster, Ens. Pike, and Mr. Caleb Bridges were chosen to agree with a workman, agreeably to the town's instructions, — which were, to build a house, 55 feet long, and 30 feet between the joints, and 40 feet wide, or 42 feet, if the committee shall see cause.

Nov. 11. Voted, to assess £ 14 to pay Mr. Wm. Pike for four acres of land, on which to place the meeting house.

May 19, 1735. Lt. Sam. Moore, Henry Eamms, Amos Gates, Ens. Jos. Stone, Michal Pike, Capt. Buckminster, and Uriah Drury, were chosen a committee, "to provide for the raising of the meeting house." *

July 21, 1735. Voted £ 150 towards the charge of finishing the meeting house.

Oct. 1, 1735. Voted to give the old meeting house frame to Mr. Swift. †

March 8, 1736. William Ballord, Rich. Haven, Henry Eames, John White, and Joshua Hemenway, were appointed to proportion the pews, and to find who the highest payers are; and report to the town. ‡

March 10, 1737-8. Ens. Pike, Messrs. Benj. Treadway, Abr. Rice, Wm. Ballord, and William Pike, were appointed to seat the meeting house. §

* The directions by the town were "to procure one bbl. rum, three bbls. cider, six bbls. beer, with suitable provision of meat, bread, &c. for such, and only such, as labor in raising the meeting house; that the said provisions be dressed at a private house or houses, and that the same, (together with the drink), be so brought to the frame; and if a sufficiency of victual be brought in by particular persons, then that the town in general be not charged for the same; if otherwise, then the committee to procure and pay for the same. July 7, the town granted to this committee £68.19; to the committee for their service, 10s. each; and £2.05 more were expended by the committee."

† Persons had volunteered to take down the old house "on Tuesday, the 12th Aug.;" and the materials were to be sold, as far as not available in the new house.

‡ May 17, the town appointed the ministerial pew as the first on the left hand of the pulpit; and reserved a pew for the town's use, in the N. E. corner. They also designated the particular pews to be occupied by individuals, respectively; "the several persons to enjoy their pews, provided they build the same, and finish the meeting house as high as the lower range of girts, within the space of six months; the backside of the pews to be cilled, by being double-boarded up to the lower part of the windows; and then up to the girts, to be boarded, lathed and plastered, and white washed; and at all times, keep the glass against the pews in good repair; and in case of neglect, to forfeit their pews to the town." Nov. 15, liberty was granted to such as desire it, "to make windows to their pews," under the inspection of the building committee; they, (the owners of pews), to provide glass.

§ The town directed the seating

May 21, 1739. Granted £ 50 for the better finishing of the meeting house.

The same year, several persons were fined £ 5 for cutting the posts of the meeting house, for the convenience of their pews; and £ 20 penalty was ordered, for the like offence in future.

1771. Voted, that the meeting house be new shingled on the back side, and new clapboarded all round, with new doors and sash glass; also that the outside be well painted. Granted £ 80 for the same.*

THIRD MEETING HOUSE.

May 6, 1805. Voted, that the town will build a meeting house at some future day. Voted, that Lt. Abner Wheeler, Lt. John Eames, Messrs. John Park, James Wilson, Josiah Clayes, and James Morse, Lt. Joshua Trowbridge, Capt. Sam. Frost, and Capt. Josiah Stone, be a committee to locate the ground where the said house shall be erected.

Voted, that Eli Bullard, Esq., Col. David Brewer, and Lt. Abner Wheeler, be a committee to consider when the house shall be built, its size, and the manner of erecting it, whether by individuals or the town; to obtain plans, and receive proposals. The above committees reported in May. The first proposed to build near the gun house, on the town's land. The town adjourned to view the spot, and accepted the recommendation.

The other committee reported, that the house should be 76 by 68 feet, with a tower at one end and a porch at the other; and that it should be built by the town, in 1807. The whole expense was estimated at $ 13.000, and they proposed to raise the sum of according to each one's proportion of all the taxes assessed for the meeting house; that to those arriving at sixty years of age, should be added 4d. per year to each one's rates; and that the seats be dignified as in the old meeting house, till they come to the fifth seat below; and the rest to fall in successively. May 22, 1738, voted that Mr. Thos. Mellen and Mr. Benj. Nurse be seated in the deacons' seats; Mr. James Clayes, in the second seat in the body of seats; and Mr. Tho. Eames in the fore seat in the side gallery. May 20, 1754, and March 1, 1762, committees were appointed to new seat the house, upon similar rules as before. Dec. 18, 1788, the assessors were chosen to seat the meeting house anew. After this period, all notice of this ancient practice ceases.

* The second meeting house was three stories high, with double galleries; and was placed a few rods to the S. (a little E.), of the third meeting house, just replaced by a new one, on the same site.

$ 2000. The report was accepted, excepting the part relating to the size and form.

May, 1806. The town directed, that the dimensions of the building should be 65 feet square; and voted to have a tower only, (and not a porch).

Nov. 18. A committee was appointed to estimate the difference of cost between brick and wood; and upon their report, the town voted to build of wood.

May 6, 1805. Col. David Brewer, Lt. Abner Wheeler, and Eli Bullard, Esq., were chosen agents of the town, with full powers to carry their votes into effect.

March 2, 1807. The town reconsidered their vote as to the location, and voted to purchase a certain tract of land of Messrs. Martin and Nathan Stone, and also of Capt. Simon Edgel, and to set said new meeting house thereon; and chose a committee to procure deeds of the same.

May 4, 1807. Voted, that the selectmen dispose of the privilege of selling liquors on the common during the time of raising the new meeting house.

May 26, 1807. Began to raise the meeting house. 1 June, finished raising it.*

1807. The town authorized a committee to purchase of Capt. Edgell sufficient land for stable ground, and to mark out a plan.

In 1810 the following correspondence, (on record), accompanied an act of liberality which deserves honorable notice, and commends the piety and public spirit of the generous donor.

FRAMINGHAM, MAY 7, 1810.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Framingham, assembled in Town Meeting:—

GENTLEMEN:—Having arrived at an advanced period of life, and being sensible that I must soon be numbered with the dead, I often think of the place in which my existence was begun, and which has been my home, through infancy, manhood and age. In reviewing the

* The Meeting House was dedicated Feb. 24, 1808; on which occasion a discourse was preached by the Pastor, the Rev. David Kellogg, from Haggai ii. 7. "And I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come; and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of Hosts." The Discourse was appropriate to the occasion, and contained several forcible passages. The pews, which had been appraised at $12,300, (the aggregate expense of the house, including the bell, having been $12,913 01), were sold at auction, Jan. 11, 1808, by John Fiske, for $14,884. The contractors for building the house were David Brooks of Prince-progress of my past years, a thousand incidents unite to endear to my heart the spot of my nativity, and the Town of Framingham; and while I express my affection for my fellow townsmen, I recollect with the deepest gratitude, the bounties of an all-kind God, who, by giving me something more than a competency, has put it in my power to prove the sincerity of my professions, by a small donation. Among the numerous blessings of life, I have ever considered as one of the greatest, that the preaching of the Gospel, and the public worship of our Maker, have been continued among us, with regularity and order. To encourage the continuance of this laudable practice, and to add dignity and solemnity thereto, it was my intention to have furnished the Meeting House, which has lately been erected, with a public Bell; and although I have delayed to execute the intention, until a Bell has been otherwise procured, yet I am still desirous it should be considered a present from me. For which purpose, I request you to accept the sum of four hundred and thirty-seven dollars, and sixty-four cents, which I have deposited in your Treasury, being the original cost of the bell.

Permit me, Gentlemen, to express my earnest wishes for the peace and prosperity of my native Town, and to add my most ardent hope, that the weekly knell which shall call us to devotion, may have a happy agency, in preparing us for a joyful meeting in the eternal world.

MICAH STONE.

Which being read, voted, unanimously, that the Inhabitants of Framingham highly value, and sincerely reciprocate, the friendly and affectionate sentiments expressed in the letter of Micah Stone, Esq., this day received, and request him to accept their thanks for his generous donation; and while they lament the probability, that the life and usefulness of their much respected and beloved fellow townsman, will soon be at an end, they have the satisfaction to believe, as they most ardently hope, that the evening of his days will be unclouded, and afford him a joyful prospect of a brighter day, in the eternal world: and they cannot but anticipate with pleasure, that the weekly knell which shall call them to devotion, will also remind them of the virtues and example of a departed friend.

And in order to manifest their gratitude for the generosity, and their respect for the character, of Colonel Stone, the Selectmen are directed to cause the bell to be rung on his birth day, during his life, and to be tolled, for a suitable time, at his death; and the Town Clerk is also directed to file and record his letter, and to furnish him with an attested copy of this vote.

The third meeting house was built in a style of elegance for its day, and for many years was the place of assemblage for almost ton, and Mr. Warren of Charlestown. May 23, 1803, the Town voted to build a Town House out of the old Meeting House, the expense not to exceed $500. In 1820 was passed a vote to paint the Meeting House; and an unsuccessful attempt was made to procure stoves for the same. In 1823, the sum of $150 was granted to procure stoves for the Meeting House, and also a stove for the Town House.

the entire community, who worshipped together within its walls. Notwithstanding its great dimensions, it was frequently crowded, and many recall with pleasure, mingled with regret, the recollections of that golden age, when through this ample town there was but one fold and one shepherd. The unavoidable revolutions of opinion have since multiplied the churches of this, as of other towns; a result not to be deplored, so long as a generous toleration and Christian charity shall allay all party jealousy, and the only rivalry or contention shall be for noble and worthy ends.*

MINISTERS OF FRAMINGHAM.

The precise date of the first preaching in this town is unknown. The earliest notice on the Records, is given the 21st of Aug. 1700; when it was voted by the town, that if Mr. John Swift, of Milton, continues to live with us, to be a settled minister among us, that then he shall have, for his own proper use, 100 acres of land, and 10 acres of meadow.†

May 13, 1701. Chose Peter Cloyes, Sen., Benj. Bridges, John How, John Haven, John Town, and Sam. Winch, to go to three ordained ministers for their opinion, whether Mr. John Swift be a person well qualified for the work of the ministry, according as the law directs.‡

* The house above referred to, was taken down in August, 1846; and a new and more elegant one in the Gothic style, is now being erected upon its site. The building Committee are Messrs. Josiah Stedman, Moses Edgell, William H. Knight, Rufus Brewer, Simon Whitney, Increase S. Wheeler, and George Phipps.

† The town also voted, to give Mr. Swift £60 in money, yearly, and find him in his wood; to fence in 20 acres, and break up 10 acres of land, and also to give £100 towards the building of a house, one-fifth of the same in money. They also voted to raise the salary, by a rate; "and it shall be paid by contribution, every man to paper his money; and that which is not papered, to be accounted as strangers' money." David Rice and John How were appointed to receive the contribution money, and pay it to Mr. Swift every week, and keep an account of every man's money.

Mr. Swift appears to have received just before this period, an invitation from Marlborough. "July 12, (1700), voted, unanimously, by church and town, to invite Mr. Swift to help with our present pastor, (Rev. Wm. Brinsmead), if God shall raise him up." Marl. Rec.

‡ The committee applied to Rev. James Sherman, of Sudbury, Rev. Grindal Rawson, of Mendon, and Rev. William Brattle, of Cambridge, who gave a full testimonial of Mr. Swift's qualifications, which is placed upon record. Mr. Swift appears to have continued his labors from Aug., 1700, to the time of his ordination.

May 22. Legally voted, to give a call to Mr. John Swift, of Milton, to abide and settle with us as our legal minister. Chose Abial Lamb, Dav. Rice, Benj. Bridges, John Haven, John Town, Peter Cloyes, Sen., Sam. Winch, and Tho. Drury, to give the call.

The only account existing of the ordination of Mr. Swift, and the institution of the church, is contained in the following memorandum, by Mr. Bridge, in the Records of the Church; viz:—

FRAMINGHAM, OCT. 8, 1801.

Then a church was embodied in this place, consisting of 18 members, over which the Rev. Mr. John Swift was ordained, (the same day), a Pastor. The names of those who (laid the) foundation of said church, were these, viz:—Henry Rice, Dn. David Rice, Dn. Joshua Hemmingway, Thomas Drury, Thomas Walker, John How, Simon Mellen, Peter Cloice, Benj. Bridges, Caleb Bridges, Thomas Mellen, Benj. Nurse, Sam'l Winch, Thomas Frost, John Haven, Isaac Bowen, Stephen Jennings, Nath. Haven.

The Covenant of said church was as follows:

We do, under a soul-humbling and abasing sense of our utter unworthiness of so great and high a privilege, as God is graciously putting into our hands, accept of God, the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, for our God, in covenant with us; and do give up ourselves and our seed, according to the terms of the everlasting covenant, to be his, under most sacred and inviolable bonds; promising, by the help of his grace and strength, (without which we can do nothing), that we will walk together in a church state, as becomes saints, according to the rules of his holy word; submitting ourselves and seed unto the government of the Lord Jesus Christ, as King of his church; (afterwards it was added), and to the watch and discipline of this church—managing ourselves towards God and man, all in civil and sacred authority, as those ought, who are under the teachings of God's Holy Word and Spirit; alike declaring it to be our resolution, that we will, in all things, wherein we may fall short of duty, wait upon God, for pardoning mercy and grace, in and through our dear Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To whom be glory forever. Amen.

To persons, upon their admission into the church, it was said:—And we, the church of Christ in this place, do promise to carry it towards you, as a church of Christ ought, to its particular members, according to the rule of God's Holy Word. This we also promise, in and through our dear Lord Jesus Christ. To whom be glory forever.*

the above mentioned covenant, as became a Wise, Faithful, Religious and Prudent Pastor, and Departed this Life, (much lamented), April ye 24, 1745."

The above Covenant has been preserved in substance in the 1st church

May 18, 1702. The town quit-claimed to Mr. Swift the tract of land in his possession.*

The Records of the Church during the ministry of Mr. Swift being lost, the remaining sources of information illustrating its history, are scanty. A private journal, in the form of a Sabbath Diary, kept by Mr. Swift, and extending from Dec. 30, 1716, to July 14, 1728, is preserved to us; in which allusions are made to passing events, and which supplies, to some extent, the lost records, (if such have existed).†

The only event of particular interest recorded in this volume, was connected with one of the Deacons of the church; about which, in 1719, the "advice of the Elders at Boston," was received and complied with; though not to the peaceable adjustment of the difficulty. Feb. 12, 1722, a council convened at Framingham, whose result was read the following Sabbath. The 18th of Aug. following, full satisfaction was given by Deacon Hemenway, the individual referred to, and the peace of the church was restored.

About the year 1726, appeared the first known indications of a contentious spirit in the church, which was destined to disturb its harmony through a course of years: and which resulted, at length, in a temporary division of the parish. The origin of the unhappy breach is clearly traced to an individual of conspicuous zeal, formerly of the old church in Boston, (Capt. Edward Goddard), who entertained high notions of the importance and authority of the office of Ruling Elder, in which he found little sympathy from the pastor of this church. Having succeeded in attaching a number of adherents to his particular views, (in 1732 to the present time. It was adopted by the churches of Hopkinton, Oxford, Acton, and perhaps others; in the Records of some of which, it is found recorded in the hand writing of Mr. Swift. No doctrinal confession appears upon the Records of this church, during the entire period of its existence.

* The above is described as beginning at the W. end of the Bridge over Sudbury River; thence to the N. end of Duck Pond at the E. end of Mr. S.'s house; thence N.W. to John Town's land; thence S. to Sudbury River; thence E. and N.E. to the afore said Bridge. Also a piece of meadow on the N. side of the (then) Meeting House. Also a piece of do. N. of Bare Hill. Sept. 16, 1702, a Rate of £10 was ordered "for breaking up our Rev. Pastor's land." Oct. 3, 1705, the Town voted £20 to cross-plow the same, and break up, the next June, as much as will make 15 acres, and cross-plow it in the fall of the leaf next after."

about 16 persons), he with others sought admission into the church of Hopkinton.* Mr. Swift asked advice of the Boston Association, the nature of which, (if given), is unknown. The withdrawal of a considerable number of the members of his church, under such circumstances, must have contributed, in its results to the peace of the town and the church in succeeding years, in hastening the declining health of Mr. Swift, already worn by domestic affliction.

June 29, 1741. The town dismissed the matter in the warrant, relative to the settlement of another minister, while Mr. Swift is living.

March 7, 1742-3. Voted by the town, that there be a monthly lecture set up, according to Mr. Swift's writing, sent into the town meeting.

Aug. 13, 1743. At a meeting, "to see if the town will come into some method to provide help for Mr. Swift, he being unable to preach," Deac. Adams and Mr. Caleb Bridges were chosen to wait on the Rev. Mr. Swift, to advise with him; and Deac. Adams and Deac. Pike to supply the pulpit for the present.

March 5, 1743-4. Voted, to proceed to proper methods in order to settle a minister with the Rev. Mr. Swift at this time: and Eus. Stone, Deac. Balch, and Mr. Joseph Haven, were chosen, "to provide suitable gentlemen to supply the pulpit in order for settlement."

Feb. 6, 1744-5. At a meeting "to see if the town would concur with the church's vote in choosing Mr. John Newman to be their minister, it passed in the Negative."

April 24, 1745. The Rev. Mr. Swift departed this life.

The Rev. John Swift was born in Milton, March 14, 1678-9. and was son of Thomas and Elizabeth Swift. He was grandson of

* From the Ch. Rec. of Hopkinton, it appears that Edw. Goddard, Tho. Mellen, Benj. Whitney, Simon Mellen, Richard Haven, and Simon Goddard were received from Framingham, Jan. 10, 1732-3. Others applied afterwards, which led to the convention of a council in that town, in 1735, upon the result of which, Dea. Josh. Hemenway, Wm. Ballard, Elk. and Moses Haven, Moses Haven, Jr., and Joshua Hemenway, Jr., were received Sept. 19, 1735. May 26, 1737, Susannah Goddard, Esther and Abigail Mellen, Susannah Drury, Abigail Hemenway, and Susannah Goddard, Jr., were, in like manner, received from this church. Sept. 20th, Nero, Mr. Swift's servant, also applied for admission.

The action of the church at Hopkinton, in receiving the members of Framingham, appears to have produced great disaffection and division for several years, in that church. Vide the Hop. Ch. Rec.

Thomas Swift, who came over with the first settlers in Dorchester in 1630; and when the greater part of them removed to Connecticut, in 1635, he remained behind. Mr. John Swift was educated at Harvard College, where he graduated in 1697, and was ordained at Framingham, Oct. 8, 1701. He soon after was married to Sarah, daughter of Timothy and Sarah Tileston, of Dorchester; by whom he had six children. His only son, John, a graduate of Harvard College, was ordained over the church at Acton. His ministry in this town, as far as is known to us, was conducted with faithfulness and prudence; and not a notice occurs, in all the transactions of the town and church, in any degree qualifying the respect and estimation in which he was held. He was, on many occasions, called to act in council with other ministers,* where his judgment and discretion were highly approved. The advice of his church, in some instances, was sought from abroad; and he frequently preached at fasts, instituted on particular occasions, in other churches. He notices his preaching the Thursday lecture, in the place of Mr. Checkly, April 20, 1727; and on the 31 May, 1732, he preached the annual election sermon, which was printed. Of his ability as a preacher, we have no means of judging. His printed sermons are marked with a pure and classical taste. He was free from all affectation of style as well as extravagance of zeal, or rashness of opinion. The subjects of his ordinary pulpit discourse, (as one may infer from his own Diary), were often suggested by passing events. Some of these discourses bear marks of extemporaneous composition. Thus he notes on one occasion, his preaching from the words, "The voice of the Lord is upon the waters; the God of glory thundereth;" adding, "it being a day of thunder." On another, "Behold! this day I am going the way of all the earth;" with an allusion to a neighbor, who was then dying. A day of extreme severity suggested the text, "Who can stand before his cold;" and a few weeks later, doubtless while the snow drifted through the crevices of the ancient and dilapidated meeting

* Nineteen instances are noticed in his journal, in the space of about eight years. Besides Councils of Ordination, he attended a Council at Woodstock 1719, at Worcester and Westboro' 1720, at Watertown and house, the motto of his sermon was, a "covert from the storm." The halt of a detachment of soldiers in the village, proceeding to the eastward, induced him to discourse from the words, "a devout soldier." And again, "it being a very rainy day," with rare felicity, he adopted for his text the appropriate verse, "For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God; but that which beareth thorns and briars is rejected, whose end is to be burned."

During the contentions, which must have been sorely harassing to the church and himself, in the latter part of his ministry, he (if we may judge from a letter to the Rev. Dr. Colman, of Boston, in our possession, and his own memoranda), bore himself with singular candor, calmness, and discretion. It was a time marked by not a little pretension in individuals ambitious of notoriety, and arrogating superior light and grace. The following extract from a funeral discourse on the excellent Mr. Breck of Marlboro', in 1731, will exhibit his style as a writer, and the light in which he regarded his own profession.

"You have lost a learned Teacher or Instructor. It hath been observed that religion and learning revived in the world together; that the light that Erasmus brought into the schools, helped Luther's labors in the church. 'Tis the sophistry of the Devil to decry humane learning in the ministry. There is a generation who call themselves the children of light; who cry down a learned ministry as needless; and pretend that their own knowledge of the word of God, (such as it is), like Jacob's vision, is by the Lord brought to their hands. But you find that when Christ sent forth his apostles, rather than they should want learning, he miraculously gave them the gift of Tongues, and doubtless all the humane learning therewith that they needed. Moses was skilled in all the learning of the Egyptians. St. Paul was brought up at the feet of Gamaliel, and was able out of Aratus, Anacreon, Menander, and Epimenides, to confute the Heathen Poets. Heaven gave to this, his servant that you have lost, such powers, on which he made such improvements in learning, as that he was a grace to that Academy where he had his education."

Mr. Swift was a member of the ministerial association of this vicinity, (afterwards called the Marlborough Association), whose first meeting for organization was held at his house, June 5, 1725.*

* This association was formed to advance the interest of Christ, the "with (the) design and aim herein service of their respective charges,

Numerous attestations exist to the estimation in which he was held by his professional brethren, which led to the remark by the late Rev. Dr. Harris, to the writer of this sketch, that he was “a wise counsellor and a good man, of a well cultivated mind, and held in great esteem in the churches.” He appears to have experienced severe domestic affliction; his wife having, for several years, been subject to mental alienation; at which period, he received substantial evidence of the sympathy and consideration of his people.* During the last four years of his life, the failure of his health disabled him, a large part of the time, from professional service; and after a protracted illness, he expired the 24th April, 1745; having ministered to this people for the space of near 45 years, and in the 44th year from his ordination. As a mark of respect for his long and faithful services, the town voted, Sept. 2, 1746, a grant of “£125, old tenor, to defray the funeral charges of their late Reverend Pastor, and to purchase a decent Tomb-stone.”† An appropriate monument was accordingly erected, and the inscription, in Latin, upon the following page, was placed upon the slab.

and their own mutual edification in their great work.” They agreed to meet four times in a year, choose a moderator and clerk from time to time, &c. The articles were then signed by John Prentice, “	Lancaster.

Israel Loring, “	W. Sudbury.
Job Cushing, “	Shrewsbury.
John Gardner, “	Stow.

In process of time, the association became so numerous, and the members at so great a distance, that it spontaneously divided, Aug. 10, 1762. See 1 M. Hist. Coll. x. 89.

* The sickness of Mr. Swift's family obliged him to erect a building for a study, remote from his house, which was built near the present house of Col. Hastings. It was the building occupied by the French family, before spoken of; and was subsequently removed near the bridge, and was occupied by Mr. Gregory as a store. March 12, 1712-3, the town voted to add £10 to his salary, “his family being visited by sickness.” Mr. Swift's salary, during the principal part of his ministry, was £70. Various grants were made to him, by reason of the depreciation of the currency; and in one instance “in consideration of provisions being dear.” Historical truth obliges us to add, that in 1733, such was the amount of his arrearages, (arising probably from the great number of seceding members), that the case was carried to the Court of Sessions.

† It is to be regretted, that for some years, this monument has been in a dilapidated state, by reason of which the slab has been broken, and mutilated. The thoughtful liberality of an individual has partially restored the structure, which, it is hoped, may yet be preserved, with a due respect for the honored dead.

In the Boston Evening Post of May 13th, 1745, we find the following notice of his death:

Framingham, May 8. On the 24th of the last month, died here, after a long and tedious indisposition, the Rev. Mr. John Swift, the first Pastor of the church in this place, in the 67th year of his age, and the 45th of his ministry. As he was a gentleman of considerable natural powers, so he acquired a considerable degree of human knowledge and useful learning. He particularly excelled in Rhetoric and Oratory, and as a critic in the Greek language. His piety was sincere and eminent. His preaching was sound and evangelical. As a Pastor, he was diligent, faithful and prudent; and in his conversation, he was sober, grave, and profitable, yet affable, courteous, and pleasant. He was a lover of hospitality; and kept his heart and his house open to all good people. When he received injuries at any time, he bore them with singular discretion and meekness; and the various trials and sorrows with which he was exercised, especially in the latter part of his life, gave occasion for showing forth his wisdom, humility, patience and resignation to the divine will. He was had in high esteem by the Association to which he belonged, and respected by all who had any acquaintance with his real character and merits.

Two discourses by Mr. Swift were printed, and are preserved in the library of the Mass. Historical Society.

I. A funeral discourse, delivered at Marlborough, on occasion of the death of the Reverend and learned Mr. Robert Breck, late Pastor of the church there; who died Jan. 6, 1730-31, in the 49th year of his age. By John Swift, A. M., Pastor of the church in Framingham. Boston, N. E.: Printed by J. Kneeland and T. Green, 1731.

II. A sermon preached at Boston, before the Great and General Assembly of the Prov. of the Mass. Bay, in N. E., May 31, 1732; being the Anniversary for the election of his Majesty's Council for the Province, by John Swift, M. A., and Pastor of the church in Framingham. Printed at Boston, in N. E., by B. Green, 1732.

After the decease of Mr. Swift, a call was given to Mr. William Vinal, by the church; in which the town voted to concur, June 25, 1745; but the following day, they voted, "that they will not make any grant for the settlement, or the salary of the said Mr. Vinal;" and the 15th July following, the selectmen were appointed to inform Mr. Vinal of the votes passed at their last meeting.

THE SETTLEMENT OF REV. MATTHEW BRIDGE.

Dec. 2, 1745. The town voted to "concur with the church, in their choice of Mr. Matthew Bridge to be their minister;" at the same time voting to grant, as his yearly salary, £260, old tenor bills of public credit, or that which shall be equivalent, to the acceptance of Mr. Bridge; also, a settlement of £600, old tenor.*

Jan. 20, 1745-6. The town voted that Wednesday, come four weeks, be the day appointed for the ordination; and that provision be made at the house of Mr. Jos. Stone, for the ministers, messengers, &c.†

The ordination of Mr. Bridge took place on the 19th Feb. 1745-6; the council having been invited to assemble at 12

* Mr. Bridge's salary was, in general, £80 lawful money. In 1748, £140, old tenor, was granted to him, in addition to his salary, "in consideration of the great rise in the necessities of life."

† Messrs. Amos Gates, Hezekiah Rice, Henry Emms, Eben. Winchester, Abraham Rice, Francis Moquet, and Stephen Jennings, were chosen by the town, to provide for the ordination; Messrs. Caleb Bridges, Jr., and John Jones, Jr., to "strengthen the meeting house;" and Messrs. Ezek. Rice, James Clayes, Jr., Gideon Bridges, John Bent, Jr., Phinehas Rice and Timo. Stearns, "to take care of the meeting upon the ordination day." March 3, the sum of £109.8.2 was granted to pay the charges of the ordination.

o'clock, on the day preceding.* At a meeting of the church on the 18th, Col. Buckminster, Ens. Stone, Deacons Adams and Pike, and Mr. Bridges, were chosen "to be the mouth of the church to the Council." The day following, at an adjournment of the church, (the Rev. Oliver Peabody presiding), Mr. Bridge was formally voted and admitted a member of the church in Framingham. The only questions submitted to Mr. Bridge, which appear on record, regarded: 1. His intention to conduct himself according to "the congregational principles of church discipline and the platform of the same, and the general practice of these churches;" 2nd. His willingness, "in any matter of importance, to take the vote (of the church) by uplifted hands;" both of which having been answered in the affirmative, the church, by a "great majority," expressed their satisfaction.

The proceedings of the council not being placed on Record, the particular action of that body is unknown. From papers, probably authentic, we learn, that the elements of dissatisfaction, before noticed, far from being allayed, had spread more widely, and assumed an attitude of open opposition. The dissensions experienced here, were shared with other parts of New England; and the preaching of Mr. Whitefield in the town, the preceding summer, served doubtless to fan the flame of division.†

The following Declaration was prepared, and submitted to the Council, for the ordination of Mr. Bridge.‡

To the Rev. and Hon. Elders, and Messengers of the churches, chosen by the church of Framingham, to assist in the ordination of the Rev. Mr. Bridge:

* The ministers, (with their churches), invited, were Rev. Messrs. Hancock, of Lexington, Appleton, of Cambridge, Loring, of Sudbury, Peabody, of Natick, Williams, of Weston, Cook, of Sudbury, Turell, of Medford, Porter, of Sherburne, Stone, of Southborough, Williams, of Waltham, Barrett, of Hopkinton, and Swift, of Acton. It was proposed to the church, to invite Messrs. Sewall and Prince; but the vote was passed in the negative.

† From a religious diary kept by

Mr. Ebenezer Goddard, of Framingham, we extract the following: "July ye 5, 1745, that dear servant of God, Mr. Whitefield, preached at Framingham." It is said that he preached in a barn.

‡ The above is taken from a printed vindication, which, from the initials, (E. G.), appended to it, we may presume to have proceeded from the hands of Capt. Edward Goddard. The part in italics is so printed in the original.

gently observed the scope and tenor of Mr. Bridge's preaching, while under Tryal, do hereby declare our great dissatisfaction therewith; for that many such doctrines, as we esteem to be of the greatest importance, are wholly omitted, or, at best, slightly touched on, in his sermon — particularly the doctrine of Original Sin; the imputation of it; the total loss of the Image of God in the fall of Adam; the wrath and curse of God consequent thereon; the Freeness and Sovereignty of Divine Grace, in electing some to everlasting Life, and the provision made in the way of the New Covenant, for their Salvation by Jesus Christ; the Nature and Necessity of Regeneration, and an Almighty Power of the Spirit of God, for the production of the New Creature, and renewing the Image of God upon the Soul in Sanctification; the nature of that Faith whereby the Souls of Believers are united to Christ; the Doctrines which relate to the Person, Natures and offices of Christ; the way of a Sinner's Justification, by the Imputation of the Righteousness of Christ; as also, those discriminating Doctrines, which shew the difference between that Faith, that Repentance, and that Obedience, which is merely legal, superficial and servile, and that which is evangelical. And though we neither did nor could reasonably expect, that all these Doctrines could be distinctly insisted on, opened and applied in a short space of Time, yet it is to us inconceivable, how any one who approves of, and has a relish for, such doctrines, could, in his preaching so many sermons, (as Mr. Bridge did before his choice), keep such Doctrines under concealment, so as not (at least) to say enough upon them, to distinguish his Doctrines from such schemes of Doctrine, as are calculated to explode or enervate all the soul-humbling and Christ-exalting doctrines of the Gospel.

On this account we desire that this venerable Council will consider us, as wholly dissenting in the settlement and ordination of Mr. Bridge, and countenance us in our just plea of Liberty, to hear and judge for ourselves, and to try the Doctrines we hear, by the Holy Scriptures, the only Standard of Truth, and Rule of Faith and Practice; and to provide and attend a publick ministry, which may be agreeable to our Understanding of those Sacred Oracles, especially, since it is no new or strange Doctrine which we desire to adhere to, but the pure Doctrines of the Gospel, as we find them avowed in the Assembly's Catechism and the Confession of Faith, owned and consented to by the Elders and Messengers of the Churches, met at Boston, anno. 1680. And for the Settlement of such a Ministry, we have determined to use all proper Endeavors, and desire your Prayers for success therein. And subscribe, Your brethren and humble servants,

"The ordination of Mr. Bridge being accomplished,* the dissenting party applied for, and obtained advice of, a council of churches, pursuant to which, a number of them were embodied into a church." This event took place probably between the months of April and November of the same year; † after which, the new church invited Mr. Solomon Reed to become their pastor, who was instituted in his office in the month of January, 1746-7, by an ordaining council, regularly convened. Probably soon after the organization of the church, a meeting house was built on the Southborough road, near the house of Mr. Joseph Morse. The Records of this church are lost; and from the long interval which has elapsed since its discontinuance, there are none living who possess any personal knowledge of its history. From the Records of the town, it appears that repeated applications were made by the supporters of Mr. Reed, to be discharged from all taxes for the maintenance of the first church; and upon the refusal of the town to grant their prayer, unavailing petitions for relief were presented to the General Court.‡

* Mr. Bridge's notice of the event states that he was ordained "upon the old Foundation."

† As early as April 2, Nathan, James and John Haven, Dan. Brewer, and Eb. Singleterry, desired a dismission to form a second church, which the church refused. May 2, their request was repeated (in which they were joined by Joseph Haven and James Cook), but unanimously refused. Nov. 17, Eliz. and Abigail Mellens, Lydia, Silence, Mehitable, Sarah, Mehitable, Lydia and Mehitable Haven, Mary Munsell and Hannah Mayhew, applied for a recommendation to the second church; and a Committee was appointed to take advice upon the subject. Mr. Bridge notes, that before the Committee was able to report, the party were embodied. The following April, "eighteen sisters," of the first church, applied for dismission and recommendation to the second church, which is the last similar application noticed.

‡ March 2, 1746-7. The Town rejected the petition of Edward Goddard Esq., to be released from all assessments for Mr. Bridge's Settlement and salary. March 20, a Committee was chosen to make answer to the complainants' prayer for relief, to the General Court. March 6, 1748-9, it was proposed to the Town, either to release the petitioners from assessments for Mr. Bridge's support, or that the town collectively maintain both ministers. "After a large debate," the proposition was negatived. Nov. 27, 1749, Edward Goddard and forty-two others renewed their prayer for a discharge from the Parish Rates, or a reference to arbitrators; both of which proposals were rejected. March 5, 1749-50, the same prayer was submitted, with a proposition to submit the matter in dispute to a council of Ministers. The Town persisted in their refusal to accommodation. September 6, of the same year, the Town "refused" to make a grant of money to Mr. Caleb Bridges Jun., in consideration of his extraordinary trouble in collecting his rates the year past. In 1752, Edward Goddard, Ralph Hemenway, Thomas Temple, Eben. Goddard, and William Brown, commissioners for the second church in Framingham, petitioned the General Court for relief, "not being able, by po-

By the decease, in 1754, of Mr. Goddard, whose name and influence seem to have been predominant in all the movements of the new church, the society sustained a severe loss, which probably hastened, if it did not cause, its early extinction. The precise time of its dissolution is unknown. The dismissal of Mr. Reed probably occurred towards the latter part of the year 1756 : * but no general movement was made towards a reconciliation with the first church, until a few years later.

The Rev. Solomon Reed, minister of the second church, was born in the town of Abington, about the year 1718, and was educated at Harvard College, where he graduated in 1739. He was ordained over the second church in Framingham, in Jan. 1746-7, and was probably soon after married to Abigail Houghton, of Connecticut, by whom he had five children during his residence in this place, one of whom was the late Rev. John Reed, D.D. pastor in Bridgewater, and a Representative in the Congress of the United States.† He remained in the ministry in this town, until the year 1756 ; after which, he was installed in the North Parish of Middleborough, called the Titicut Parish, (composed partly of inhabitants of Middleborough and partly of inhabitants of Bridgewater), where he remained until he died, about the year 1785. He appears to have been held in much consideration by his people in this place, among whom he was settled, (in the words of Mr. Goddard), to "the great satisfaction of the society."‡ A descendant§ writes, that "he was esteemed an able, pure, zealous, devout preacher of the Orthodox order, was highly sition, to have a separate precinct," and representing themselves as not making up one fifth of the inhabitants of the Town. (Court Files). The Court gave them no relief.

* A church meeting was held Nov. 4, 1756, to consider the petition of Mr. Moses Haven, "to return to his duty and privileges with the Church." "Voted, every man as one, that since Mr. M. H. had no other objection against returning, but his relations to the Society, termed Mr. Reed's Church, which relation he was apprehensive would soon be dissolved, therefore it was prudence for him to wait, till he were satisfied how that affair would turn."

‡ In the printed paper before referred to, Mr. Goddard says, "I am persuaded that there are a number of upright Nathaniels in that Society, (the second), who meet with such precious cordials under Mr. Reed's ministry, as they would not exchange for all the Riches, Honors, and Pleasures of this world."

§ The Hon. John Reed, Lt. Governor of this Commonwealth, to whose obliging attention we are indebted for some of the above particulars.

respected and esteemed by his society, and lived a quiet and peaceable life. He instructed and prepared in his family, as the custom then was, a considerable number of young men for college.*

After the retirement of Mr. Reed from his ministry in the second church, no definite overtures towards a restoration of peace and harmony appear, until June 4, 1759.† At this time the first church, “having some months past come to a resolution that such as had lately been of Mr. Reed’s party, and were now desirous to return, and profess to do so, in full charity, should be heartily welcome, but finding that motion insufficient with respect to a number,” voted to send them a letter, inviting them to join in a mutual council, which was sent by the hands of Dea. Pike and Mr. Moses Haven. A reply was received, proposing a mutual conference, which was held July 10; when it was “unanimously agreed to by both parties, that a council be called, and that each society or church be allowed to bring every thing into the council, (when convened), that the council will receive.”‡

Sept. 18. The council convened, of whose action and decision it is recorded, that “the council went into a full hearing of the reasons or objections that the said church and society had to offer, against submitting to Mr. Bridge as their minister, and unanimously came to a result, in which their objections are judged insufficient. They are advised and urged to return to their union with the said church, and the said church are advised to receive them.”§

* From all accounts it seems probable that Mr. Reed, in his early manhood, engaged warmly in the new movement, which at that period agitated the New England churches, and whose adherents were denominated New-Lights. An anecdote of him in this connection is still preserved among the aged. Being interrogated by some members of the first church as to his religious sentiments, one of the company categorically demanded if he was a “New-Light?” Mr. Reed promptly answered, “No — I am not a New Light; I am an old light new snuffed,” a witticism, which bears comparison with the well known saying of Dr. Byles, that he had heard much said of New Lights; he would like to hear more of New Livers.

† In March, of the same year, the town “negatived the request of Tho. Temple, Eben. Goddard, and others, to draw out of the town treasury,” their assessment for the support of the ministry, “for the encouragement of the second church.”

‡ The ministers, (with their churches), agreed upon to constitute the council, were the Rev. Messrs. Pemberton, of Boston, Dunbar, of Stoughton, Stone, of Southborough, Wells, of Attleborough, Hutchinson, of Grafton, Eliot, of Boston, and Wigglesworth, of Ipswich. The Record states, that all the votes, at the above meeting, “were passed with an entire and sweet unanimity.”

July 11, 1754. "A vote was passed by the church, desiring seven brethren, viz. John Clayes, Benj. Pepper, John Farrar, Bezaleel and David Rice, Sam. Dedman, and Dan. Adams, together with Mr. Eben. Marshall, to take immediate care to qualify them to set the Psalm in publick; and as soon as they are properly qualified, to lead the assembly in that part of Divine Worship." *

March 7, 1757. "Voted, (by the town), that if the tythingmen see any of the youths in said town disorderly in the public worship, and they will not forbear by being once stamped at by any of the tythingmen, in such case said tythingmen are desired to call them by name."

Sept. 2, A.D. 1775, departed this life, in the 55th year of his age, and 30th of his ministry, the Rev. Matthew Bridge, Pastor of the Church of Christ in Framingham.†

The Rev. Matthew Bridge was born in Lexington, July 18. 1721, and was the son of Matthew and Abigail Bridge, of that town. He descended from John Bridge, who settled early in Cambridge, and from his son Matthew, who married Anna Danforth, sister of Lt. Gov. Danforth, the original grantee of the territory of Framingham. Mr. Bridge was educated at Harvard College, where he graduated in 1741. He was at one time enis understood that some were re-instated in the church. The others probably united in the formation, soon after, of a Baptist Society, of which some account will be given in this volume. A Mss., probably written by Mr. Eben. Goddard, has fallen into the writer's hands, commenting upon the decision of the council, in 1759; from which it appears that the grievances of the complainants were, 1, their dissatisfaction with Mr. Bridge's sermons; 2d, Mr. Bridge's having received members from the 2d church, not in full standing; 3d, the continued opposition (of Mr. B.'s church) to the revivals in the land; the 4th appears to have had relation to the alleged injustice they had suffered, in being obliged to pay taxes for the support of the 1st church and its minister. Another charge, (the nature of which is unknown), was understood by the council to have been withdrawn.

* An aged lady has informed the writer that Mr. Bridge was a good singer, and frequently met with his people to instruct them, there being no other singing master. She adds, that he was at first opposed in an attempt to introduce a new hymn book, but succeeded, by a gratuitous distribution among certain persons, in encouraging its use. The introduction of stringed instruments was a severe shock to the piety of some, one of whom, on a certain occasion, when a violin was disabled, exulted that "the Lord's fiddle was broken." When Billings's music was introduced, and the tune of "David the King" was sung, an aged man cried out, "hold, hold," and seizing his hat, left the church. Watts' Psalms and Hymns were introduced, by a vote of the church, Nov. 22, 1792.

gaged as a teacher in Worcester. He was ordained minister of the First Parish in Framingham, Feb. 19, 1745–6, and married, soon after, Anne, daughter of the Rev. Daniel Perkins, of Bridgewater,* by whom he had seven children, three of whom were sons. His ministry in this town, though disturbed at its commencement by serious dissensions, embarrassing to a young man, was marked by uniform firmness, and a spirit of conciliation, which ultimately reinstated, in a good measure, the peace and harmony of the church. Though not distinguished as a preacher, he is uniformly represented as a man of benevolent feelings and attractive manners; and by a faithful service of his people, he secured a general and lasting attachment. At the breaking out of the war of the Revolution, Mr. Bridge, in common with other clergymen, volunteered his services as chaplain to the American army, which was then stationed at Cambridge. While in the discharge of this duty, he was seized with an epidemic disease, which prevailed in the camp; to which he fell a sacrifice a week or two after his return home, on the day above named.†

The only Sermon published by Mr. Bridge, was a Discourse delivered at the Ordination of Mr. Eliab Stone, over the Second Church in Reading, May 20, 1761; and printed by Thomas and John Fleet, Boston, 1761.‡

† We have been favored with a memorandum of an interview with the late Mr. Ebenezer Eaton, in 1832, who "described Mr. Bridge's personal appearance as dignified and imposing. He was more than six feet high; his hair very black, which he wore in curls over the cape of his coat; his eyes black, his figure erect and 'boney,' resembling that of General Washington, by whose side he had seen him stand, when the army was stationed at Cambridge. Mr. Eaton stated that he was much beloved by his people, and esteemed by those of other towns. He was extremely benevolent in his feelings. "He was good himself, and wished to make every body else so." Mr. Bridge's widow was remarried, after his decease, to the Rev. Timothy Harrington, of Lancaster, April 11, 1780, whom she survived. She deceased at Framingham, May 12, 1805., æ. about 81 years. The Boston Gazette, of Sept. 11, 1775, contains a notice of Mr. Bridge's decease, confirming the general impression of the amiableness of his character, and the affectionate esteem in which he was held by his people.

‡ The only manuscript writing of Mr. Bridge, in preservation, is a "Diary," kept in his early years. A granddaughter, in placing it in the author's hand, remarked, "that it gives a specimen of the extreme simplicity of his early life and manners." We may add, that it affords full evidence of his early habits of piety, and of an inquisitive interest in theological reading.

a monument over the grave of the Rev. Mr. Bridge. Probably by reason of the Revolutionary distresses, this purpose was postponed; and though again brought before the town in 1801, it has remained to this day unexecuted.

SETTLEMENT OF THE REV. DAVID KELLOGG.

After the decease of Mr. Bridge, a committee was chosen by the town, Oct. 9, 1775, to unite with a similar committee of the church, to supply the pulpit. For more than three years the pulpit was variously supplied.* The distracting events of the Revolution undoubtedly contributed to delay the re-establishment of the ministry. April 5, 1778, Mr. David Kellogg preached, probably for the first time.† Dec. 7th, by a vote of 123 to 14, (the vote of the church was 48 to 7), he received an invitation from the town to become their minister, to which, April 25, 1779, he gave a negative answer. Negotiations were, however, continued, the supply of the pulpit remaining in his hands, until July 3, 1780,

* March 4, 1776. The committee were directed to employ Mr. (Laban) Wheaton, 1 mo.; and after that, Mr. (Moses) Adams, 1 mo. June 3d, it was voted to engage Mr. Bigelow six weeks. Mr. Wheaton, who greatly interested the people, obtained, Feb. 18th, 1777, a vote of the town, concurrent with that of the church, inviting him to become their minister, and offering him £200 settlement and £100 salary. Mr. Wheaton declined the invitation, and preached a farewell sermon to the people, July 13, 1777. Mr. Wheaton afterwards entered upon the profession of the law, in which he became successful, and was advanced to important public offices. It may be interesting to add, that a few years since, when over 80 years of age, he visited the Rev. Dr. Kellogg; on which occasion he recounted, with much gratification, the reminiscences of his early labors in the town, and expressed a regret that he should have relinquished the profession; adding, that all the success and honors of public life appeared to him, in review, poor, in comparison with the useful and unpretending labors of the Christian Ministry. His name was long cherished with respect in the town. Aug. 10, 1777, Mr. (probably Solomon) Reed preached, and for numerous succeeding Sabbaths. January 4, 1778, Mr. (Ezra) Ripley preached, and supplied nine Sabbaths. July 12, Mr. Willard, of Mendon, preached. In Sept. Mr. Eliot preached, and at other times subsequently. In Sept. and Oct., Mr. Guild and Mr. Gannet supplied for one or more Sabbaths, "the contract for each day, the price of eight bushels of Indian corn at market." Nov. 18, 1778, was observed as a day of fasting and prayer, by a vote of the church, preparatory to their choice of a minister. Feb. 18, 1777, the town voted that all male persons, upwards of 21 years of age, be voters in the choice of a minister.

† The texts on which he preached, are preserved. They were, Isaiah, xlv. 22 — Rev. iii. 20. Dec. 6, 1779, the town voted to give Mr. Kellogg $4 per day for preaching, "to be as good as money was five years ago."

when proposals were voted by the town, to the satisfaction of Mr. Kellogg, upon which he consented to become their minister. *

The ordination of Mr. Kellogg took place on Wednesday, Jan. 10, 1781; † previously to which, he was, by letter from the church in Dresden, admitted a member of the church in Framingham. To the church he gave a satisfactory announcement of his intention, "to conform to the same mode of discipline" practiced by his predecessor, and "to the Cambridge Platform, (eldership excluded), agreeably to the custom of these New England churches."

Nov. 22, 1792, the church voted, at the request of the pastor, "that the Scriptures should be read in publick on the Sabbath, and a Bible procured for that purpose." In March following, the town granted $8 for the purchase of a Bible.

1803. The town voted $60 to support a singing school. ‡

The ministry of Mr. Kellogg affords no incidents of general interest, demanding notice in these sketches. He continued in * The town voted a settlement of £346.13.4, to be paid in Indian corn, at 2s. 8d. per bushel, and rye, at 3s. 4d.; or money to purchase the same. They also voted to give him £100 as his yearly salary, to be paid in Indian corn, at 3s. per bushel, and Rye, at 4s. In case of disability, by infirmity or age, to supply the pulpit, he was to receive but half his salary. July 10, voted to give Mr. K. annually 20 cords of wood, upon the same rule as the salary. The salary of Mr. K. greatly varied. In 1801, it was $500. In 1803 and 1821, $450. For several years, $666.67. Once, (in 1817), it was $750, with the addition, in every case, of $50 or $60 per annum, for wood. The average salary, including wood, from 1800 to 1825, was about $628. Taking the original settlement into consideration, his average emoluments may be estimated at more than $700 per annum.

† The churches invited were those of the Rev. Messrs. Stone, of Southborough, Harrington, of Lancaster, Prentice, of Holliston, Badger of Natick, Buckminster, of Rutland, Bridge of East Sudbury, Brown, of Sherburne, Fitch, of Holliston, and Biglow, of Sudbury. The "day was rainy," and Messrs. Buckminster, Stone, Bridge, Fitch and Biglow, were the only clergymen present, the first named being moderator of the council. The discourse was preached by Mr. Bridge, from 2 Cor. v. 20. "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, &c." It is noticed that Mr. Parsons deceased before the ordination. The church voted to "make no extraordinary provision for a promiscuous multitude, as has been customary on such occasions; thinking the practice repugnant to the rules of the Gospel, and tends to such vain sporting, as is utterly inconsistent with the solemnities of the day."

‡ The singing schools were generally kept at the hall of the Academy. The same hall was also used, during the intermission of public worship, as a place of retirement and refreshment, for such as did not return to their homes. Apartments in private houses were in some cases hired, for the same object, by select companies, where a comfortable fire was provided, in cold weather. "Noon houses," as they were termed, were quite indispensable, before modern invention had discovered the important art of warming churches.

the discharge of his ministry in this populous town until the year 1825, at which time, by reason of "the infirmities, the usual attendants of old age," he requested the church to settle a colleague to assist him in his labors. Nov. 14, the same year, the town voted, to "concur with the church in procuring assistance for the Rev. Dr. Kellogg, in his ministerial labors;" and chose Josiah Adams, Abner Wheeler, and Dea. Luther Haven, a committee "to supply the desk the ensuing winter, should he be unable to supply himself."

April 3, 1826. Luther Belknap and others addressed a petition to Abraham Harrington, Esq., of Hopkinton, praying for the organization of the First Parish, according to law. A warrant was accordingly issued for a meeting, to be held April 24; at which the parish was duly organized. From that period ceased all connection between the parish and the civil authority of the town.

The connection of Dr. Kellogg with the First Parish continued for the space of almost fifty years; and was terminated, by his retirement, about September, 1830.

The Rev. DAVID KELLOGG was born in Amherst, Mass., in the year 1755; and was son of Daniel Kellogg, born in Old Hadley, who married Esther, only daughter of Ephraim Smith, of South Hadley. His grandfather was Nathaniel Kellogg, an extensive land proprietor and surveyor in Old Hadley. He early commenced his studies preparatory for college, which he pursued, principally under the tuition of the Rev. David Parsons, first minister in Amherst. He received his first degree at Dartmouth College, 1775; immediately after which, he engaged in the study of divinity, under the direction of his venerated pastor. After completing his preparatory studies in theology, he preached at Concord and at Framingham. His labors in this town, (where he perhaps succeeded the Rev. Ezra Ripley, afterwards of Concord),* commenced April 5, 1778, and were continued, to the satisfaction of the town, until Dec. 7, when he received a nearly unanimous * Tradition reports, that the contrast in appearance and manners, between the two candidates, caused them to be variously regarded, by the aged and the young. The bearing of Mr. Ripley, while young, was grave almost to austerity; while that of Mr. Kellogg was easy, affable and free. The measured and stately step of the former, in ascending the pulpit stairs, was thought more evangelical than the quick and graceful gait of the latter.

invitation from the church and parish to become their pastor. To this invitation a negative answer was returned the succeeding April. The troubles and distresses of the war interposed unavoidable hinderances to the immediate re-establishment of the ministry, under circumstances mutually satisfactory to the candidate and the town. Mr. Kellogg continued, however, to supply the pulpit until July 3, 1780, when the invitation was repeated; and the proposals of the town proving satisfactory, his ordination took place Jan. 10, 1781.

The ministry of Mr. Kellogg was peaceful and harmonious. Possessed of respectable talents, united with a character marked by energy, decision, and self-reliance, his manners ripening into mingled dignity and ease, his voice full and commanding, he maintained, through the remarkable vicissitudes of opinion and sentiment which agitated the period of his ministry,—extending through half a century,—a character of unquestioned sincerity, consistency, and uprightness, which commanded respect and confidence. As a preacher, his manner was energetic, his style and diction correct, somewhat formal, yet forcible. He inclined, in discussion, to be logical and argumentative, and courted not the flow and embellishment of a more popular oratory. His devotional services were particularly felicitous and impressive. In his theological opinions, he could not, with strictness, be appropriated by any religious party, although, towards the close of his life, he expressed his sympathy and preference for the society of those who adhered to the Calvinistic system. As a Congregationalist of the old school, he was settled in the Christian ministry; and to the principles, usages, and habits of thought of the times contemporaneous with his settlement, he adhered to the last. To the writer of this sketch, he once freely expressed his disapprobation of the innovations which had crept into the Congregational polity, and avowed his fixed predilection for the ancient order of the New England churches. In the admission of members to the church, without the form of public investigation into the religious experience and belief of the candidate, and in the rejection of all formularies of opinion, as conditions of Christian fellowship, he continued, to the close of his ministry, a faithful adherent to the deliberate and confirmed convictions of his early years. Though many may regard with surprise and regret, that he shared so little in the stirring changes of opinion, the strife of controversy, or the novelties of speculation, which have distinguished the last thirty years, it is to be remembered, that he was already an old man, of matured habits, constitutionally moderate, a lover of peace, and of a will not easily swayed by the changing breezes of popular opinion. On the whole, it may be said of him, that he was a true, upright, and wise man, a worthy representative of genuine Congregationalism, in the palmy days of its union and strength. As a proof of the estimation in which he was generally held, he received from the college at which he was educated, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

After a protracted ministry of almost half a century, Dr. Kellogg voluntarily retired from his pastoral office, about the month of September, 1830; after which, he continued for many years to reside upon his estate, in the enjoyment of a vigorous and "green old age." Many will recall with pleasure, his venerable form, slightly bowed, his tall and robust figure, his fresh yet placid countenance, his dignified and courteous manners, as he moved among us, almost sole survivor of the generation who had welcomed him to the sacred office, as their Christian pastor and guide. Within a year before his decease, occurred an incident expressive of the honorable estimation in which he was held by the inhabitants of the town. May, 1843, members of all the religious societies united in a tea-party, at the town hall, at which he was invited to meet them. His appearance was greeted with a warm welcome; and he improved the occasion to enforce sentiments of mutual toleration and Christian harmony, worthy of durable remembrance.

Dr. Kellogg was seized, but a few days before his death, with the illness which terminated his earthly stay.* He passed away gradually, and with little suffering; and on the 13th of August, 1843, slept with his fathers, at the advanced age of 87 years. The funeral service was performed in the first church, where he

The successors in the pastoral office, of the Rev. Dr. Kellogg, are as follows, viz:—Rev. Artemas B. Muzzey, (Harvard College, 1824), ordained June 10, 1830, retired May 18, 1833. Rev. George Chapman, (Harvard College, 1828), ordained Nov. 6, 1833, deceased June 2, 1834. † Rev. William Barry, (Brown University, 1822), installed Dec. 16, 1835, retired Dec. 16, 1845. Rev. John N. Bellows, ordained April 15, 1846.

The other services were performed by Mr. Barry of the first church, and the Rev. Mr. Haven, Sen. of Hopkinton. Dr. Kellogg preached but once in the first church after his retirement. It took place about the year 1838.

† Mr. Chapman's ministry was very brief. Few have entered the sacred office under circumstances more encouraging and auspicious. His early death disappointed the sanguine hopes of an extensive circle of friends, to whom he was ardently attached, as well as the just expectations of his people, who fully appreciated his intelligence, sincerity, and devotion. He died of a pulmonary disease, having administered the communion, for the last time, Jan. 5-1834.

* No regular record of marriages appears on the church books, until the commencement of Dr. Kellogg's ministry. The difficulty of determining with precision the number of cases of adult baptism, has led to the omission of any estimate of the same. As the period of eleven and one half years in Mr. Swift's ministry, of which we possess Records, occurred about midway between his ordination and decease, an approximate estimate of the whole number of baptisms performed by him may be arrived at, which would amount to about 1454; of which, (supposing the same proportion in the sexes), 757 would be males, and 697 females. The aggregate number of baptisms therefore, (including adults), from 1701 to 1829,

THE BAPTIST CHURCH IN FRAMINGHAM.

The first recorded notice of the origin of this Society, is contained in the town Records, March 7, 1763; when an article was presented in the Town Warrant, "to see if the town will abate the ministerial rates to a number of persons of this town, who pretend (profess) to be of the persuasion of the Anabaptists, and have sent in their names to the selectmen." The following year, March 12, the town voted, "that the minister's rate, for 1763, of Jos. Byxbe, James, Elkanah, Elkanah, Jr., Squier, James, Jr., and Isaac Haven, James Mellen, Simon Pratt, Eben. Singletary, and Eben. Bullard, be abated."*

The above society, which probably originated from the dissolution of the second Congregational church, continued for many years under the care of various ministers of the Baptist persuasion, of whom the chief was Edward Clark, who preached in this town for the space of about 10 years.†

Jan. 30, 1811. The Rev. Charles Train, a graduate of H. College in 1805, was ordained Pastor of this church, and June may be estimated at 3235; of which 1615 are males and 1620 females. During the ministry of Dr. Kellogg, but two adults were baptized between 1781 and 1815. Between 1815 and 1820, the number was 27.

* Similar votes were afterwards recorded in 1772 and 1776. In 1783, a committee was chosen to prevent a law-suit for recovery by the Dissenters of their ministerial tax, and an agreement was made, based on their paying half their tax.

† From the best information we possess, it is probable that Mr. JOSEPH BYXBE was the first preacher. His successors were NATHANIEL GREEN, who lived and died at Leicester, where he was the founder of a Baptist Church; SIMEON SNOW, who lived at Upton, preached in Framingham and Weston, two or three years; afterwards became a Congregational minister at Thomaston Me., where he died at an advanced age; NOAH ALDEN, of Bellingham, who baptized here in 1773, and preached occasionally; — LAMPSON, of whose ministry we have no particulars; ELISHA RICH, (a gunsmith by trade), who resided here for a time, preached afterwards at Chelmsford, and subsequently moved to the West; and EDWARD CLARK, who came to Framingham about 1780, and remained until 1790, when he removed to Medfield. After the lapse of several years, he returned to Framingham, and died on a visit at Mansfield, about 1810; his remains were brought to this town for interment.

The Society obtained the meeting house built by Mr. Reed's church, which had been used as a granary, and removed it to what is now called the Silk Farm, from whence it was subsequently moved further S. The present Railroad track crosses its site. The society previously worshipped in what was then called the Dean (now Park) house; of which two large chambers were united to form a spacious hall. The attendance between 70 and 80 years since, averaged about 50 persons, from this and neighboring towns. The Society was destined to a successful enlargement, under the ministry of others at a later period.

22, 1812, the society obtained an Act of Incorporation by the name of the First Baptist Society. Under the judicious and earnest care of their new Pastor, the society increased in numbers. A new impulse was given to its prosperity, at a later period, by the erection of a new meeting house, near the centre of the town. It was dedicated, with appropriate services, Jan. 1, 1827. Mr. Train's ministry terminated Sept. 1839; since which period, he has remained in the town, enjoying the esteem and consideration due to a long course of useful service to the public, and a respectful sympathy in his protracted bodily sufferings.*

Mr. Train was succeeded by the Rev. Enoch Hutelinson, installed Aug. 21, 1840, retired Jan. 8, 1841; the Rev. James Johnston, who commenced (without installation) June 27, 1841, retired Sept. 1, 1845; the Rev. Jonathan Aldrich, (B. Un. 1826), who commenced (without installation) Sept. 27, 1846.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The Methodist Episcopal Church in Framingham was instituted in 1788, by the labors of the Rev. John Hill, from Virginia; at * Mr. Train first preached to this church, Dec., 1807, at which time the society had become almost extinct. About twenty families professed the sentiments of the Baptist denomination, and five persons only had been baptized. At the ordination of Mr. Train, the Rev. James Reed, of Attleborough, prayed; the sermon was preached by the Rev. Joseph Grafton, of Newton; the charge was given by the Rev. William Collier, of Charlestown, and the Right Hand of Fellowship, by the Rev. William Gammell, of Medfield; the concluding prayer was made by the Rev. Aaron Leland, of Vt. Of the ordaining council, every member has deceased. In 1811, this society took the name of the Baptist Church of Weston and Framingham; Mr. Train officiating at both places, alternately, until the connection was dissolved, Nov. 1826; at which time the church in Framingham consisted of 100 members. Between Sept. 1815 and Sept. 1816, 53 persons were baptized by Mr. Train, and the religious interest extended into the first parish. Mr. Train's salary was at first about $200 per year; from 1823, it was $300; and so continued until 1829, when it was raised to $400; and four years after, to $500. Until the year 1822, he received pupils into his family, some of whom were prepared by him for college. Mr. Train rendered very valuable service to the town, as a Superintendent of the public schools, for more than thirty years. In March, 1833, he met with a fall, by which his life was endangered, and from the effects of which he has since experienced severe bodily suffering. Nov., 1843, the inhabitants of the town united in a social assembly, at the Town Hall, as a testimony of their respect and affectionate regard for the late pastor of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Train had previously received decisive marks of the confidence of this community, in his election, for several consecutive years, as a Representative or Senator in the General Court.

which time, it consisted of seven members.* They first assembled for religious worship in a private house, belonging to Mr. Benjamin Stone, in the N. part of the town; his widow survives, and occupies the same house. For several years, this society was visited by various preachers, among whom were Jesse Lee, Bishop Asbury, Ezekiel Cooper, George Pickering, and other "pioneers of Methodism in New England." Without a regular ministry, they maintained, with few interruptions, their weekly meetings, until 1822; when an interesting revival increased their number to thirty. At this period, the church was incorporated with the Needham circuit, and became one of the places of regular appointment for preaching. In 1833, the society commenced the erection of a house of worship, near the house of Mr. Benj. Stone, which was finished in Sept. 1834. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Abel Stevens, of Boston, then only 19 years of age.† The society was legally organized the same year. In 1844, for the better accommodation of the inhabitants at Saxonville, the house was removed to a central part of the village, and an addition was made to its dimensions. A neat and convenient parsonage has since been built, which is in the occupation of their present Pastor.

The preachers who have successively ministered to this society, since the erection of their house of worship, are as follows, viz.: C. Vergin, Peter Sabin, N. B. Spaulding, Paul Townsend, Tho. Tucker, L. P. Frost, Geo. Pickering, Willard Smith, N. S. Spaulding, and Chester Field, the present Pastor.‡

THE SAXONVILLE RELIGIOUS SOCIETY was incorporated, Feb. 23, 1827; and their meeting house, constructed on an elevated site, and within a beautiful grove, was dedicated Sept., 1827. A church was organized, May 26, 1833. The successive Pastors of this society, are as follows, viz.: Rev. Corbin Kidder, (Amherst

† An incident connected with the age of the preacher, is remembered with much interest. The Rev. Dr. Kellogg was present at the service. When, at its close, the youthful speaker descended from the pulpit, the venerable patriarch rose from his seat at the altar, and laying his hand upon the young man's head, said, with much feeling and impressiveness, "Let no man despise thy youth!"

A society of UNIVERSALISTS was formed Nov. 1829, and erected a place of worship, which was dedicated with appropriate services, Sept. 1832. This society have employed ministers without the forms of regular settlement. The names of those whose term of service has extended to the period of one year or more, are as follows, viz.: Rev. Thomas J. Greenwood, who preached eight years; Rev. Isaac Brown, one year; Rev. Joseph O. Skinner, four years; Rev. Horace P. Stevens, two years; and the Rev. David J. Mandell, the present minister, one year.

The "HOLLIS EVANGELICAL SOCIETY" was formed Jan. 20, 1830, and their place of worship was dedicated, Sept. 15th, of the same year. The Pastors of this society, in the order of succession, are, the Rev. George Trask, (Bowd. College), ordained, Sept. 15, 1830, retired April 6, 1836; the Rev. David Brigham, (Union College), installed, Dec. 29, 1836, retired, May 9, 1844; the Rev. Increase N. Tarbox, (Y. College, 1839), ordained, Nov. 20, 1844.

A CATHOLIC Church has been erected in the vicinity of the Carpet Factory, at Saxonville, and was opened for public worship, Sept. 14, 1845.

BURYING GROUNDS, MORTALITY, ETC.

The old burying ground, which surrounded the first meeting house, has been in use since the incorporation of the town. Grave stones (in some instances of a rude character, the names graven probably by the hands of surviving relatives), were very early placed, and are interesting memorials of the ancient Fathers of the town.* A new burying ground, for the use of the inhabitants

HEALTH AND LONGEVITY.

But few towns have been more remarkable for the general health of their inhabitants, and the absence of prevalent and fatal epidemics, than this. At no period in its history, has the mortality been particularly alarming; and deaths among the young, are comparatively rare.* The simple habits of an agricultural population, united with the general purity of the atmosphere, have undoubtedly contributed to prolong life beyond its ordinary duration, to an extent perhaps uncommon.

diggers were chosen by the town, and five to make coffins. In May 1735, the Pastor and Deacons were desired to move the congregation to contribute for a burying cloth. May 17, 1762, the thanks of the town were voted to Capt. John Butler, for his present of a burying cloth. March 3, 1794, a committee was chosen "to purchase a burying cloth, and also a convenient carriage to carry a corpse." May, 1799, the town granted $20 to build a house to deposit the carriage in. In 1803, a committee was chosen "to provide a decent hearse." In 1805, "voted to have the burying ground fenced with a good four-foot wall, and to have two gates on the road." Granted $300. (The expense of a hearse-house was probably included in the grant). The same year, a question of title to the burying ground land arising, between the town and Dea. Tho. Buckminster, the same was settled by a quit-claim deed from the latter, of about five acres 20 rods of land, including the graves, and a note of $50 from him; the town giving, in return, a quitclaim of the remainder of the land in dispute. 1809, authority was given to individuals, to build tombs. 1811, posts were ordered for the burying ground. 1813, Jona. Maynard was authorized "to take the grass from the burying ground for five years, on condition that he erect the fallen grave stones, clear out all cobble stones, mow all bushes, keep the wall and gates in good repair, for the same term, and suffer no cattle to depasture thereon, said Maynard to pay $5, being the sum for which the privilege was sold at auction, in town meeting." In 1827, voted to provide a hearse and burying cloth for the South burying ground. The condition of the centre burying ground, though doubtless intended to be carefully provided for by the town, is far from what it ought to be. The neglect of the more ancient monuments, is particularly to be regretted, and is unworthy the respect due to the dead; most of all, to the founders of the town.

* The author seriously regrets to have mislaid papers, from which an exhibit could be prepared, of the actual mortality of the town, during the last 20 years. It may be worthy of remark, that of the whole number of deaths which occurred under his personal cognizance, within the space of ten years, viz: 73, 16 were of children in very early infancy; 8, from 1 to 10 years of age; 2, from 10 to 20; 7, from 20 to 30; 4, from 30 to 40; 6, from 40 to 50; 3, from 50 to 60; 4, from 60 to 70; 12, from 70 to 80; 8, from 80 to 90, and 3, over 90.

The following comprise the names, as far as known, of persons who have deceased in this town, at the age of 85 years, or upwards. The figures at the right denote the years, and when known, the additional months, if any.*

TOPOGRAPHY OF FRAMINGHAM.

THE territory of Framingham embraces several localities referred to in its Records. "STONE'S END," is the name formerly given to the present village of Saxonville, whose soil was, to a considerable extent, in the possession of the Stone family.

* The longevity of this lady, (who deceased while this work was in preparation for the press), with that of her ancestors, is particularly remarkable. Her grand-father was born in

“RICE’S END,” refers to that part of the town, which is in the neighborhood of the house of Mr. Uriah Rice. “SALEM END,” has already been noticed, as situated about one mile west from the centre. “GUINEA END,” was the ancient name of the tract of land at the S. part of the town, near the Railroad station. It derived its name from the neighboring meadows, called the “Guinea meadows.”*

THE COMMON.

The history of the Common lands in Framingham is lost, with the Records of the proprietors : of which only mutilated fragments remain.† By a reference to Mr. Danforth’s lease to Col. Buckminster, on a former page, the reader will discover in what terms the original reservation of the common lands was made. Intimations are given in Dr. Ballard’s sketch of Framingham, (p. 27), that owing to the fertility of the tract reserved, it was “by mutual consent of the proprietor and town exchanged, for a differently situated tract.” The Records of the proprietors, (to which Dr. Ballard may have had access, though he does not refer to them), might throw light upon this transaction, of which no notice is to be found on the Records of the town.‡ The tract designated in later years as the Common, lies in the S.W. part of the town ; a considerable part of which has been recently set off to the town of Ashland. The organization of the proprietors was dissolved about the year 1785 ; when the last of the lands, (about 40 acres), were sold, near Wild Cat Hill, to Mr. John Parker. The proceeds of this sale were suitably appropriated to the purchase of a public library.

* This name is said to have originated from the circumstance, that the meadows were first purchased for a guinea. Besides the localities above named, were “Pike Row,” a name given from the Pike family, who lived on the road running E. from the house of L. Belknap, Esq ; and “Sherburn Row,” the range of houses connected with Sherburn, before the incorporation of this town.

† The loss of these Records is seriously to be regretted ; and affords proof of the extreme hazard of leaving records of historical and public interest, in private and irresponsible hands.

‡ The fragments of the Proprietors’ Records preserved, demonstrate, that two of the bounds of the common lands, were the Southborough line and Sudbury river.

THE CENTRE COMMON.

This tract, which, since its enclosure, and the improvements made upon it, has been rendered an attractive ornament to the village, was originally known, (from its resemblance, in shape, to a flat iron), as the heater. The first improvements on Record took place in 1785; when a committee was chosen "to set the bounds of the corner of the meeting house land, proper to be subdued;" and the town voted, that "Lawson Buckminster may subdue and improve the same three years, if he will lay it down even and smooth." In 1796, a committee was chosen to effect an exchange of land with Deac. Tho. Buckminster, "in order to straighten the line across the Common, and make it more convenient." May 6, 1800, the town passed a vote, prohibiting all persons tying horses to the trees upon the common field, around the public meeting house, or in any way damaging said trees, under the penalty of one dollar. Aug. 9, 1808, Capt. Richard Fisk, Eli Bullard, and Abner Wheeler, were chosen to dispose of as many of the trees now standing on the public Common, as they may think proper; and also the manure where the old meeting house stood; and expend the proceeds, in setting out ornamental trees, in such places, as said Committee may think proper. In May, 1809, a committee reported, that the whole sum expended for levelling the Common around the meeting house, was $232.61, which sum the town allowed. In 1810, it was voted, that the meeting house agents superintend the setting out of trees around the new meeting house; said trees, so set out, to stand during the town's pleasure. Nov. 2, 1818, Josiah Adams, Solomon Fay, and Rufus Brewer, were chosen to purchase a piece of land adjoining the meeting house Common; and the sum of $50 was granted to level said land; liberty was at the same time granted to set out trees, to ornament the Common, without expense to the town. In 1819, a committee was appointed to take legal measures for laying out roads, on the E. and W. sides of the Common, and for discontinuing all other roads already laid out across said Common. In 1819, the committee for levelling the Common, were authorised to draw $75 from the town Treasury. In 1820, John Ballard, 2d, was agreed with to subdue bushes on the E. side of the Common. April 4, 1825, the town authorized the selectmen "to appoint a committee to get the Common fenced." Since the last named date, a private subscription, amounting to near $700, has been raised in the town, for the farther improvement of the Common, and of the entire village in the centre, by planting additional ornamental trees. The judicious liberality, which for so many years has been directed to beautify the town, has not been disappointed, and is destined to meet new returns, as time shall perfect the original design. Few of our inland villages are more attractive to the eye of the stranger.*

THE BRINLEY FARM.

The traditionary interest connected with this locality, justifies a brief notice of it in these sketches of the town's history. The tract so called, was the same originally settled and occupied by the first Colonel Buckminster.† It was by him, and his sons Joseph and Thomas, conveyed to Francis Brinley, Esq., of Roxbury, Feb. 1, 1742, for the sum of £8,600 in bills of public credit. It contained about 860 acres, of which it was estimated that 400 acres were improved. The general bounds of the tract, whose configuration was too irregular to be now described in detail, were, on the N., the lands of Eben. Winchester and John Trowbridge; E., the highway from J. Trowbridge's house to the meeting house; S., the lands of John Hemenway, Jona. Morse, Col. Buckminster, and Edward Wright; W., the lands of Tim. Stearns, Moses Pike, Wm. Dunn, Jos. Angier, and John Bruce. The tract contained a mill privilege, W. of N. from Col. Buckminster's house, not many rods distant.

Oct. 20, 1746, the town granted "£23.3.4, old tenor, to

* It would be impossible to afford an adequate idea of the labor required for the improvements above referred to, by reason of the great inequalities of the surface to be overcome. The public spirit in which the inhabitants of the town generally co-operated in the enterprise, forbids particular notice of individual zeal and liberality.

make up the deficiency of Col. Brinley's rate, for the settlement and ordination of our Rev. Pastor."

The history of the occupation of this tract is too imperfectly preserved, to allow exactness of dates in all cases. By whom it was cultivated the first 18 years, after Mr. Brinley's purchase, does not appear. Col. Brinley became surety for Geo. Cradoek, to Sir Peter Warren, Admiral of the British Navy, to whom he mortgaged the farm, and possession was afterwards obtained under the mortgage.* Mr. Nathaniel Brinley, son of Francis, hired the farm for several years of Oliver De Lancey, attorney of the proprietor, at a rent of £30 sterling per annum. Mr. N. Brinley first occupied the premises about the year 1760; and employed, it is said, some 15 or 20 negroes in its cultivation. Daniel Shays, who gave a name to the rebellion of 1786, at one time worked in Mr. Brinley's employ.† At the commencement of the revolution, Mr. Brinley, whose political principles ranked him with the tories, left the town; and an unsuccessful attempt was made in town meeting to confiscate the estate, of which we extract the following from the Record:

March 4, 1776. "To see if the town will, in answer to a petition from several of the inhabitants, take any order concerning the farm lately occupied by Nathl. Brinley, or the utensils thereto belonging; and act thereon as the town shall judge proper."

In Nov. 1778, it was again proposed "to give such direction to the selectmen, respecting the farm in this town, belonging to the heirs of Sir Peter Warren, as the town shall judge proper." But no action upon the same is recorded. At this period, the farm was exposed to serious depredation and waste by unscrupulous trespassers, who entered upon the land and removed its timber.

In —, Edward Brinley, Esq., of Weston, brother of Nathaniel, leased and took possession of the farm. After occupying it one year, John Eames, John Taylor and others, claimed to have purchased the estate, and to hold a bond for a deed of the same; upon which Mr. Brinley removed, and Eames and others took possession. In 1785, Levi Thayer, of Milford, Mass., alleged his purchase of the same tract, for £4,500 sterling, by a deed claimed to have been executed in London by Oliver De Lancey, and placed on record; the genuineness of which was disputed by the relatives of the supposed grantor. He, however, entered upon the possession of the estate. Mr. E. Brinley, Jan. 21, 1793, obtained a power of attorney from John Watts, in behalf of the proprietors, with full powers to superintend the farm, and bring all trespassers to justice; and a civil process was commenced against Thayer, then in the occupation of it.* By the decease of the original proprietors, the right of property in the farm had now fallen to the Earl of Abington, Viscount Gage, and Lord Southampton, heirs of Sir Peter Warren.† In 1795, Col. McGregor and John Rogers, Esq., purchased for £400, one third of the farm from the attorney of Lords Gage and Abington; and by their agent at London, the remaining third. In 1802, William Maxwell, of New York, a merchant, purchased of the widow of John Rogers, and of the Trustees of Col. McGregor, their rights in the estate, and the same year disposed of the same to the Hon. John Lowell.‡

The proprietors of this farm holding under Mr. Lowell, have enjoyed peaceable possession of a tract, so long disputed among contending claimants. A considerable part was purchased by Maj. Benjamin Wheeler, from whom it has derived the name of * Various portions of the farm had, from time to time, been conveyed and reconveyed; and about the date last referred to, "one part was occupied and claimed by Jos. Roberts, and another by one Bannister." Mr. Brinley wrote, in 1795, "that a Mr. John Gardner has been here twice, from N. York state, in order to sell the farm at auction, under Levi Thayer's title. The people of Framingham wish to purchase, as he will sell on very low terms." He also writes, "I have combated a great deal of ill-treatment, to prevent the entire destruction of the estate." Mr. Brinley had endeavored to purchase the estate from the English heirs, for which he offered £1200. But the negotiation met with no success. He appears to have taken a laudable part in the preservation of the property, which, at this period, he described, perhaps with some exaggeration, as "without a rod of fence, and the buildings good for nothing." Forty acres of the land had, some years before, been sold for taxes.

† Lord Abington married a daughter, the two others, grand-daughters, of Sir P. Warren. John Watts and Peter Kemble, of N. York, were attorneys for Lord Gage.

‡ In a memorandum in our possession, it is stated that Mr. Lowell gave $2000 for the rights purchased of McGregor, and £900 for a quit-claim from the heirs in England. Some apology is, perhaps, needed, for the particularity of the above notice of these various transactions. We have inserted it as matter of history, and to clear up the obscurity in which the title to this estate was long involved.

the "Wheeler Farm," which has undergone valuable improvements, under the liberal and judicious management of himself and his son, Mr. I. S. Wheeler, the present possessor of the farm. The mill privilege on this farm long since fell into disuse.*

The township of Framingham possesses in general a fine soil, well furnished with water, and capable of easy cultivation; it also contains numerous meadows, from which abundant materials have been derived for the improvement of the uplands.† The town is well wooded, affording excellent timber of hard wood; though the forests have of late years sensibly diminished.‡ Great attention has been devoted to orcharding, in which the inhabitants have manifested much liberality and foresight. The finest varieties of the apple, pear, peach, plum, &c., have been introduced, and are under successful cultivation; and nurseries have been attempted by various individuals. The fruit production of the town, must in a few years be a large source of emolument to the community. A marked and intelligent spirit of improvement has of late been exhibited, among the agricultural population of the town.§

The surface of the town is generally level, or rising by easy swells. Its mineral productions demand no particular notice. Good granite is found in considerable quantities, of which some is hammered for mill stones and house building.|| Indications of the

* About 1806, Luther Belknap, Esq., bought 112 acres of Mr. Lowell. Jona. Maynard was also a purchaser in 1803.

† Since the valuable properties of peat muck have become known, the farms in this town have been greatly improved. Of the practicability of reclaiming swamp land, a striking example was furnished, near the centre of the village, about 20 years since, by Maj. Benj. Wheeler. A stranger would, with difficulty, believe that the beautiful and fertile meadow to the west of the centre common, was once covered with water and brush, and altogether valueless.

‡ Good wood now sells at about $5 the cord in this town. It is to be feared, that in not a few instances, a permanent loss is likely to accrue to the town, by clearing lands far more valuable for timber, than for cultivation or pasturage. It may be here observed, that there are several white oak trees of remarkable size in this town; two, near the house late of Dea. Matthias Bent, one of which is supposed to be more than 200 years old. The "T. D." tree, on the farm of Mr. John Eaton, is of such gigantic size, that seven persons are said to have found a shelter in the hollow of it, during a shower of rain. Mr. Eaton cut off a large part of the top, a few years since, as it shaded his mowing.

§ Meetings for the advancement of agricultural science have, of late years, been held, with a good degree of regularity, in the town; and a newspaper, entitled the Massachusetts Ploughman, has been conducted by William Buckminster, Esq., and published at Boston and Framingham. By its extensive circulation, it has contributed largely to diffuse valuable information.

HILLS.

NOBSCOT, OR DOESKIN HILL, lies upon the N. bounds of Framingham, and has a conspicuous elevation, which renders it visible at a great distance.†

GIBES' MOUNTAIN, lies near the N.W. corner of the town, N.W. from the house of the late Mr. Micah Gibbs.

WILD CAT HILL, late in the S.W. part of the town, at the "Common," is now included in Ashland.

MERRIAM'S HILL, lies N. of Ballard's Hill.

MOUNT WAIT, is the name given to a beautiful conical hill, S. of Sudbury river, and about one mile S. from the centre village.

CAPT. TOM'S HILL, is on the bounds of Framingham and Natick, and lies E., a little S. from the house of the widow Eaton.

LT. GLEASON'S HILL, is on the S.E. corner of the town, near the Railroad.

RIVERS AND STREAMS.

1. CONCORD, or SUDBURY RIVER.—This river is found on Wood's map of New England, in 1635, by the Indian name of Hill, in the neighborhood of which they professed to have found lead. We give the tradition as it has been repeated to us.

* A rocking boulder, in the W. part of Framingham, is referred to in Hitchcock's Geol. of Mass., p. 376, and Silliman's Journal, VII.

† In ancient deeds and surveys the name of Doeskin is sometimes given to Nobscot Hill. The late Mr. John Eaton informed the author, that the hill N. of his old house had been called Doeskin Hill.

Musquitaquid. It is first formed by the confluence of two streams originating in Westborough, one a little S. of Wessonville, the other N. of Fay's mountain; after their junction it unites with Whitehall brook, whose source is Whitehall pond, in the S.W. part of Hopkinton. These two streams unite about 100 rods N. of the N.W. line of Hopkinton, and form what was formerly called the Hopkinton river. The river then follows a nearly Easterly course about four miles, to a point near Bigelow's paper mills, where it receives from the S. as a tributary, the Indian brook. About a mile farther E., it receives from the S. the Cold Spring brook, near Shepard's paper mill. Its course here turns northerly into Framingham, about one and a half miles, where it receives the waters of Stoney brook, coming from the N.W., from Southborough. From this point it is called Sudbury river, and flows about three miles, in a course nearly N.E., to the village of Saxonville, where the Cochituate brook discharges the water of Cochituate or Long Pond. The river then turns northerly, entering Sudbury, and is finally lost, after receiving various tributaries, at its confluence with the Merrimack at Lowell. This stream is generally sluggish, and from the vegetable substances it receives in its passage through extensive meadows, its water bears a dark color. There are now but two mill sites in this town on the Concord river; Brown's mills, and the mills at Saxonville.

STONE BROOK rises in the N.W. corner of Southborough, flows in an irregular course S.E., receiving the waters of Angle brook, which rises in the S. part of Marlborough, and flows S.E., uniting with Stoney brook W. of Framingham bounds. It enters Framingham about 100 rods N. of the turnpike, flows S.E. to its junction with Hopkinton river, about one fourth of a mile S.E. from Mr. Bullard's machine shop; which derives from Stoney brook a water privilege of some value.

COCHITUATE BROOK, (sometimes written Wachetuwt and Cochitawick), rises at a point on the W. side of Cochituate Pond, in Framingham, and running about one third of a mile to the S.W., receives the waters of Course brook; it then flows in a course generally to the N.W., furnishes a supply of water to the large carpet Factory of Mr. W. H. Knight, and soon after discharges into the Sudbury river, near Saxonville.

HOP BROOK, rises in the N. part of the town, and flows E. and northerly, crossing the bounds of Sudbury and Framingham, E. of the old house of Mr. John Eaton.

BEAVER DAM BROOK, once called Steep Brook, is formed of the S. and E. outlets of Washakum Pond, and flows in a direction N. of E., S. of Mr. Sylvanus Phipps' house, into Sherburne.

BAITING BROOK, is the name anciently given to the brook which crosses the road near Mr. Amasa Kendall's house, and empties into Sudbury river.

ANGELICO BROOK, is referred to as the W. bound of Mr. Danforth's farm.*

CHERRY MEADOW BROOK, is described as on the Corlet farm, and a bound of land sold to Samuel Winch, Sen.

INDIAN BROOK, is referred to as near Cochituate brook on the E.

BIRCH MEADOW BROOK, referred to in ancient deeds.

SQUARE MEADOW BROOK, now called Dadmun's Brook, flows into the Sudbury river, near the house of W. Dadmun.

DUNDELL BROOK,† crosses the road near the house late of E. Jones, now occupied by Mr. Hudson, and flows into Sudbury river.

BOARDMAN'S BROOK flows from the N. into Sudbury river, at Saxonville, above the falls.

STRAWBERRY CORNER BROOK, is referred to, 1710, in the will of Henry Rice of this town.

COURSE BROOK, rises near the Worcester Turnpike, on the east border of the town, and flows in a nearly N. Easterly course, into Cochituate brook.

The "GREAT DRAIN,"—a brook so called at Rice's end.

GUINEA MEADOWS, in the S.E. part of the town, extending about two miles from S.W. to N.E.‡

POD MEADOW, at the N.E. corner of the town, about 12 acres in extent, owned by Mr. Luther Stone.

* Could this have been the modern Angle Brook?

† The origin of this name is unknown. In Sudbury, 1697, Mary Bacon conveyed to Josiah Haynes, a farm S.W. of the great river, at a place commonly called "Dunsdale." A William Densdell lived, probably at Chelmsford, about 1674. Mid. Deeds, V. 115.

JACOBS' MEADOW, owned by John Bent, 1717. It is perhaps the same called also "Indian Jacob's Meadow."

FLAGG MEADOW, owned by Tho. Read, Sen., 1693, in the N. part of the town.

BENJAMIN'S MEADOW, at Rice's end.

WAIT MEADOW, S. of the river, near the site of the first meeting house.

RATTLE SNAKE MEADOW, "between Sudbury and Framingham;" sold by M. and J. Gibbs to Nath. Stone, 1697.

BIRCH MEADOW.

ASHEN SWAMP, near Washakum Pond.

WOLF SWAMP, on the Corlett Farm, near the present Frost house.

DEER SWAMP, between Mr. Bennett's and the Bent farm.

ROE SWAMP, between Mr. Charles Fiske's and the old Walker place.

WILLOW PLAIN, about 40 rods N. of Mr. Curtis Childs' house.

BRIDGE FIELD, now occupied by the carpet factory.

ROGERS FIELD, an extensive tract W. of the falls.

LAKES AND PONDS.

COCHITUATE LAKE, or LONG POND, situated on the N.E. bounds of Framingham, lies in Framingham, Natick, and Wayland. In ancient deeds and surveys, it bears, in general, the name of Cochituate, sometimes of Cochichawick, and in a few instances of Wachituate; which last is given to it on Gore's Survey of "the farmes and quantity of a parcel of land, commonly called Framingham;"

executed in Oct. 1699. Its extent, in a right line from N. to S., is about three and a half miles ; but following its irregular windings, its length is considerably greater. Its breadth, at the widest part, exceeds half a mile. Its circumference, at the water's edge, when at its medium height, measures 10 miles and 23 feet.

This lake presents the appearance of two bodies of water, united by a narrow strait, over which passes the railroad from Saxonville. Of the two divisions, the northerly part is the longer ; which is itself divided into two ponds, communicating by a passage less narrow than the former, which is crossed by the new road from Framingham to Newton. Both these straits were ancient "crossings" or "fording places." Over the first and the narrowest, a road was anciently constructed of loose stones, traces of which are still discoverable beneath the surface, at a depth of about three feet. The greatest depth of water in the lake, at its highest flood, is about 69 feet, which is in its southerly section ; the greatest depth in the middle section, is 61 feet ; and in the northerly section, 48 feet. The area of the entire lake at low water, when the surface is even with the flume at the outlet, has been ascertained, by recent surveys, to be 489 acres ; when raised 17 inches above the flume, 504 acres ; when three feet above, 559 acres ; when six and a half feet above, 659 acres ; and when eight feet above, 684 acres. In the southerly section is a small island, called Gipsy Island.

"Cochituate Pond" possesses a degree of historical interest, the contiguous territory having been a place of resort to the aboriginal race, numerous traces of whose ancient habitation in the neighborhood, are frequently to be discovered, and more particularly about the southerly "crossing." The fishery of this lake must have been to them important and valuable. Since modern enterprise has obstructed the channel of communication with the sea, its primitive consequence has ceased.

The celebrated Dunster Farm, the property of Pres. Dunster,* lay contiguous to the northerly bounds of the lake. The first christian habitation in its immediate vicinity, was probably erected, a few years later, by Edmund Rice. Settlements soon extended along the Cochituate brook, by which the waters of the pond are discharged into Sudbury river. This entire region, sometimes denominated COCHITUATE, is full of historical interest, as the locality in this township where the footsteps of civilization are first traced.

The waters of Cochituate Pond appear to have been unappropriated to mechanical uses, until near the war of the Revolution; when a fulling mill was erected towards its outlet. After the termination of the war, a grist mill was put in operation by Deacon Wm. Brown, nearer the pond. Within a few years, the enterprise of an individual, (Mr. William H. Knight,) who in 1830 obtained possession of the water privilege of the pond, greatly enlarged its resources, and rendered it an important tributary to the industry and prosperity of the town. In 1834, the attention of the public was directed to this pond, as a desirable and abundant source for the supply of fresh water to the metropolis. The rival claims of other proposed sources, delayed the issue, until June 25, 1846; when the water privilege and the extensive manufacturing establishment connected with Cochituate pond, both in the possession of Mr. Knight, were purchased by the city of Boston, upon terms liberal and mutually satisfactory to the parties. A plan for the construction of an aqueduct, at an estimated cost of $1,681,599, (exclusive of the city reservoir and distribution), was soon adopted; and the ground was first broken, with public ceremonies, Aug. 20, 1846.*

That a negotiation of such importance, as touching the industrial prosperity of the town, should pass without misgivings or opposition from its inhabitants, could hardly be expected. Independently of all calculations of interest or apprehensions of pecuniary loss, there is involved somewhat of natural regret in beholding the water courses which have irrigated their ancient fields, dried up, and an important source of municipal prosperity, alienated to other uses.

But humanity and patriotism alike forbid such reflections, in view of the grandeur and immensity of the benefit this enterprise is destined to accomplish; and that not for a limited period, but through the succession of uncounted generations. If to give a cup of cold water to the parched lips of a single sufferer, was accounted meritorious and honorable, how immeasurably greater the privilege and satisfaction of supplying one of the most important elements of health, and aids to purity and virtue, to the crowded and swelling population of a great city.

FARM POND, (sometimes called in ancient surveys, Great Pond), probably derived its name from the "Danforth Farm." It lies a little E. of S. from the village, and its northerly point is about 100 rods S. of Sudbury river, with which it communicates by a small stream, once a passage for shad and alewives into the pond. This pond extends about one mile in length, the Boston and Worcester railroad passing near its southerly margin. At its widest part its breadth is near half a mile. It contains an area of 193 acres. This pond is beautifully situated, and is often resorted to by fishing parties.*

WASHAKUM POND, (now abbreviated to Shakum Pond), is thus named in ancient conveyances. It lies about 170 rods from the S. point of Farm Pond, is of irregular shape, and contains an area of 89 1-2 acres. Its waters are discharged by Beaver Dam Brook, flowing easterly into Sherburne.†

LEARNED'S POND lies to the E. of Farm Pond, and derived its name from Isaac Learned, who early settled near it. It is in a sequestered spot, and has no known communication with other bodies of water. It covers 36 acres.

GLEASON'S POND, (anciently called Bigelow's Pond and Little Pond), lies a few rods to the E. of Learned's Pond, and covers about 13 acres.

SUCCO POND, (generally called Sucker Pond), lies near the junction of the Worcester Turnpike and the old road to Boston, about one mile from the centre village. It covers three and a half acres, and communicates with a still smaller pond of one and a half acres, to the N. of it.

* There exists a tradition, that a trunk of money was for some time supposed to have been deposited in Farm Pond; which at times was seen to approach the surface, but disappeared at the advance of any one.

† There is a pond in Sterling of the same name, "Washacum." "Wech-ecum signifies sea, or the largest collection of water; and Washacum is probably a modification of that word. W, with an aspirate, is sometimes placed in the Indian dialects, to signify great, or large in the superlative degree." Worc. Mag., I. 383, note.

MILLS AND FACTORIES IN FRAMINGHAM.

MILLS.

THE first mill in this town was built by Elder John Stone, near the Falls. The precise date of its establishment is unknown. It was perhaps in existence in 1659; but first receives a distinct notice, 1672. It continued in the possession of his descendants, until the establishment of factories near the Falls.

Savill Simpson constructed a mill on the Hopkinton River, where is now the Ashland Factory, soon after the year 1707.

John How "set up about 4 or 5 years before, a certain water mill on his own land in Framingham, very convenient to the towns of Framingham and Sherborn, it standing on the river between the two towns; which has been of great service to a great number of said towns, there being no other grist mill within six miles of (it) but Mr. Simson's."*

Col. Buckminster early put up a mill upon the stream, near his house, on what was afterwards the Brinley farm; it stood there in 1741.

A small grist mill was built upon the brook, near the present poor house; but was long since discontinued.

A grist mill S. of the house of Mr. Aaron Bullard, was dis-used many years ago.†

Deacon Wm. Brown built a grist mill on Cochituate brook, near the house of his grandson, Col. J. Brown.||

FACTORIES.

The Framingham Manufacturing Company was incorporated, Feb. 6, 1813, with a capital limited to $80,000;* and built a mill on the site of Deac. Brown's mill, which was destroyed by fire. Feb. 4, 1824, was incorporated the Saxon Factory Co., for the manufacture of wool, with a capital of $300,000. This Company constructed mills at the Falls of Sudbury River.† June 11, 1829, was incorporated the Saxon Cotton and Woollen Factory; the proprietors named in the act being Jos. Head, Henry Gardner, Edward Miller, Henry H. Jones, and others.

Feb. 16, 1832, the name of this Co. was changed to that of the "Saxon Factory."

In 1837, the N. E. Worsted Co. purchased of the Saxon Co. their property, and removed hither from Lowell their worsted machinery.

In 1845, this Company possessed three mills, with 16 sets of machinery, consuming annually 2,000,000 lbs. of wool. They

(He also built fulling stocks in the grist mill). The fulling mill was succeeded by a small factory for spinning cotton, built by Luther Rice; and a partner conducted it. The building came into the possession of Col. J. Brown, by whom it was sold to Mr. W. H. Knight, who there commenced his establishment, (afterwards removed), for the manufacture of carpets. Col.

The capital employed by the company amounted to $400,000 ; and the number of operatives, 227 males, and 190 females.

CARPET FACTORY.—The establishment for the manufacture of carpets was commenced in 1830, by Mr. William H. Knight, who purchased of Col. J. Brown the site of the old fulling-mill, on Cochituate brook. Dec. 30, 1839, Mr. Knight purchased the "bridge lot," and the following year constructed a new dam about 80 rods below, upon the same stream, and removed thither his factory, to which, with outbuildings, large additions were subsequently made. He also purchased, July 1844, the privilege formerly connected with Deacon Brown's mill which, for many years had belonged to Mr. Isaac McLellan, of Boston ; where he also constructed a factory for the spinning of woollen yarn. The remarkable success of Mr. Knight's enterprise and liberality was soon manifested in the rapid growth of the neighborhood ; converting a quiet and rural region, into an active and flourishing village. In 1845, Mr. Knight was in possession of 3 mills, consuming annually 465,000 lbs. of wool, and manufacturing 199,037 yards of carpeting, valued at $149,530. The number of operatives in his employ, was 191 males, and 41 females ; total, 231. In 1847, the manufacture had increased to 1500 yards per diem.*

The two establishments above referred to, with their appendages, constitute the village of Saxonville ; whose rapid growth, and prosperity, for the space of ten years past, on both sides of the river, afford favorable evidence of the ability and enterprise which have conducted this branch of our industry. A spacious hall has recently been erected in this village, at the charge of the town, where literary and scientific lectures are well attended. The character of this place for morality and social order, compares favorably with that of similar establishments in the Commonwealth. Its location is commanding, and affords many beautiful views, when observed from various directions. There are three churches in this village, a Congregational, a Methodist, and a Catholic; and ample accommodation is provided for the instruction of the young in schools. A branch rail-road, connecting with the B. and W. Rail-road, at Natick, opened in 1846, affords easy communication with Boston.

* Since writing the above, the greater part of the valuable establishment of Mr. Knight, which, with the water privilege of Long Pond, had been previously sold to the city of Boston, has been destroyed by fire.

The casualty occurred March 20, 1847, at 4 1-2 o'clock, A. M. The value of the buildings destroyed, is estimated at $40,000 ; and of the stock, $22,000.

MANUFACTURE OF STRAW BONNETS.

This branch of industry, which has afforded a profitable employment to a large number of the inhabitants of this town, was commenced by Mrs. Uriah Rice, and individuals of the family of Eames, about 45 years since.* Maj. Benj. Wheeler engaged in it in 1807, as did also Capt. John J. Clark and others. Major Wheeler traded at the South, and the annual amount of his business in this article, in some years, exceeded $30,000. The aggregate product of this manufacture, in the town, reached $50,000. In 1845, the number of straw bonnets manufactured here was 31,000, valued at $20,100. The value of braid manufactured, was $450. Fifty females were employed in the manufacture.†

MISCELLANEOUS STATISTICS FOR 1845.

* This article of manufacture had been previously introduced, about 1800, in other neighboring towns. Capt. Adams, of Franklin, and Mr. Hall, of Wrentham, conducted the business to a considerable extent. Braid early brought 3 and 3 1-2 cents per yard.

† This information, with other, relating to the industry of the town, is obtained from returns to the Secretary of the Commonwealth. The number of persons employed in the Bonnet manufacture, is probably exclusive of those who only braid the straw. A new establishment for the prosecution of this business, has been recently commenced by Messrs. Richardson and Manson, which gives promise of a revival of its former prosperity.

2 Paper Manufactories ; stock used, 225 tons ; paper manufactured, 360,000 lbs ; value $52,500 ; capital employed, $45,000 ; hands, 33.

MEMORANDA.

The Framingham Bank was incorporated March 25, 1833; the persons named in the act of incorporation, were Micah Stone, Dexter and Sullivan Fay, Elijah Perry, Rufus Brewer, &c. The names of the successive Presidents of this Bank, are, Josiah Adams, Micah Stone, and Oliver Dean. Rufus Brewer, Esq., has held the office of Cashier, during the whole period.

The Boston and Worcester Rail-road Corporation received its charter, Jan. 23, 1831. The opening in 1835, of this road, which passes through the south part of Framingham, essentially affected the travel in Framingham centre, and particularly on the Boston and Worcester Turnpike, (inc. June 10, 1808), where about seventeen stages had previously passed daily. The value of the turnpike was so seriously impaired, that the road was relinquished about four years since.

1795. The "Middlesex Lodge" of Free Masons was instituted in this town; and has continued its meetings, without interruption, until the present time. Its semi-centennial anniversary was observed, with suitable ceremonies.

SETTLEMENT OF SUDBURY.*

THE following is the order of the General Court, establishing the township of Sudbury, September 4, 1639.

"The order of the Court upon the petition of the Inhabitants of Sudbury is, that Peter Noyes, Bryan Pendleton, J. Parm(enter), Edmond B(rown), Walter Hayne, George Moning and Edmond Rise, have commission to lay out lands to the present Inhabitants, according to their estates and persons; and that Capt. Jeanison, Mr. Mayhewe, Mr. Flint, Mr. Samu. Sheopard and John Bridge, or any three of them, shall in convenient time repaire to the said towne, and set out such lands and accommodations, both for houselots and otherwise, both for Mr. Pelham and Mr. Walgrave, as they shall think suitable to their estates, to be reserved for them, if they shall come to inhabite there in convenient time, as the court shall think."

Conformably to the above, the first division of lands was made (without date), in 1639; the second division, April 20, 1640; the third division, Nov. 18, 1640. The following are the names, (arranged alphabetically), of those who shared in the lands divided; the numbers indicating the several divisions.

* Sudbury, in England, on the river Stour, is in the hundred of Barbergh, and Co. of Suffolk. It has three parishes, containing 3,283 souls; possesses a city organization, and has sent two members to Parliament. There was here, in 970, an ancient religious order. The church, in 1374, was purchased by Simon de Sudbury, then Bishop of London, and his brother John, by whose efforts it was made collegiate. Here was also a Priory of Benedictine Monks, a Hospital, and a house of Black Friars. Sudbury is said to have been one of the first seats of the Flemings, brought over by Edward III., to teach the English the art of manufacturing their own wool. Sudbury, i.e., the "Southern burough," received its name from its position towards Norwich, i.e., the Northern village. It is populous, and thrives by the cloth trade. Camden, Carlisle, Tamer, and Morse.

 Theo. Islyn, 1, 2, 3.
 Solomon Johnson, 1, 2, 3.
 William Kerly, 3.
 John Knight, 1, 3.
 Henry Loker, 1, 2, 3.
 John Loker, 1, 3.
 John Maynard, 1, 3.
 George Munnings, 1, 2, 3.
 Richard Newton, 1, 2, 3.
 Mr. Peter Noyse, 1, 2, 3.

Thomas Noyse, 1, 2, 3.
 William Parker, 1, 2.
 John Parmenter, Sen. 1, 2, 3.
 John Parmenter, Jun. 1, 2, 3.
 Mr. William Pellam,* 1, 2, 3.
 Bryan Pendleton, 1, 2, 3.
 Henry Prentise, 2, 3.
 John Reddicke, 1, 2, 3.
 Edmund Ryce, 1, 2, 3.
 Henry Rice, 1, 3.
 Wyddow Ryte, 1, 2, 3.
 John Stone, 1, 2, 3.
 Joseph Taynter, 1, 3.
 Nathaniell Treadaway, 1, 2, 3.
 William Ward, 1, 2, 3.
 John Waterman, 3.
 Anthony White, 1, 2, 3.
 Richard Whyte, 1, 2.
 Thomas Whyte, 1, 2, 3.
 Goodman Witherill, 1, 2.
 John Woods, 1, 2, 3.

The following received grants, or owned lands, in Sudbury, at the dates annexed to their respective names.

Thomas Axdell, about 1642.
 Ambrose Beers, about 1642.
 Thomas Bisbige, 1645.

Antient Cakbread, 1640.
 Wid. Sarah Cakbrad, 1645.
 Robert Davis, 1642.

* Besides the above, the proprietors made grants, in 1644, to Herbert Pelham; although it does not appear that he became an inhabitant. He owned, for many years, "the Island," so-called, which from him derived the name of "Pelham's Island." It contained, in 1725, 387 ac., 68 per.; and was sold by Edward, Edward, Jr., and Tho. Pelham, all of Newport, R. I., Nov. 4, 1711, to Isaac Hunt and Samuel Stone, Jr.; who, the same month, sold a part to Jonathan Fiske and George Reed. Herbert Pelham, Esq., was one of the council of Mass., in Eng., 1629, and put £100 into the common stock of the colony; was of Cambridge, N. E., 1638, and "Townsmen" there, 1645, and also Assistant of the Col.; Commissioner of the united Colonies, 1646. In 1650 he had returned to England; and his residence is afterwards referred to as in "Ferrers, in Bower's hamlet, county of Essex." He was buried at Bury St. Mary, county of Suffolk, in Eng., July 1, 1673. By his will, dated Jan.

1, 1672, he gave to his son, EDWARD, (of Newport, R. I., w. Frelove), his lands in Sudbury. He also left children, WALDEGRAVE, (the eldest), who was buried in England, Nov. 12, 1699, leaving a son, Herbert, and a daughter, Jemima Hunt; HENRY; PE-NELOPE, wife of Josiah Winslow, Esq. and mother of Isaac, and Elizabeth (Burton). Herbert Pelham was an early proprietor at Watertown, and an original patentee of Conn. He married a daughter of Mr. Waldegrave.

Capt. William Pelham was Selectman in Sudbury, 1645 and 6; his house lot was at the N.E. end of the town; he also commanded "the band of Sudbury." Johnson, (p. 193), speaks of him as then in England. Camb. and Sud. Rec.; Private Papers; Hutch. i. 144, note, (who supposes Herbert of the same family with the Duke of Newcastle); Sav. Wint. i. 8, note 1, ii. 19; Mid. Deeds, 1693. Mr. Savage supposes Herbert to have been brother to Gov. Winthrop.

Hugh Drury.
Robert Fourdum, 1642.
Sergeant John Grout, 1640.
Thomas King, 1643.

John Rutter, 1642,
Robert Slate, 1641.
John Toll, about 1640.

NAMES OF MEN FROM FRAMINGHAM, WHO HAVE SERVED AT VARIOUS TIMES IN THE WARS.

In the expedition to Port Royal, Sept. 16, 1710, Joseph Buckminster was captain of grenadiers, in Sir Charles Hobby's regiment; and sailed in the brigantine Henrietta. The following persons, in the same expedition, were probably of Framingham. David Rice, d. Ap. 20, 1711; Jonathan Provender; Benjamin Provender, d. Jan. 21, 1711; Joseph Adams.

On the Muster Roll of Sergt. Thomas Buckminster's "Rutland Scout," who served from July 25, to Aug. 26, 1722, (in all 21 men), are the names of the commander, David Pratt, Philip Pratt and Thompson Wood, of Framingham. The regiment from which they were detached, was commanded by Col. Jos. Buckminster.

On the Muster Roll of the men posted under the care of Col. Buckminster, from Aug. to Nov. 1722, (in all 25), are the names of Gid-

THE TOWN OF ASHLAND.

Ashland was incorporated March 16, 1846; having been previously known as Unionville, the name being applied to a neighborhood embracing parts of Hopkinton, Holliston, and Framingham.

The first town meeting was held March 30, 1846, when the following persons were elected to public office in the town, viz:—

Daniel Eames, Moderator.

Calvin Shepard, Jr. }		William F. Ellis, }
Josiah Burnham, }		Daniel Eames, }
Dexter Rockwood, }	Selectmen.	Simeon N. Cutler, }	Assessors.
Andrew Allard, }
Albert Ellis, }		Benjamin Homer, }	Town Treas'r.

A Post Office was established in the village, in January, 1835; Matthew Metcalf, Esq. receiving the first appointment as Post Master.

The first preaching in the village dates from April, 1834, when the Rev. James McIntire commenced his labors. A church, consisting of 21 members, was gathered Jan. 21, 1835, and the society was organized in due form of law, Feb. 17th. The meeting house was dedicated Jan. 21, 1836, on which day Mr. McIntire received ordination as pastor. Mr. McIntire retired Sept. 11, 1838, and was succeeded by the Rev. Joseph Haven, ordained Nov. 6, 1839, who retired Dec. 16, 1846. The Rev. Charles L. Mills was ordained Feb. 11, 1847.

EXPLANATION.

IN the following Register will be found the names, as far as known, of all the individuals and families who were inhabitants of Framingham before the year 1800. In many of the sketches are introduced branches from other towns, which, for the sake of distinction, are printed in smaller type.

The paragraphs under each family name, are regularly numbered for convenient reference. When a number in small type is placed before a name, as, "<sup>1</sup>George," it is to indicate, that he is the first son, or a descendant from the first son, of the progenitor in the sketch. When a number, in the same type, is placed after a name, as, "George<sup>12</sup>," it is to indicate the No. of the paragraph where his family is introduced. When at the beginning of a paragraph, a number, enclosed in parentheses, follows the name, as, "James s. of John (4)," the number in parentheses refers back to the paragraph, (No. four), where the father's family is given. Where several generations are included in the same paragraph, they will be easily distinguished by the various kinds of type in which the names are printed.

The practice of numbering the children in a family, is, for convenience, preserved in some instances, where the particular order of birth is unknown.

Sybil Ball's, (prob. from Southb.) real estate tax was abated for 1761-2. (Fram. Rec.) The family of Ball were numerous in Concord and Watertown. John, of Concord, came from Wiltshire, England, and was made free 1650, d. Nov. 1, 1655. Farmer.

BALLARD, or BALLORD. The Ballards of Fram. prob. sprung from WILLIAM,* who (then æ. 32) came over in the James, 1634, with Elizabeth, æ. 26; HESTER, æ. 2; Jo. (JOHN) æ. 1. Mr. Lewis states that William was a farmer, and lived on the Boston road, W. of Saugus river, was admitted freeman, 1638, (May 2), and in the same year was a member of the Quarterly Court at Salem. He adds, that his chil. were John, Nathaniel, and Elizabeth.† Before Mar. 1, 1641, William of Lynn, had deceased, making a nuncupative will, by which he gave half of his estate to his w. and half to his chil. (the names of neither being given). Suff. Prob. B. 1.‡

2. JOHN, s. of William, had at Lynn, 1. SARAH, b. 1669; 2. REBECCA, *Farmer supposes William of Lynn to have removed to Andover. A William took the freeman's oath, May 18, 1631, three years before W. of Lynn came over. William, Sen. of Andover, d. 1689, his inventory, (£206.18.6.) dated Oct. 23; and his est. was settled Sept. 28, 1691. He left a w. Grace; his sons were Joseph, William and John; the other heirs in the settlement were Samuel and Joseph Butterfield, John Spalden, and Abigail Ballard.

† Hist. of Lynn, p. 25. Mr. Lewis supposes Elizabeth to have married George Abbot. We find the marriage, in Andover, of Elizabeth with Geo. Abbot, 1689. On the Charlestown Records, "Elizabeth of Lynn," m. Allen Bread, 1684. Both dates are late for a dr. of William, Sen.

‡ An inventory of William, "formerly of Linn, decd." is recorded at Ipswich, dated Oct. 1, 1695, John, s. of deceased, being admr. In 1697, John, s. of Wm., divided with his br. Nathaniel, his father's est., and in 1721 gave a deed of certain lands to his own s. John. On the birth registries, both at Salem and Lynn, the earliest entries of Ballards are, of the chil. of Nathaniel, beginning in 1666; of William, in 1668; of John, in 1669. The William was perhaps another son of William, Sen., of Lynn. It is hardly probable that he removed to Andover, as there are entries there of chil. of William; in 1655. The will of a William, of Charlestown, is dated July 5, 1679; he left, prob., no male issue; but names his dr. Elizabeth Collier, of Woodbridge, N. J., and her sister, Mary Hodley, late Farrington.

Tradition assigns Wales as the origin of the Ballards. This family name is numerous at Worcester, in England.

* The mother of John was Agnes. She had a dr. Agnes, who m. 1st, — Barnes, by whom she had Richard, and Elizabeth, who probably m. Tho. Plimton. After the death of her 1st husband, Agnes, Jr. m. in Eng., Thomas Blanchard. In 1639, (her son John having embarked "within less than a year" previously), Agnes the mother, then aged and infirm, her dr. Agnes and husband, and infant child, with her two children by her former husband, embarked in the "Jonathan," for N. Eng. Agnes the mother, who, before the emigration of her son, lived with him at Penton, had been placed probably at Andover; from whence she "came up to London in a wagon, with the carriers, and was with Tho. Blanchard's family about a month, in London, and there was a gathering among the Christians at (Rugla?) to help them over." Fifteen days out, Agnes, the daughter, died, making a nuncupative will, (afterwards allowed), and "a gathering was made in the ship to help put her child to nurse." But the child d. "shortly after in the ship." Near the Bank of Newfoundland, Agnes, the mother, "fell sick," and continued so. "About the time the ship came to anchor in Boston harbour," she died, and her son-in-law "procured to carry her to shore, to be buried." Note.—Samuel was prob. s. of Thomas, of Sud., (from Reading), who m. Abigail Frink, and had Abigail, Thomas, Sarah, Susannah, and Samuel, b. Nov. 1, 1729. (Dr. Stearns' mss.) THOMAS, and his br. ABRAHAM, at Sud., were sons of Thomas and Mary, of Reading.

BUCK, ISAAC, was rated in Fram. ab. 1754. EBENEZER was in Fram. 1764. RUTH, was in Fram. 1763. JOSEPH, of Fram, m. in Hop. Hephsebah Bruce, 1768. Joseph lived near Eben. Claflin's. An aged man of this name is said to have d. in Fram., on the morning of the dark day.

BUCKMINSTER, or BUCKMASTER*. THOMAS BUCKMASTER, the progenitor of this family, came, according to tradition, from Wales, and is named in the Col. Records, Ap. 30, 1640, when he received a grant amounting to £10, from the General Court.† He was made free, May 6, 1646. He lived at Muddy River, (now Brookline), where he d. Sept. 20, (Bos. Rec. say 28), 1656. His will, dated Sep. 2, '56, is recorded in Suff. Prob. His wid. Johanna, m. Edward Garfield, of Wat., Sept. 1, 1661; and admin. on her est. was had, 1676. E. Garfield's will was proved, 1672. The children of Thomas were 1. LAWRENCE, made his will, Nov. 27, 1645, then "going to England." and d. prob. imm., during his absence; his will was proved July 4, 1646. (Suff. Prob.) 2. ZECHARIAH; [Z. and w. Hannah had Zechariah, b. Nov. 28, 1658. (Bos. Rec.) Zechariah m. Sarah Webb., 7, 1, 1654-5. Zech. was among the early settlers of Sherb., in 167-, and was there 1692. (Mid. Co. Rec.) Sarah, wid. of Zech., d. at Roxb., June 27, 1704]; 3. ELIZABETH, m. Thomas Spowell, and had a dr. Mary; two chil. are referred to in her f's will; 4. MARY, m. (Henry?) Stevens, and two chil. are referred to in her f's will; 5. DORCAS, m. Clement Corbil, or Corben, Mar. 7, 1654-5; 6. THOMAS, m. Mary, who had adm. on Thomas, carpenter, Feb. 1, 1659. T. had a dr. Mary, in 1646. (Lawrence's will); 7. SARAH, m. John Lawrence, Sep. 30, 1657; 8. JOSEPH; 9. JABESH.‡ In his will, Thomas refers to Joseph and Jabesh, as his youngest sons. Vide State files—Estates I. 171; also, the bond of Joseph to his mother, June 25, 1663; same year, deed to Joseph from his mother Joanna Garfield. (Suff. Deeds.)

Note.—HANNAH, dr. of — Buckmaster, bap. at Roxb., 1646. MARIE, m. i. Charlestown, Jos. Widney, 1664. LYDIA m. in Roxb., John Clarke, 1680. MARY m. in Camb., Benjamin Dana, May 24, 1688. * Buckmaster is the name given upon the Records to all of the first and second generations. In a deed to Joseph, son of Thomas, the original ancestor, dated July 23, 1660, (Suff. Deeds), the name of Buckminster first appears, and is given to Joseph as grantee in the deed. The bounds of the land conveyed, are described as "on a lot late of Tho. Buckmaster dec'd, father to the aforesaid Jos. Buckmaster, party to these presents."

† Thomas or James Buckmaster,

(we think the former is most probable; the name is evidently altered from Thomas), received a part in the division of meadows in Sud., prob. ab. 1639. "BUCKMASTER'S house-lot" is referred to, 1643, as near John Freeman's house. The individual does not appear to have resided long in Sudbury.

‡ Farmer gives the name of John, as perhaps a son of Thomas. We have found no verification of this conjecture. There is a John Buckman on the Boston Rec.

2. JOSEPH, s. of Thomas, (1), m. Elizabeth, (b. Jan. 31, 1647-8,) dr. of Hugh Clarke. E. cov. at Roxb., 1666. Their children were 1. JOSEPH, b. July 31, 1666; 2. ELIZABETH, (posthumous), bap. in Roxb., 10, 11, 1668. Joseph, the f. d. in 1668. (Suff. Prob.) Elizabeth, the m. was buried in Fram.

3. JOSEPH, s. of Jos. (2.), was adm. to the Roxb. ch., 1684, m. Martha Sharp, dr. of John Sharp, of Muddy River, May 12, 1686. His chil. were 1. ELIZABETH, m. in Fram. John Wood, Mar. 3, 1704-5; 2. Col. Joseph the f., was a prop. of lands in Fram., 1693. The precise date of the removal of his family to the Town, is unknown. In deeds, dated 1702, he conveys as of Muddy River. He was adm. to the ch. by letter, Jan. 5, 1718. He was Selectman, 1700 and for 17 years in all; was Representative 12 years, and in the commission of the Peace many years. His estate in the town was large, his title to which involved him in protracted lawsuits which continued after his decease. He held several military commissions, commanded a Co. of Grenadiers, in Sir Charles Hobby's regiment, in the expedition to Port Royal, and subsequently had the command of a regiment of the Colonial militia. Tradition describes him as a man, tall and athletic, of great physical power, and of a resolute spirit. After participating largely in the events connected with the early history of the town, he d. Ap. 5, 1747, æ. 81 years. The remains of his mother and 2 wives were buried in the same grave. He m. 2d. Martha Dall, of Boston, Feb. 7, 1716, who d. Feb. 1724-5. He left a "negro woman, Nanny," valued in his Inventory at £80. For numerous conveyances to and from Col. Joseph, of land in and near Boston, see Suff. and Mid. Deeds.

* The Rev. Joseph, of Rutland, is spoken of by Whitney, (Hist. of Wore. Co.), as "the able, faithful and worthy minister of R." Eliot (Biogr. Dic.) calls him a "Sublapsarian Calvinist," and adds, that he engaged in controversy, and published several writings, among them Dissertations upon Gospel Salvation. His wife is said to have been dr. of Rev. William Williams, s. of Rev. William Williams, of Hatfield. Her mother was dr. of Rev. Dr. Stoddard, of Northampton. The Rev. Jos. Buckminster, D.D., of Portsmouth, N.H., (father of the Rev. Joseph Stevens Buckminster, of Boston), was son of the Rev. Joseph, of Rutland. For a notice of Dr. B. of Portsmouth, see Alden's Coll. Alden mistakes the number of generations between Dr. B. and the progenitor of the family.

Thaddeus was killed by the Indians at Munjoy's Hill, 1690, and his wid. d. in Boston, 1736, æ. 92. (Maine Hist. Coll. I 263, 208, and 214). Mrs. Beulah Patterson, b. 1740, g. dr. of Capt. Isaac, of Fram., stated before her death, (thus writes Rev. Joseph Allen, of Northb.), that Isaac came from Falmouth, and that his mother and his sister Rebeckah were taken by the Indians and carried captive to Canada, where the mother died. Rebeckah was sold to the French Canadians, among whom she lived so contented, that when money was sent for her ransom, she refused to leave; sending word that "the money sent was not sufficient to supply her table for a single day." Tradition relates, that Capt. Isaac learned the carpenter's trade at Marlborough, and settled at Fram., in the wilderness, æ. 25, near or at Mr. Joel Taintor's. When Gen. Amherst halted with his army at Marl., on his march to Canada, 1759, (he encamped near the pond, and had his quarters at the tavern), he invited Capt. Clark, then much advanced in years, to breakfast with him. The latter rode to Marl. on horseback, and his vigor and vivacity so delighted his host, that he was invited to accompany the General in a review of his troops. While riding his young horse, the General said, "Capt. Clark, you have a fine horse there; if you will sell him, I will give you his full value." The old man answered, "No! General. He was born on my farm; I raised him for my own use, and now I mean to wear him out." Capt. Clark re-

Edward came to Fram. from Boston, Mar. 25, 1714, having been a teacher in Boston. He and his w. were admitted to the church by letter, Ap. 9, 1718. He taught, for several years, a grammar school in Fram, and was chosen dea. of the ch. Ap. 14, 1725, but declined. He was several times chosen messenger of the church to Ecclesiastical Councils, and took a prominent part in the religious as well as civil affairs of the town. He was Town Clerk from 1720, in all 18 years ; and left proof upon the Records, of his beautiful penmanship. He was Selectman 10 years, and Town Treasurer 2 years. He represented the town at the General Court 8 years, from 1724 ; was commissioned as Justice of the Peace, and in 1733, was chosen one of his Majesty's Council, in which office he served three years. He also held commissions as Lieut. and Capt. of troop. His skill in drawing legal instruments, rendered him useful as a conveyancer. He was, in his religious opinions, a Calvinist. With others, he withdrew from Mr. Swift's church, without a dismission, and was received to the Hop. ch., Jan. 13, 1732-3. He was afterwards the chief instrument in planting the 2d church in Fram., which declined after his decease, and at length ceased its existence. He was a ready writer, and numerous MSS. sermons, Journals, &c., from his pen, are in preservation. He also printed some controversial papers. He was a zealous and decided man, of undoubted integrity, and possessed considerable talent, exercised chiefly in theological research. He was, perhaps, more strenuous as a defender of religious freedom, than as an advocate for religious toleration, or Christian harmony. The active part he took in the ecclesiastical dissensions which disturbed the church for many years, has probably prevented a just estimation of Mr. Goddard's character. He had many friends, among whom were the Rev. Mr. Bridge, of the 1st ch., in Boston, the Rev. Dr. Prince, and Mr. Secretary Willard; the last two caused to be published an interesting notice of his death in the Boston Gazette, Feb. 16, 1754. Alden also gives a respectful tribute to his memory. (Coll. III. 40.) The Hon. Edward Goddard, d. Feb. 9, 1754, æ. 78 years, 10 m. 14 d., and his w. Susannah d. * It may seem presumptuous in the author to attempt a sketch of this family, after the diligent and successful research of the author of Haven's Genealogy. His only apology is, that he had commenced his labor before the publication of Mr. Adams' valuable work, and could not put it aside without marring his design. He is happy to refer the reader, who may wish for further information than is here given, to that publication. Perhaps a few gleanings may be here found, not wholly without interest.

John, the f. took the freeman's oath. May 13, 1640; was an early prop. of Sud.; Selectman and Marshall, 1642. In 1655, he was appointed by the pastor and selectmen, "to see to the restraining of youth," during public worship. He was petitioner for Marl., 1656, and a prop. of that town, and lived near the Indian planting field, conciliating, by his great prudence and kindness, his savage neighbors. Sep. 24, 1661, he was licensed to keep a house of entertainment. (Co. Rec. I. 194.) His will was proved June 19, 1689. His wid. Mary d. ab. March, 1698-9.*

* Mr. Allen, in his valuable Hist. of Northborough, (Worc. Mag. II. 130,) gives an interesting notice of John; and states that "according to a tradition handed down in the family," he was son of a How, of Wat., supposed to be John How, Esq., who came from Warwickshire, in Eng., and who was son of John How, of Hodinull, and connected with the family of Lord Charles How, Earl of Lancaster, in the reign of Charles I. Of this tradition, the author of this history has yet failed of discovering confirmation in the Records of Wat. Elder EDWARD d. at Wat. ab. 1644, and in his will names no sons. EDWARD came over in the Truelove, in 1634, æ. 60, with Elizabeth æ. 50; Jeremie, æ. 21; Sarah, æ. 12; Ephraim, æ.

9; Isaac, æ. 7; William, æ. 6. This last Edward was prob. of Lynn.

† A descendant from Daniel, (Mrs. Sarah How, of Petersham), of advanced age and approved intelligence, informs the author, that Daniel was of a different family from John; that he was a clothier, from Devonshire, in England, and brought a brass kettle, long preserved. We give the tradition as we received it, adding, that the author was unable, after much endeavor, to detect in her excellent memory any proof of connection between the descendants of Daniel and John, Sen. A Daniel How, (not the same), came over in the John and Sarah, Nov. 6, 1651. (Boston Records.)

* Alden, in his Coll., III. 39, preserves the following memorandum from the Ms. Journal of Rev. Israel Loring, of Sudb. "Mr. Isaac How, of Fram., departed this life, (ab. 1752,) a man not flowing with wealth. In his house were to be seen no curious beaufet, set out with plates and China ware; no papered, nor painted, nor gilded rooms; no costly dishes; none of these nor such like things there. No! but on the contrary, marks of poverty were there to be seen. However, in this man's house dwelt one of the excellent of the earth, one rich in faith, and an heir of the kingdom, which, with me who was well acquainted with him, there is no doubt he is now in possession of. By his death I have lost a precious, pious, praying friend; but my loss is doubtless his gain; and in that it becomes me to rejoice."

Daniel, the f. was perhaps the Daniel who, with John Hudson, came over in the John and Sarah, of London, Nov. 6, 1651.* (Bos. Rec.) Mr. Willard states that he was originally of Watertown, and moved to Lancaster, 1664. (Hist. of Lanc.) He was by trade a bricklayer, and in 1670, bought of Simon Willard a house-lot known as Gibson's Hill, and other lands in Lanc. In 1673, he was of Camb., having, in 1672, bought of Wm. Clemance, of Camb., his mansion house, and lands in Camb. and Billerica, the grantee to make provision for Wm. and his w. Ann, during their lives. (Mid Deeds). In 1693, Daniel, Jr. reconveyed to his father land in Lanc., originally of John Moore, and in 1673 given to the son by the f., on the former's approaching marriage. Sept. 11, 1697, "Daniel Hudson, his w. and two daughters," were killed by the Indians at Lanc. (Hist. of Lanc.) Daniel's will, dated 1695, was proved in Mid. Prob.

* Judge Mitchell, (Hist. Bridg.), supposes Daniel to have descended from William, of Boston, 1631. We

At a meeting held at the New England Genealogical Rooms in Boston, Dec. 17th, by a few of the descendants of REBECCA NURSE, who was executed in 1692 as a witch, an Association was formed, to be called the "Nourse Monument Association," whose object is the soliciting of funds and erection of a monument to her memory.

The historian says that Rebecca Nurse, aged and infirm, universally beloved by her neighbors, was accused. The jury, moved by her innocence, having brought in a verdict of "not guilty," the court sent them out with instruction to find her guilty. He further says that on the 19th of July, 1692, an unusual commotion might have been observed in Salem; the condemned witches are about to be hung on Gallows Hill.— There are five of them, among whom is Rebecca Nurse. The narrow lane leading to the common jail is thronged with men and women wearing gloomy and awe struck faces, conversing in undertones: the crowd gives way on the approach of a cart which is to take them to the place of execution: and as the sheriff's voice is heard calling on the condemned to come forth, they appear, looking pale, haggard, despairing, and as they mount the cart with weak and tottering steps, audible sobs are heard among the bystanders. All is ready. The guard surrounds the cart as if a rescue was feared. It takes a score of strong men to conduct these helpless women to death. At last the cavalcade is grouped around the place of execution.— The gallows and the fatal ladder are there, and to these five helpless women they meant martyrdom. Expectation is intense as the condemned are seen to take leave of each other like people who had done with the world; then a shiver like an electric spark runs through the crowd as the hangman pinions and blindfolds, and then in the name of King William and Queen Mary hangs them by the neck till dead.

They were denied the consolation of religion; Rebecca Nurse having been led, heavily ironed, up the broad aisle of Salem Church to be thrust out of its communion. Her sons secretly removed her body from the foot of the gallows, where it had been buried, and carried it to the old homestead at Danvers, and laid it reverently and with many tears in the family burying ground near by.

Francis and Rebecca Nurse came to America from England, and it is supposed they were the first settlers of that name in this country, and as accurately as it can be traced every person of that name in the Eastern States, and nearly all in the Union are directly descended from them. A genealogy of the family has been in course of preparation several years, and is to comprise as completely as possible the descendants of Francis and Rebecca Nurse down to the present time. Those interested in this matter are indebted to Mr. Francis Nurse of Chicago, and Mr. John D. Ames of Fall River for their untiring zeal in collecting statistics, &c.

This appeal which we send forth we trust will be fruitful in results and that all who feel an interest in this undertaking, whether descendants or not, will lend a helping hand, and that at no distant day we shall have erected a memorial to one, whose execution, it is said, was one of the most damning of the innocent sacrifices to superstition.

We hope that all the descendants will feel a personal interest in this matter, and further the object of the Association by their individual efforts.

No stone marks the spot where she lies buried! Will you contribute something towards erecting a suitable monument to her virtues and her memory. Any amount, however small, will be acceptable, as we wish that every one of her descendants may have the privilege of contributing something toward perpetuating her memory.

We earnestly desire to erect this monument before the close of the present year, therefore it will be necessary to raise the money immediately.

All subscriptions whether large or small thankfully received and faithfully used for the purpose named in this appeal. Give only to persons authorized to collect the same, or send direct to the Treasurer of the Association, who will return an ornamental receipt suitable for framing, to be preserved as a family souvenir.

* Of Ephraim, son of Thomas (1), who was living at his father's decease, 1692, we have found no trace, after much research, unless we adopt the natural supposition, that he was the Ephraim of Sudbury. Farmer states that Eph. of Sud. was g. son of Joshua, of Plymouth. [Joshua and Phinehas came over in the 3d ship Ann, and were among the forefathers at Plymouth] He adds that he was b. in E. Sud., Nov., 1657, and d. in Shutesbury, Mass., May, 1804. Another account states that he d. æ. 116 years, and could count 1500 descendants (?); that he took no animal food for 40 years, and that his health was so good that "he was able to mow a good swarth, 101 years in succession." By an examination of the minutes above, taken from the Sud. and other Rec., the reader will discover a serious discrepancy with these statements of the age of Ephraim. The additional statement by Farmer, that Ephraim's son Michael d. 1826, æ. 103, is obscured by the probable fact that Michael was grandson of Ephraim, Sen.; and as his f. Eph. Jr. was not married until 1724, the age of Michael is probably exaggerated. If the Ephraim who d. at Shutesbury, was the f. of Michael, instead of being 116 years old, his age was but 99 years and 5 months.

* W. F. Stone, Esq., of Cambridge, who has made diligent research into the history of his family, obligingly writes, that Elder John first built at Otter Neck, a half mile down the river, a "fordway" being near it. He probably built again on the hill by the Lannum road, near Mr. Fisk's, on the spot from which was removed, to the mill village, the house recently sold by Mr. Abner Stone to the prop. of the Railroad. Two or three rods S. from that spot, he built what was called in ancient deeds, "the old house," whose cellar hole is still remembered. He is supposed also to have built at the Ox-bow, and, soon after, another house nearer the mills.

* In a deed of John Hoare, of Concord, to Edward Wright, of Concord, 1682, reference is made to rights of the latter, "to houses, lands, &c., in the Lordship of Castle Bromwich, Co. of Warwick, Eng., by virtue of a deed of gift, by Edward Wright, of C. B., to feoffees in trust, for the use of Francis Wright, son and heir apparent of said Edward Wright, and of Mary Wiggim, dr. of John Wiggim, of Addridge, Co. of Stafford, before the solemnizing of a marriage between the said Francis and the said Mary, and to their heirs, &c.; said deed of gift being now in the hands of said John Hoare, and beareth date, 27th June, 10th year of the reign of King James." (Mid. Deeds, sub. eod. an.) A suit for the non-fulfilment of this covenant, for exchange of lands in Eng., was entered in Mid. Court. (Co. Rec. III. 18.)

SUPPLEMENT.

BENT, JOSEPH, and w. Rachel, were at Milton, 1697, and had 1. MARY, b. 1700; 2. Capt. JOSEPH b. 1701, d. at Albany Dec. 7, 1755, æ. 54, f. by w. Martha (who d. Dec. 4, 1766 æ. 65) of Capt. Lemuel, b. 1727, d. 1774, (w. Melatiah d. 1796); Abigail, b. 1730; Eunice, b. '31; Joseph, b. '35, (f. of Ruth, Eunice, Lois and Joseph); William, b. 1738; Martha, b. '39; Rufus, b. '41; 3. JOHN, b. 1703, (w. Elizabeth) f. at Milton, of John, b. 1729; Rebecca, '31; Elizabeth, '32-3; Prudence, '35; Susanna, '37; Lydia, '41; Sarah, '43; Rachel, '45; John, '47; Noah, '49; 4. RACHEL, b. 1705; 5. ELIZABETH, b. 1708; 6. SARAH, b. 1710; 7. EBENEZER, b. 1712, f. at Milton, of Ebenezer, b. 1737; Samuel, '40; Nedobiah, '42; Mary, '44; John, '46; Deborah, '48; Sally, '50; Betsey, '52; 8. EXPERIENCE, b. 1714; 9. THANKFUL, b. 1716. Admin. on Joseph, of Milton, blacksmith, was granted to his son John, Ap. 15, 1728.*

BIGELOW. Of JONATHAN, (named as son of Jonathan,† and g. son of John (1), in the preceding sketches,) who d. in Weston, ab. 1745, leaving chil. Benjamin, Jonathan, James, &c., some doubt exists. He may have been of the family of Joshua.

CLARK, JONAS, of Camb. d. (his will dated Dec. 19, 1699), leaving chil. Jonas, Timothy, Joseph, Samuel, Susanna, Abigail; he names also his dr. Bonner, dr. Dickaloon, and dr. Green.

CLOYES. Susanna and Mercy, adults, were bap. at Charlestown, in 1698.

* Joseph, of Sud, who d. 1675, had a s. Jos., b. 1675, who disappears from that place, or the neighborhood; but of his identity, as the Joseph of Milton, no proof has presented itself. The author possesses a traditionary account of one EXPERIENCE BENT, of Plymouth, who had the grant of a square mile tract of land, at Hobbs' Hole, so called. His s. Joseph, lived in Middleborough, and d. æ. over 80, having chil. Joseph, John, William, and three drs. William, son of John, lives at Paris, Me., æ. ab. 80 years.

† A Jonathan is said to have settled in Weathersfield Lane, Hartford, Conn., ab. 1668, and d. Jan. 10, 1710, æ. 62. Jona., son of John, of Wat., was b. in 1646, which presents a discrepancy in the age, although the identity of the two is not improbable.

DRURY. The descent of Thomas, Sen., of Fram. from Hugh, seemed to the author very clear. A more recent examination of Hugh's will, has disclosed a singular ambiguity. Thomas being called his "oldest son," and also the oldest son of his (Hugh's) son John, then deceased, the same Thomas probably being referred to. In the Suff. Deeds XV, 193-4, is recorded an agreement of the heirs of Hugh and John, dated April 28, 1692, to which Thomas, then of Sudbury, and a son of John, was a party. Thomas, Sen. of Fram., it is presumed, therefore was grand son of Hugh. Hugh, of Boston, was prop. of the Castle Tavern, and land near Mill Bridge, &c.

JENNINGS. RICHARD Jennyns, "late of Bermuda," had deceased, 1692, leaving claims in Boston. (Suff. Deeds).

JENNISON, WILLIAM, referred to in the preceding Register, was of "Colchester, O. England," April 8, 1657, when his br. Robert, as his attorney, conveyed to Edmund Rice, 200 ac. (before granted by the Gen. Court to Wm.) bounded W. by the Dunster farm; N. by Sud. line; E. by Wat. line; S. near Dedham bounds.

KENDALL. English authorities suppose this name to have been originally Candale. Magna Brit. VI. 19.

RICE, JACOB, of Marlb. d. Oct. 30, 1746, æ. 86, having had by w. Mary (who d. Oct. 6, 1752, æ. 80) Amos, b. 1693; Martha, '96; Obadiah, '98; Esther, 1701; Eunice, '02; Mercy, '05; Jacob, '07, f. of Capt. Amos; Gershom, 1710, d. Oct. 11, 1790, f. by w. Lydia, of Thomas, Gershom, Solomon, &c.; Bethiah, b. 1712, m. — Brigham; and Mary. Mr. Allen (Hist. of Northb.) supposes Jacob to have been son of Edward, who was son of Edmond. ROBERT, of Boston, had by w. Elizabeth, Joseph, b. 1637; Nathaniel, b. 1639; Patience, b. 1642. JOSHUA (w. Bathshebah) was of Boston, 1664.

THE NAME OF FRAMINGHAM.

The origin of this name in England, is thus accounted for. The place originally so called having been subject to Britons, Romans, Saxons and Danes, was inhabited by a great mixture of various nations; and hence was denominated, Friendlingham or Framlingham, i. e. a house, or habitation of strangers — Friendling signifying, in Saxon, a stranger, and Ham, a dwelling or house. — Magna Britannia, V. 223.

OLD AND NEW STYLE.

Before 1752, the year began March 25th, (called Lady Day); although in Catholic countries, after 1582, it commenced Jan. 1. Hence between Jan. and March, it was common to double-date. The difference between the Julian and Gregorian year in the 18th century, was 11 days; after 1800 it was 12, which is to be added to any date in Old Style, to reduce it to the New.
